Marines on the Beach Christopher Paul, 2008-09-30 Paul explores both how and why U S military intervention decisions are made Pursuit of that inquiry requires the identification of decision participants thorough examination of the decision making processes they employ and recognition of several factors that influence intervention decisions the national interest legitimacy and the legacies of previous policies This book provides chapter length treatment of each of these issues The research is based on detailed historical case studies for the four U S Marines on the beach military interventions in Latin America since World War II The Dominican Republic 1965 Grenada 1983 Panama 1989 and Haiti 1994 Additional cases notably Afghanistan and Iraq enter the discussion when considering findings with broader implications Of the existing theories of governance that compete to explain government policy making Paul finds that elite theory provides the best general model for intervention decision making but that the notions of both pluralist and class theorists contribute to a complete explanation and sometimes in an unexpected way Findings also indicate considerable contribution from and constraint by institutional sources However far from finding that institutional factors are wholly deterministic this research offers support for a choice within constraints model Conclusions suggest that top decision makers especially the president enjoy wide latitude in framing the national interest and in choosing where to and where not to intervene Making

Representation Jack H. Nagel, Rogers M. Smith, 2013-07-03 In any democracy the central problem of governance is how to inform organize and represent the opinions of the public in order to advance three goals popular control over leaders equality among citizens and competent governance In most political analyses voting is emphasized as the central and essential process in achieving these goals Yet democratic representation encompasses a great deal more than voter beliefs and behavior and indeed involves much more than the machinery of elections Democracy requires government agencies that respond to voter decisions a civil society in which powerful organized interests do not dominate all others and communication systems that permit divergent voices to be heard Representation Elections and Beyond brings together leading international scholars from a wide range of disciplines to explore the twenty first century innovations in voting laws and practices in electoral systems in administrative political and civil organizations and in communication processes and new technologies that are altering how we understand democratic representation Featuring twelve essays that engage with national provincial and municipal governments across three continents this volume tackles traditional core elements of democratic representation such as voting electoral systems and political parties while also underscoring the ways in which beliefs and preferences of citizens are influenced expressed and aggregated and the effects of those methods and practices on political agendas and policy outcomes In pinpointing deficiencies in contemporary democratic practices and possibilities for reform Representation provides an invaluable roadmap to improve democratic representation in the twenty first century Contributors Andr Blais Pradeep Chhibber Archon Fung Jacob Hacker Zoltan Hajnal Matthew Hindman David Karpf Georgia Kernell Alexander Keyssar Anthony McGann Susan Ostermann Paul Pierson Dennis Thompson Jessica Trounstein Mark E Warren

Fed Power Lawrence Jacobs, Desmond King, 2021-02-12 An eye opening analysis of the Federal Reserve's massive and unwarranted power in American life and how it favors the financial sector over everyone else The Federal Reserve created more than a century ago is the most powerful central bank in the world The Fed's power which derives from its ability to alter the money supply and move interest rates weighs heavily not only on the US economy but on the world economy as well Lawrence R Jacobs and Desmond King's Fed Power is the first sustained synthesis of the Fed's political role especially the way in which it uses its power to benefit some interest groups and not others since the 2008 financial crisis In this fully updated and revised second edition Fed Power addresses new developments during Trump's presidency particularly the Fed's massive and unprecedented injection of liquidity into the US economy following the COVID epidemic and offers fresh insights on the Fed's outsized role in picking winners and losers in the American economy King and Jacobs conclude with bold proposals to reform America's financial management to prevent future crises and to restore democratic accountability A powerful critique of how

Reconceiving Liberalism Oren M. Levin-Waldman, 2010-11-23 Levin Waldman argues that if American public policy were to be evaluated against a different set of principles ones more closely aligned with core liberal values especially the common good liberalism would be in greater harmony with contemporary public opinion and thought Liberalism rests on a moral vision of what constitutes the good life and a set of principles that can measure whether public policy accords with society's underlying philosophical principles Levin Waldman faults modern liberalism for obscuring these principles through a misplaced reliance on neutrality Liberalism he contends appears to have diverged from mainstream perceptions of traditional American values because policy is debated and formulated within the confines of this neutrality standard Levin Waldman develops a new methodology intended to take us away from the usual cost benefit analysis and move us closer to assessing public policies in terms of what best serves the common good

Singaporeans negotiate various rules and regulations they form a set of ties to each other and to the state These institutionalized relationships and shared meanings referred to as neoliberal morality render particular ideals about family natural Based on extensive field work the book is a useful contribution to studies on Asian Culture and Society Globalisation as well as Development Studies
