Works, Sketches & Essays Kyeong Jae Lee,2015-02-19 I come from Seoul Korea where layers of ancient beauty and high end technology coexist The city has been evolving swiftly in ways that no single individual can fully comprehend and continues onward toward an exciting but unpredictable future I have witnessed this change and have felt overwhelmed but inspired by this wild transformation The pace of change has become a motivation for me to learn more design more and love more If a city is a jigsaw puzzle then creating architecture is like filling in the missing pieces without knowing what the entire picture should look like I used to be afraid to make a mistake thinking that a wrong move may stay and stain the beloved city for decades But then I realized that adding a piece is not just a passive process but a mutually interactive one the moment I make a move it generates a new context This revelation completely changed the way I see the world and emboldened me to be a more proactive forward thinking architect Design Processes W. A. Poelman,David Victor Keyson,2008 Nowadays the script of life is for a large part written by architects and designers Urban planning decides how we spread our activities geographical The design of modern residential districts determines for a large part how we communicate with each other The design of shopping centers determines how we acquire our food Designers for means of transport decide how we move ourselves and kitchen designers decide how we cook All this has to do with the mechanisms of technology diffusion which will be elaborated on in this republication The main issues discussed are the contemporary interrelationship of industrial design and architecture and a confrontation of contemporary design practice in both domains with academic theory and education The cases used for this publication provide several examples of the various characters of design processes The subjects of the cases discussed in Design Processes are design processes in general visualization as a design tool project management social complexity collaboration decision making and technology diffusion Provided by publisher Design Representation Gabriela Goldschmidt,William L. Porter,2007-05-28 there is a global network of academics researchers and methodologists who will buy this book or want it in their institute libraries Prof John Harbraken

As the field of human computer interaction grows this book is likely to be a basic resource Prof Chuck Eastman Design representation is necessary for all design activity You will gain a guide to both theory and practical application in this discussion of representation as it occurs during the process of design Goldschmidt and Porter give you perspectives on representational issues in design that are both informative and evocative of further inquiry The unique interdisciplinary approach brings a new dimension to the study of representation benefiting the global network of researchers students and practitioners in all areas of design Rather than addressing the larger framework directly a series of smaller case studies are presented each dealing with aspects of representation in architecture and engineering Binding together historical cultural cognitive social and technological perspectives eliminates the need for further reading Innovative research methods based on numerous well illustrated examples will leave you with new ideas to build on International contributors focus on worldwide research activities offering you more than just an expansion of a single viewpoint Design Representation delves into the common roots of representation in all design disciplines through case studies historical investigations theoretical constructs and programming If you are involved in any design activity this will be a truly exciting addition to your bookshelf

abstract sensibility to the landscape design tradition In Cornelia Hahn Oberlander Making the Modern Landscape Susan Herrington draws upon archival research site analyses and numerous interviews with Oberlander and her collaborators to offer the first biography of this adventurous and influential landscape architect Born in 1921 Oberlander fled Nazi Germany at the age of eighteen with her family going on to become one of the few women to graduate from Harvard University's Graduate School of Design in the late 1940s For six decades she has practiced socially responsible and ecologically sensitive planning for public landscapes including the 1970s design of the Robson Square landscape and its adjoining Provincial Law Courts one of Vancouver's most famous spaces Herrington places Oberlander within a larger social and aesthetic context chronicling both her personal and professional trajectory and her work in New York Philadelphia Vancouver Seattle Berlin Toronto and Montreal Oberlander is a progenitor of some of the most significant currents informing landscape architecture today particularly in the area of ecological focus In her thorough biography Herrington draws much deserved attention to one of the truly important figures in landscape architecture

City Visions Jenny Bavidge, Robert Bond, 2021-03-04 City Visions The Work of Iain Sinclair collects fourteen pathbreaking essays treating the panoramic oeuvre of novelist poet filmmaker and essayist Iain Sinclair This book aims to reflect and develop the current strong interest in the work of Sinclair who is widely recognized as one of the most significant figures in contemporary British literature and culture The essays herein cover the key genres and periods of Sinclair's output discussing his poetry prose and filmmaking and are developed from the proceedings of the first academic conference on Sinclair which was held at the University of Greenwich in 2004 Following the introductory chapter which includes a brief survey of Sinclair's career up until now the collection is arranged thematically in four sections The first part Contexts features essays which comment on the critical categorization and definition of Sinclair's work The second part Culture and Critique includes essays which explore the political import and contexts of Sinclair's oeuvre The articles in the third part Connections look at the links between Sinclair and other writers addressing the often noted intertextuality of his writing and the final section Spaces contains three considerations of Sinclair's treatment of London's urban spaces This collection provides access to the latest research by the leading scholars working in this area and will be a key point of reference for anyone interested in Sinclair's production To some the field of London writing may increasingly look like an indifferent over populated wasteland Iain Sinclair however remains pre eminent by virtue not only of the amplitude of his knowledge of the city but of the intensity and complexity of his thought about it He is the redemptive memorialist of a host of disregarded London cultures that lie quite beyond the reach of contemporary pieties In that respect he is less our Blake as he sometimes seems to believe than our Pepys or our Defoe At the same time he is an audacious experimenter with prose forms in the modernist tradition from Joyce to Burroughs and beyond Like the Sinclair phenomenon itself this valuable collection of essays is multifaceted illuminating its subject from a variety of different angles whilst very well aware that it is part of a work in progress It offers important testimony to the scope and power of a writer

engaged in an original serious and necessary project Andrew Gibson Research Professor of Modern Literature and Theory Royal Holloway University of London This is an important and timely collection about arguably the most significant living London writer who is increasingly being recognised as an important contemporary English author in every sense Lawrence Phillips Principal Lecturer in English University of Northampton At last Iain Sinclair has the readers he deserves at least on the ample often provocative and always fascinating evidence of City Visions a collection of essays marked equally by panache and verve awareness of alternative cultural history and theoretical sophistication Over fourteen chapters critics with wide ranging interests gather their restless energies and obsessions in response to the scatter gun agitprop and guerilla intellectualism of Sinclair to produce a necessary and necessarily edgy volume In this admirably relentless collection Jenny Bavidge and Robert Bond offer an unnerving and inventive critical topography that uncovers the dark heart of a writer who is simultaneously the enfant terrible and minence grise of English letters Belles lettrists and other dilettantes be warned this is not a volume for the faint hearted these essays manifest an evangelical zeal equal to their subject s own in doing so they take us on an exhilarating intellectual adventure so refreshing in the world of lit crit where the polite formulas of sensible reading make one want to faint from ennui Professor Julian Wolfreys Loughborough University Portico ,2000 Retrospecta 2002/2003 Yale University.
