Burns, Robert Bruce Burns, 1982 Effects of a Self-esteem Curriculum on Self-concept and Test Scores Gloria Burrola, 1991 The Concept of Self in Education, Family, and Sports Anne P. Prescott, 2006 The issue of self concept is central to the studies and practices of education and psychology The varying degrees of self esteem that exist between individuals can offer insight into the varying degrees of health and efficiency that exist for individuals in the worlds of education family and sport The research presented in this book are the latest explorations of how self concept translates into and has an effect on these far reaching and unavoidable aspects of life Register of Educational Research in the United Kingdom, 1992-1995 National Foundation For Educational Research, 1995 This latest volume of the Register of Educational Research in the United Kingdom lists all the major research projects being undertaken in Britain during the latter months of 1992 the whole of 1993 and 1994 and the early months of 1995 Each entry provides names and addresses of the researchers a detailed abstract the source and amount of the grant where applicable the length of the project and details of published material about the research Pastoral Education Mary Gurney, 2000 Pastoral Education is a photocopiable resource that covers four main themes personal management health and safety personal relationships social awareness It addresses spiritual moral and cultural duty The Encyclopedia of Middle Grades Education (2nd ed.) Steven B. their positive and constructive outlook on life their sense of the continuity of time their creativity and imagination and their sense of personal connection with time and the future are all qualities that should be recognized and addressed in early childhood educational programmes as a means of counteracting the difficulty youths experience in knowing what to expect in their future lives and coming to understand their roles in shaping them Reframing the Early Childhood Curriculum offers fresh insight into examining futurists and early childhood theorists thinking of the relevance of planning for children s long term needs in early childhood identifying the skills attitudes and outlooks required to assist young children attending early childhood programmes in their long term growth and development exploring the means through which these skills attitudes and outlooks can be achieved in curriculum frameworks through specific goals and learning experiences against the background of youth and young children s views of the future

Developing Positive Student Self-concept

David L. Silvernail,1985 This publication reviews empirical research in an effort to 1 help educators improve their understanding of self concept development and 2 identify effective strategies for developing positive student self concepts An introduction and a brief section on definitions is followed by a discussion of early pre school self concept development The topic of schooling and self concept development is then discussed in terms of the impact of school variables and self concept enhancement strategies on student self concept A discussion of the teacher s role in self concept enhancement follows focused on diagnosis of student self concept and the planning of intervention strategies It is concluded that the impact of schools in general and teachers in particular on the self images of youth can be negative but that concerted efforts to bring about positive changes frequently succeed In addition future research should respond 1 to the need for more action research to identify effective change strategies and 2 to the need for a more comprehensive understanding of the construct of self concept Such an understanding would be particularly concerned with the way in which self concept develops what influences it how it changes and how the changes can be measured Over 225 references are cited RH

Psychology in Teaching, Learning, and Growth Don E. Hamachek,1990 Self-Esteem in Children with Special Educational Needs Peter W. Gurney,2018-09-03 First published in 1988 The mounting concern in schools over widespread failure in academic achievement greater disaffection in children and the lack of confidence in many school leavers are highlighted by the difficulties experienced by children who have special educational needs Within this group the importance of the child s evaluation of him or herself i e self esteem is a neglected issue This book investigates how the level of self esteem appears to influence social behaviour and school performance in children with special educational needs It discusses the practical steps that can be taken to assess and enhance self esteem in children with special needs and evaluates their effectiveness The author emphasises the discrepancy between the performance of children who have special educational needs in ordinary classrooms with that achieved in special settings He argues that the negative impact on a child s self esteem created by placing him her in an ordinary classroom may outweigh the benefits of greater integration A full and informative treatment of both the theoretical and practical implications of a neglected subject this text book is suitable for experienced special educational needs teachers and those undergoing teacher training as well as psychologists with an academic interest in the self concept or a professional involvement in assessing children Journal of Education Culture and Society 2013_2 ,2013-09-02 Youth Development Rebecca S. Thompson,1991 Ability Grouping in Education Judith Ireson,Susan Hallam,2001-09-11 Ability Grouping in Education will provide very useful and timely background for psychologists working with schools where setting or streaming is a major issue Educational Psychology in Practice With an anticipated audience of teachers and policymakers this book is user friendly incorporating detailed research findings illustrated by graphs and tables A summary is provided at the end of each chapter offering an overview for the time conscious wishing to skip through the engaging but largely illustrative statistics and quotations However a close reading has its rewards as the extracts from teachers and students offer poignant insight into the enormous complexity and far reaching implications of ability grouping Cath Lambert Educational Review In this book the authors provide an overview of ability grouping in education They consider selective schooling and ability grouping within schools such as streaming banding setting and within class grouping Selection by ability is a controversial issue linked with conflicting ideological positions and reflected in strong differences of opinion about the merits of selective schooling Educational systems under pressure to produce an educated workforce have led governments to look for ways of raising attainment and grouping by ability is sometimes seen as an organizational solution Drawing on their own and others research in primary and secondary schools the authors provide an accessible analysis of the issues and latest research on ability grouping as well as the implications of ability grouping for teachers managers in education and the wider community This book is for students and practitioners taking courses in school effectiveness education management as well as educational psychologists and local authority professionals Judy Ireson is Senior Lecturer in Psychology and Special Needs at the Institute of Education University of London and Susan Hallam is in the Department of Psychology Special Needs
