Olympic Politics : Athens to Atlanta 1896-1996, 1996 100 years of Olympic history British Sporting Relations with Apartheid South Africa Matthew P. Llewellyn, Toby C. Rider, 2024-11-25 The transnational anti apartheid sport boycott of South Africa represented the most prominent extended and controversial anti racism campaign in the history of sport Spearheaded by prominent British religious and anti colonial figures and exiled South Africans emboldened by communist and Global South support and legitimised by supranational political bodies such as the United Nations the Organisation of African Unity and the Commonwealth the sport boycott helped propel anti apartheid out of relative obscurity and struck at the very heart of a cultural practice that served an explicitly ideological function in Afrikaner society Britain held a dichotomous even paradoxical role as both prosecutor and defender of white South Africa This book utilises sport as a critical lens for understanding the dynamics and dichotomies of British attitudes towards the apartheid regime Debates over whether to continue or to cut sporting links with apartheid South Africa proved bitterly divisive The considerable weight the subject carried and the degree to which it saturated British political and social discourse for four decades speaks to its impact and importance British Sporting Relations with Apartheid South Africa represents the first archival based historical examination of Britain's sporting relations with South Africa throughout the apartheid era 1948 1994 Situating the analysis within the shifting multiracial and multicultural landscapes of postcolonial Britain and within global political cultural sporting and ideological debates the authors trace the origins and evolution of the transnational sport boycott and examine what inspired Britons to energise anti apartheid sport campaigns and in contrast what drove many others to vehemently oppose them at every turn Sport and Society: History, Power and Culture Graham Scambler, 2005-05-16 This is a succinct and comprehensive account of the contemporary sociology of sport It starts by tracing the key moments in the transition from pre modern to modern sport giving detailed accounts of the athletic competition in the ancient games at Olympia the genesis of modern track and field athletics in nineteenth century England and the reconstruction by de Coubertin and unfolding of the Olympic movement through the twentieth century The second section analyses features of sport in detail The links between exercise sport and health including a look at growing rates of obesity and of the role of drug use in society and sport The hyper commodification of football in the 1990s Representations of sport in the media Sports iconography with sociological portraits of Muhammad Ali and David Beckham The re emergence of violence in sport The third section critically analyses the various theoretical approaches adopted by sociologists and presents a distinctive new theoretical framework for understanding the changing role of sport in society in the era of global disorganized capitalism This is key reading for students and researchers in sociology of sport and leisure sport science and health Africa, Football and FIFA Paul Darby, 2013-10-08 This book explores the role of FIFA in brokering the development of football in Africa and its relationship with that continent's football associations and regional governing body Africa is no longer on the periphery of world football

but the economic disparities between the first and the third worlds hinder the development of the game The author shows convincingly how Africa's advance within world football is tied to its national political economy and how the balance of power within FIFA still clearly favours its European members Terrorism and the Olympics Anthony Richards, Pete

Games: Modern Metaphor for The Middle Kingdom Reborn J.A. Mangan, 2017-07-05 The premise of The Asian Games

Modern Metaphor for The Middle Kingdom Reborn Political Statement Cultural Assertion Social Symbol is emphatic The Guangzhou 2010 Asian Games was a metaphor for hegemony and renaissance China crushed the other Asian nations with the massive weight of its Gold Medal haul and demonstrated regional self confidence regained The huge accumulation of gold medals emphasized that once again China stood apart and above other nations of Asia China's reaction and the reactions of the other Asian nations are explored in The Asian Games There is another premise in the publication that the Chinese Asian Games were a harbinger of a wider dominance to come geopolitically politically militarily economically and culturally And there is a further issue raised by the Guangzhou Asian Games the continuing determination of the Asian nations to mount a distinctive Games that is Asian and resistant to the cumbersome gigantism of the Modern Olympic Games Asia now has the wealth to promote present and project a global sports mega event with an Asian identity and in an Asian idiom This Collection is unique in focus argument and evidence This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport

Sport in South Asian Society Boria Majumdar, J A Mangan, 2013-09-13 A detailed study of sports arrival spread and advance in colonial and post colonial South Asia A selection of articles addresses critical issues of nationalism communalism commercialism and gender through the lens of sport This book makes the point that the social histories of South Asian sport cannot be understood by simply looking at the history of the game in one province or region Furthermore it demonstrates that it would be wrong to understand sport in terms of the exigencies of the colonial state Drawing inspiration from C L R James well known epigram What do they know of cricket who only cricket know the findings suggest that South Asian sport makes sense only when it is placed within the broader colonial and post colonial context The book demonstrates that sport not only influences politics and vice versa but that the two are inseparable Sport is not only political it is politics intrigue culture and art To deny this is to denigrate the position of sport in modern South Asian society This volume was previously published as a special issue of The International Journal of the History of Sport
