Reversing The Tide Priorities For Hiv Aids Prevention In Central Asia:

Reversing the Tide, 2005      Reversing the Tide, 2005      Reversing the Tide Joana Godinho, 2005 Although the number of reported cases of HIV in Central Asia is very low the growth rate of the epidemic about 500 cases in 2000 to over 12 000 in 2004 is a cause for serious concern This study identifies critical gaps and makes recommendations for further action that will ensure effective early prevention of HIV AIDS in Central Asia      Public Health Aspects of HIV/AIDS in Low and Middle Income Countries David Celentano, Chris Beyrer, 2008-09-11 It has now been 25 years since the apocryphal report in the CDC Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report dated June 5 1981 entitled Pneumocystis Pneumonia Los Angeles which announced what was to become HIV AIDS HIV has now affected virtually all countries that have looked for it and has had a devastating impact on the public health and medical care infrastructure around the world HIV AIDS has also disproportionately affected nations with the least capacity to confront it especially the developing world nations in Sub Saharan Africa South and Southeast Asia and the emerging republics of Eastern and Central Asia The pandemic unlike any other disease of our time has had profound impacts on the practice of public health itself bringing affected communities into decision making demanding North South partnerships and collaborations and changing the basic conduct of clinical and prevention trials research While much has been written in scholarly publications for medical epidemiologic and disease control specialists there is no comprehensive review of the public health impact and response to HIV AIDS in the developing world This edited volume seeks to systematically describe the emergence and form of the epidemics epidemiology the social community and political response and the various measures to confront and control the epidemic with varying levels of success Of particular importance are strategies that appear to have been useful in ameliorating the epidemic while contrasting the situation in a neighboring country or region where contrasting prevention or care initiatives have had a deleterious outcome Common to all responses has been the international multi sectoral response represented by the Global Fund for HIV AIDS Malaria and Tuberculosis the President s Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief and the Gates Foundation among others to promote HIV pharmacologic therapy in resource poor settings The chapter authors will explore the political challenges in meeting HIV AIDS prevention and care in concert with the public health realities in specific country and regional context      HIV/AIDS in Europe World Health Organization. Regional Office for Europe, 2006 Tells the story of HIV AIDS in Europe from a broad variety of perspectives bio medical social cultural economic and political The authors are leading experts from across the region and include both the infected and the affected be they doctors or former drug users United Nations employees or gay men public health researchers or community activists They describe how from the first documented cases in 1981 to the present era of antiretroviral management controlling the human immunodeficiency virus in Europe has provided elusive      HIV/Aids in the Western Balkans, 2005-01-01 In recent years Europe and Central Asia has experienced the world s fastest growing HIV AIDS epidemic Yet in the Western Balkan countries the HIV prevalence rate is under 0.1 percent which ranks among the lowest. This may be due to a low level of infection among the population or partly due to inadequate surveillance systems. All major contributing factors for the breakout of an HIV/AIDS epidemic are present in the Western Balkans. HIV/AIDS disproportionately affects youth: 80 percent of HIV-infected people are 30 years old or younger. Most of the Western Balkan countries have very young populations.

Drugs and Public Health in Post-Soviet Central Asia Muiassar Turaeva, 2022-08-27. The book outlines post-Soviet style of health management in Central Asia. Regional studies on Central Asia to date have focused on states, politics, religion, and inter-ethnic relations but not on the health system within the region. Soviet-style policies have also covered only other aspects relevant for the region. This book highlights the public health situation of the region with a focus on drug abuse, HIV/AIDS in the context of increased mobility and drug trafficking routes which became even more porous after the break-up of the Soviet Union. Based on a qualitative study, the empirical data in the book was collected during long-term fieldwork conducted in Uzbekistan and Turkmenistan in 2010-2011, as well as shorter stays in Uzbekistan between 2012-2016. The analysis of the empirical material largely draws on the works of Foucault, particularly his concept of biopolitics when analyzing Soviet-style health management that is still practiced in the region. Applying the Foucauldian genealogical method, this study has been structured to trace the genealogy of epidemics to understand the historical path of drug abuse in the region as well as the discursive genealogy of drug politics and drug abuse. Applying the same genealogical method of Foucault, the formative and discursive trajectory of the institution of Uchyot was traced to contextualize the health governance methods that have historical legacy of Soviet-style governance and control of the total population. Drugs and Public Health in Post-Soviet Central Asia: Soviet Style Health Management is a unique resource for academic specialists, practitioners, professionals, and advanced undergraduate and graduate students in public health as well as a range of scholars and professionals in sociology, political science, anthropology, and anyone with an interest in the Central Asia region, drug addiction, or HIV. The book also could appeal to international donors in the field of HIV drug addiction who are working in the region.

Humanitarian Aid in Post-Soviet Countries Laetitia Atlani-Duault, 2008-01-07. Published originally in French, this revised and updated English edition presents an original and insightful approach to the problem of humanitarian aid in the Central Asian and Caucasus region.

AIDS Epidemic Update, December 2006 Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS, World Health Organization, 2006. This annual update reports on developments in the global HIV/AIDS epidemic and draws on the most recent data available to give global and regional estimates of its scope and human toll. Despite promising developments in global efforts to address the AIDS epidemic, including increased access to effective treatment and prevention programmes, the number of people living with HIV continues to grow, as does the number of deaths due to AIDS. Findings for 2006 include: the total number of people living with HIV is estimated at 39.5 million; 4.3 million new cases during the year; and an estimated 2.9 million deaths. Sub-Saharan Africa continues to bear the brunt of the global epidemic, with 63 per cent of all adults and children with HIV globally, and with its epicentre in southern Africa. In the past two years the number of people living with HIV increased in every region in the world with the most striking increases in East Asia Eastern Europe and Central Asia where the number of people living with HIV in 2006 was over 21 per cent higher than in 2004

There has been recent progress towards regional cooperation but the barriers created by borders negatively affect peoples lives It is contended that increased cooperation among the Central Asian republics Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan would produce substantial political and economic gains including income increases of 50 percent to 100 percent over the next ten years The cost of non cooperation is continued deterioration in income distribution social services and general living conditions according to the Report and possibly a descent into the vicious cycle of economic crisis and corrupt governance that often leads to social unrest

Capitalizing on the Demographic Transition ,2011-06-02 Increasing life expectancy in South Asia is resulting in a demographic transition that can under the right circumstances yield dividends through more favorable dependency ratios for a time With aging the disease burden shifts toward noncommunicable diseases NCDs which can threaten healthy aging

However securing the gains expected from the demographic dividend where developing countries working and nondependent population increases and per capita income thus rises is both achievable and affordable through efficiently tackling NCDs with prevention and control efforts This book looks primarily at cardiovascular disease CVD and tobacco use since they account for a disproportionate amount of the NCD burden the focus is strategic rather than comprehensive The goal of this book is to encourage countries to develop adopt and implement effective and timely country and where appropriate regional responses that reduce both population level risk factors and the NCD burden The work develops i an NCD burden and risk factor profile for all countries and the region as a whole ii a rationale for public policy and action for NCDs iii a framework to guide the formulation of public policies and strategies for NCDs iv a country profile including capacity and ongoing NCD activities as well as policy options and actions for NCDs that will help stimulate policy dialogue within and among countries and v a regional strategy for NCD prevention and control where regional collaboration offers added value The achievements of this book are i developing a framework for policy options to identify key areas for strategic country and regional level policy and actions ii bringing together demographic and aging trends disease and risk factor burden data alongside analyses of capacities and accomplishments to tackle NCDs and iii using these inputs to develop policy options for country and regional strategies
