Digination Robert C. MacDougall, 2012 The shift from orality to literacy that began with the invention of the phonetic alphabet and which went into high gear with Gutenberg's printing press more than 500 years ago helped make the modern world Some commentators have argued that this shift from orality to literacy marked a much broader cultural shift of cataclysmic proportions Today with everything from e-mail to blogs iPods and podcasts through Google Yahoo eBay and with cutting edge smart phones we find ourselves developing relationships with these newest communication tools that aren't simply allowing us to communicate faster farther and with more ease than ever before We aren t just moving around ideas data and information at unimaginable speed and scale Our interminglings and fusions with digital communication technologies are also altering both individual and group consciousness in fundamental ways how we form and sustain relationships how we think and perceive what it means to see and to feel We are remaking human identity once more and manufacturing a new kind of culture along the way The processes bound up in our digination may well be consequential to the trajectory of human evolution That time honored trope the notion that technology is not the problem rather it s how people use technology that s the problem is shown to be wanting Highlighting Marshall McLuhan s tetrads or laws of media as a primary tool of analysis R C MacDougall argues in line with other media ecologists that it s not so much how we use certain tools that matters it s that we use them More than any other technological form perhaps communication technologies play particularly powerful and systemic roles in our culture or any culture for that matter Late adopters and even abstainers are not exempt from the psychological social and cultural effects and side effects of modern digital communication technology While there are certainly varying degrees of immersion that is to say while some of us live in the high rise downtown district some at the city limits and still others out in the proverbial woods we all live in Digination today

This study examines the history of record collecting, profiles collectors, and the collecting process, considering categories especially music genres and types of record collecting and outlines and discusses the infrastructure within which collecting operates. Shuker situates this discussion within the broader literature on collecting along with issues of cultural consumption, social identity, and the construction of self in contemporary society. Record collecting is both fascinating in its own right and provides insights into broader issues of nostalgia, consumption, and material culture. Building resilience & supporting mental health in bereaved youth through sports Theo Gavrielides, This ebook presents the results of the Footsteps Forward project carried out by the RJ4All International Institute with support from the London Violence Reduction Unit of the Mayor of London. It was carried out in 2024 in South East London working directly with young people aged 14-18 who were affected by loss and serious youth violence. It used the RJiNEAR resilience model drawn from restorative justice and positive psychology principles. It aimed to test a hypothesis whereby the delivery of combined group multi-sports and therapeutic activities guided by the RJiNEAR ethos will lead to improved well-being and resilience outcomes for young people affected by serious youth violence and loss. The project bridges an important caveat in the extant literature focusing on structured support for these youth. Among the findings, the project illustrated that it created a safe space for grief expressions and sports engagement. Additionally, a moderate correlation was observed between RJiNEAR and the support received for grief. When Terry Croteau was twelve years old, tromping around the woods on family outings, looking under leaves for frogs and salamanders, and relieving herself behind trees, she had no idea she'd end up spending over half a year doing the same thing from Georgia to Maine in her fifties. What causes a midlife baby boomer to leave her job, sell the house, farm out the furniture, and cram all the leftovers in a ten-by-ten-foot storage unit and carry thirty-five-plus pounds on her back over 2174 miles? Well, your guess is as good as mine, but that's what she did. Join Terry, trail name Bluebird, as she prepares, then walks, crawls, trips, and falls her way up the Appalachian Trail AT from Springer Mountain, GA, to Baxter Park's Katahdin in ME. Allow yourself the experience of hiking the AT by living vicariously through Bluebird's journal entries and reflections. Experience the routine and the totally unexpected in the life of a long-distance thru-hiker. Learn where a good sense of humor, sweat, tears, and a Don't-give-up attitude might take you. Realize how success can be measured more keenly by your attitude than by your accomplishments that believing in you is half the battle the other half is putting one foot in front of the other According to the Appalachian Trail Conservancy approximately 1 150 northbound thru hikers began their trek in 2006 GA to ME of the 1 150 hikers 659 individuals a little over half made it to Harpers Ferry W Va Bluebird was number 501 Maine s Katahdin greeted 30% of the original 1 150 hikers with a total of 349 completions in 2006 You will connect with some of those people in Terry s journal It doesn t matter if you re young old male or female you will appreciate what you find between the cover pages of this book The author reminds us that Life isn t over till your six foot under and if you re on this side of the dirt and breathing you re alive So for God sake and your own live
