

A collage of various historical and artistic images, including a large fire, a group of people, a quilt, a landscape, and a person in a blue dress, set against a background of faint, stylized text. The collage is composed of several rectangular images of different sizes and orientations. At the top left is a large, intense fire with bright orange and yellow flames. To its right is a group of people in historical attire, possibly a crowd or a group of workers. Below the fire is a scene of a large building on fire, with smoke and flames rising. To the right of that is a quilt with a grid of colorful, stylized patterns. Below the quilt is a landscape with a body of water and a distant shoreline. To the right of the landscape is a scene of a person in a blue dress, possibly a woman, in a dynamic pose. The background of the collage is a light, textured surface with faint, stylized text, including the words "a custom publication" at the bottom.

Retrieving the Human Jose Comblin,2003-08-26 All roads in the church lead to humankind Pope John Paul II wrote in his first encyclical But what is it to be a human being And what vision does Christian theology offer for being and becoming human In the past theology has taken the role of the dominant ideology in a society claiming to present a complete vision of humankind and its place in creation Now Comblin argues we need to reestablish the primacy of the biblical message and tradition being lived today The Bible espouses a non idealized non individualized but realistic and communitarian view of what it means to be human This can be called the humanity of the two thirds world those whose humanity does not figure in the ideology of the privileged few As Comblin writes The privileged forget their bodies Those who have never been truly hungry do not understand that a human being is first and foremost a being who needs to eat Today it is the poor who live through their bodies and theology makes an option for the poor A new model of theology is emerging from Christian communities growing up all over the globe And yet it is an old model too that finds and takes much from the communities of the first Christians Retrieving the Human explores this new yet old vision examining questions of the new person and personhood soul and body humankind in relation to space and time the person in relation to science technology and work humanity before God It is among the poor particularly in the base communities that Comblin looks for models of being truly human today
