Return to Eden David H. Turner,1996 In the second edition of Return to Eden David H Turner updates the current situation of the Aboriginal people of Amagalyuagba in northern Australia from 1988 He adds a new chapter on the politics of doing fieldwork in the Northern Territory in the pre land rights era of Australian history This study recounts the Aborigines own theoretical interpretation of their society and history and brings that interpretation to life in a journey with them through the sacred Landscape of Bickerton Island Groote Eylandt and the adjacent mainland Through Turner s first visit to the people of this area in 1969 the book documents the current plight of these Aboriginal people under the threat of missionization mining and government interference and suggests possible ways out of their dilemma Archaeology of Oceania Ian Lilley,2008-04-15 This book is a state of the art introduction to the archaeology of Oceania covering both Australia and the Pacific Islands The first text to provide integrated treatment of the archaeologies of Australia and the Pacific Islands Enables readers to form a coherent overview of cultural developments across the region as a whole Brings together contributions from some of the region s leading scholars Focuses on new discoveries conceptual innovations and postcolonial realpolitik Challenges conventional thinking on major regional and global issues in archaeology The Archaeology of Difference Anne Clarke,Robin Torrence,2003-09-02 The Archaeology of Difference presents a new and radically different perspective on the archaeology of cross cultural contact and engagement The authors move away from acculturation or domination and resistance and concentrate on interaction and negotiation by using a wide variety of case studies which take a crucially indigenous rather than colonial standpoint Animism Graham Harvey,2006 How have human cultures engaged with and thought about animals plants rocks clouds and other elements of their natural surroundings Do animals and other natural objects have a spirit or soul What is their relationship to humans In his new book Graham Harvey explores indigenous and environmentalist spiritualities in which people celebrate relationships with other than human beings He examines present and past animistic beliefs and practices of the Ojibwe the Maori Aboriginal Australians and eco pagans revealing the diverse ways of being animist and of living respectfully within natural communities Drawing on his extensive casework Harvey considers the linguistic performative ecological and activist implications of animist worldviews and lifeways He argues that animist beliefs can contribute significantly to contemporary debates about consciousness cosmology and environmentalism In addition he examines the colonialist ideologies and methodologies that have caused many academics to exclude the term animism from their critical vocabularies Indigenous Textual Cultures Tony Ballantyne,Lachy Paterson,Angela Wanhalla,2020-08-10 The contributors to Indigenous Textual Cultures examined the ways in which indigenous peoples created textual cultures to navigate shape and contest empire colonialism and modernity East Asian Cultural and Historical Perspectives University of Alberta. Research Institute for Comparative Literature and Cross-Cultural Studies,1997 Religion in Human Evolution Robert N. Bellah,2011-09-15 This ambitious book probes our biological past to discover the kinds of lives that human beings have imagined were worth living Bellah s theory goes deep into cultural and genetic evolution to identify a range of capacities communal dancing storytelling theorizing whose emergence made religious development possible in the first millennium BCE The Religions of Oceania Garry Trompf,2005-08-18 More than a quarter of the world s religions are to be found in the regions of Australia Melanesia Micronesia and Polynesia together called Oceania The Religions of Oceania is the first book to bring together up to date information on the great and changing variety of traditional religions in the Pacific zone The book also deals with indigenous Christianity and its wide influence across the region and includes new religious movements generated by the responses of indigenous peoples to colonists and missionaries the best known of these being the Cargo Cults of Melanesia The authors present a thorough and accessible examination of the fascinating diversity of religious practices in the area analysing new religious developments and providing clear interpretative tools and a mine of information to help the student better understand the world s most complex ethnologic tapestry Dreaming Ecology Deborah Bird Rose,2024-05-07 In the author s own words Dreaming Ecology explores a holistic understanding of the interconnections of people country kinship creation and the living world within a context of mobility Implicitly it asks how people lived so sustainably for so long It offers a telling critique of the loss of Indigenous life human and non human in the wake of white settler colonialism and this becoming cattle country It offers a fresh perspective on nomadics grounded in footwalk epistemology and an ethics of return sustained across different species events practices and scales This is the final and most substantial of Debbie s love letters to the Aboriginal people of the Victoria River Downs I say this because there is such a sense of reverence wonder and respect throughout the book The introduction of concepts of double death footwalk epistemology wild country are not only organising ideas but characterisations arising from what Debbie hears sees and feels of herself and Aboriginal others I think of it in terms of love if love is care reciprocal respect deep connectivity and a strong desire to never make less of the people she chose to commit herself to Richard Davis This book was a pleasure to read filled with careful description of people places and various plants and animals and insightful analysis of the patterns and commitments that hold them together in the world Thom van Dooren The Poetics of Myth Eleazar M. Meletinsky,2014-01-21 First Published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Indigenous Religious Musics Graham Harvey,2017-09-08 Celebrating the diversity of indigenous nations cultures and religions the essays which comprise this volume discuss the musics performed by a wide variety of peoples as an integral part of their cultural traditions These include examinations of the various styles of Maori Inuit and Australian Aboriginal musics and the role of music in Korean Shaman rituals Indeed music forms a key component of many such rituals and belief systems and examples of these are explored amongst the peoples of Uganda Amazonia and Africa Through analysis of these rituals and the part music plays in them the essays also open up further themes including social groupings and gender divisions and engage with issues and debates on how we define and approach the study of indigeneity religiosity and music With downloadable resources featuring some of the music discussed in the book and further information on other available recordings this is a book which gives readers the opportunity to gain a richer experience of the lived realities of indigenous religious musics

Words and Silences Peggy Brock, 2020-07-28 In struggles over access to land Aboriginal women's concerns have often remained unacknowledged Their words and silences have been frequently misheard misunderstood misrepresented misused The controversy about secret women's business in the Hindmarsh Island Bridge conflict has brought this issue to the attention of the general public How can Aboriginal women assert their claims while protecting by remaining silent their culturally sensitive knowledge How can they prevent their words and silences being misrepresented Words and Silences explores the barriers confronting Aboriginal women trying to defend their land rights The contributors to this volume provide insights into the intricacies of Aboriginal social and cultural knowledge and introduce the reader to different understandings of how the gendered nature of Aboriginal land ownership adds complexity to the cross cultural encounter In lively and engaging prose they document the ongoing struggles of Aboriginal women across Australia who are fighting to ensure they receive due recognition of their rights in land

Found in Translation Laura Rademaker, 2018-04-30 Found in Translation is a rich account of language and shifting cross cultural relations on a Christian mission in northern Australia during the mid twentieth century It explores how translation shaped interactions between missionaries and the Anindilyakwa speaking people of the Groote Eylandt archipelago and how each group used language to influence evade or engage with the other in a series of selective mistranslations In particular this work traces the Angurugu mission from its establishment by the Church Missionary Society in 1943 through Australia's era of assimilation policy in the 1950s and 1960s to the introduction of a self determination policy and bilingual education in 1973 While translation has typically been an instrument of colonization this book shows that the ambiguities it creates have given Indigenous people opportunities to reinterpret colonization's position in their lives Laura Rademaker combines oral history interviews with careful archival research and innovative interdisciplinary findings to present a fresh cross cultural perspective on Angurugu mission life Exploring spoken language and sound the translation of Christian scripture and songs the imposition of English literacy and Aboriginal singing traditions she reveals the complexities of the encounters between the missionaries and Aboriginal people in a subtle and sophisticated analysis Rademaker uses language as a lens delving into issues of identity and the competition to name own and control In its efforts to shape the Anindilyakwa people's beliefs the Church Missionary Society utilized language both by teaching English and by translating Biblical texts into the native tongue Yet missionaries relied heavily on Anindilyakwa interpreters whose varied translation styles and choices resulted in an unforeseen Indigenous impact on how the mission's messages were received From Groote Eylandt and the peculiarities of the Australian settler colonial context Found in Translation broadens its scope to cast light on themes common throughout Pacific mission history such as assimilation policies cultural exchanges and the phenomenon of colonization itself This book will appeal to Indigenous studies scholars across the Pacific as well as scholars of Australian history religion linguistics anthropology and missiology Car Cultures Daniel Miller, 2020-05-26 Anyone who assumes that a car is simply a means to get from point A to point B or who even thinks that they know what a car is should read this book Profoundly shaped by culture the car gives rise to a wide range of emotions from guilt about the environment in the UK to aboriginal concerns with car corpses to struggles to keep the creatures alive with everything but the proper spare parts in West Africa Cars and their landscapes prove central to human life from its most intimate to the widest sense of global crisis and are capable of inspiring epic passions From road rage in Western Europe to the struggles of cab driving in Africa to the emergence of Black identity in the US this book examines the essential humanity of the car which includes the jealousies gender differences fears and moralities that cars give rise to Firmly grounded in detailed ethnographic and historical scholarship this is the first book to provide an informed sense of cars as one of the most familiar and significant forms of material culture Australian Aboriginal Studies, 1992 Going the Whiteman's Way David McKnight, 2004 Modern anthropologists unlike their classical predecessors have observed Australian Aborigines in the field rather than from the study None however has spent as long as David McKnight in a single community During a period of 35 years involving some 20 fieldtrips he has lived with the Mornington Islanders of northern Queensland for over five years This intellectual tour de force combines dense ethnography about Australian kinship and marriage the heart of their world with major anthropological debate about theories of kinship It thereby provides a unique and important contribution to kinship studies McKnight shows how young Aborigines became increasingly determined to marry according to their own inclinations defying the authority of the elders who accused them of going the Whiteman's Way Global Ethics and Environment Nicholas Low, 2002-09-11 As global capitalism expands and reaches ever further corners of the world practical problems continue to escalate and repercussions become increasingly serious and irreversible These practical problems carry with them equally important and ethical issues Global Ethics and Environment explores these ethical issues from a range of perspectives and using a wide range of case studies Chapters focus on the impact of development in new industrial regions the ethical relationship between human and non human nature the application of ethics in different cultural and institutional contexts environmental injustice in the location of hazardous materials and processes the ethics of the impact of a single event Chernobyl on the global community the ethics of transitional institutions This collection will both stimulate debate and provide an excellent resource for wide ranging case study material and solid academic context Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1997 La religión en la evolución humana Bellah, Robert N., 2017-11-30 La religión en la evolución humana es una obra de una ambición extraordinaria una exploración amplia y matizada de nuestro pasado biológico para descubrir las formas de vida que los seres humanos imaginaron que merecía la pena vivir Ofrece lo que se ve con frecuencia como una teoría prohibida del origen de la religión al profundizar especialmente pero no exclusivamente en la evolución cultural Como nuestros primeros ancestros trascendieron las demandas cotidianas de la existencia para abrazar una realidad alternativa que cuestionaba el verdadero significado de su lucha diaria Robert Bellah uno de los principales sociólogos de nuestro tiempo identifica una escala de capacidades culturales como la danza comunitaria la narración de cuentos y la teorización cuya aparición hizo posible este desarrollo religioso Desplegando los últimos descubrimientos en biología ciencia cognitiva y psicología evolutiva traza la expansión de estas capacidades culturales desde el Paleolítico hasta la era axial en torno al primer milenio a de C cuando individuos y grupos en el Viejo Mundo desafiaban las normas y creencias de las sociedades de clase gobernadas por reyes y aristocracias Estos profetas y renunciados religiosos nunca lograron fundar sus utopías alternativas pero dejaron un patrimonio de crítica que nunca se llega a apagar El tratamiento de Bellah de las cuatro grandes civilizaciones de la era axial en el antiguo Israel Grecia China e India muestra que todas las religiones existentes tanto proféticas como místicas están enraizadas en la historia evolutiva Journal of Sikh Studies ,2003
