Screen Stories Carl R. Plantinga, 2018 The way we communicate with each other is vital to preserving the cultural ecology or wellbeing of a place and time Do we listen to each other Do we ask the right questions Do we speak about each other with respect or disdain The stories that we convey on screens or what author Carl Plantinga calls screen stories are one powerful and pervasive means by which we communicate with each other Screen Stories Emotion and the Ethics of Engagement argues that film and media studies needs to move toward an approach to ethics that is more appropriate for mass consumer culture and the lives of its citizens Primarily concerned with the relationship between media and viewers this book considers ethical criticism and the emotional power of screen stories that makes such criticism necessary The content we consume from television shows and movies to advertisements can significantly affect our welfare on a personal and societal level and thus this content is subject to praise and celebration or questioning and even condemnation The types of screen stories that circulate contribute to the cultural ecology of a time and place through shared attention they influence what individuals think and feel Plantinga develops a theory of the power of screen stories to affect both individuals and cultures asserting that we can better respond ethically to such media if we understand the sources of its influence on us

Homicide and the Politics of Law Reform Jeremy Horder, 2012-07-12 What makes murder murder How should we understand the difference between intentional and reckless killing Should offenders be punished differently according to the perceived severity of their crime and when should they be excused These questions are the topic of intense debate within legal circles and beyond in the UK the US and the rest of world Jeremy Horder's role as the Law Commissioner for England and Wales on criminal law has given him unique insight into these questions and the debates surrounding them Here he analyses the recent political and legal reform movements offering a political history of homicide law reform from the 19th century to the modern era Using homicide as a starting point Horder raises deeper questions of who is and should be responsible for making and changing the law What role should there be for expert bodies judges and politicians What role should there be for the general public These questions invoke strong emotional responses Horder argues that comprehensive research into and a degree of difference to public opinion on the scope of homicide is essential to the reform process It is essential principally as a means of conferring true legitimacy on homicide reform in a democracy Elite or expert opinion alone will never authentically secure such legitimacy Offering an insider's view into the processes of achieving law reform Horder expresses criticism of a system that excludes the vast majority of people from consultation on reform of the laws that govern them
