Revision Cognitive and Instructional Processes Linda Allal, L. Chanquoy, Pierre Largy, 2012-12-06 Revision Revisited LINDA ALLAL LUCILE CHANQUOY University of Geneva Switzerland University of Nantes France Revision is a fundamental component of the writing process So fundamental that for some specialists writing is largely a matter of revising or as Murray 1978 stated Writing is rewriting p 85 Experience with writing does not however automatically translate into increased skill in revision Learning to revise is a lengthy complex endeavor Beginning writers do little revision spontaneously and even experienced writers encounter difficulties in attempting to improve the quality of their texts Fitzgerald 1987 Although revision has been extensively dealt with in the writing and learning to write literature this book proposes to revisit theory and research in this area through a series of new contributions The introduction begins with an overview of what revision encompasses It then examines two parallel interrogations that underlie the chapters assembled here namely 1 What are the implications of research on cognitive processes for instruction in revision 2 What are the questions raised by instructional research for the investigation of cognitive processes of revision A final section presents the chapters of this book

Revision Cognitive and Instructional Processes Linda Allal, L. Chanquoy, Pierre Largy, 2004-01-31 Revision is a fundamental part of writing and the acquisition of revision skills is a complex and lengthy process This book draws together current research on revision from two areas The first is the large body of empirical work on the cognitive processes involved in the revision of written language production This research looks at how operations of revision intervene during various phases of writing at the resources or constraints e.g. working memory load content knowledge strategy use that affect revision and at developmental aspects of revision capabilities The second area of research concerns the study of students learning to revise texts in instructional settings This research examines the effects of instructional design conditions structure and sequencing of tasks strategy instruction word processing and the impact of peer interactions on student acquisition of revision skills The contributions by European and North American specialists provide new insights into revision processes and raise new questions about the interplay between cognitive and instructional factors The authors present critical reviews of research findings as well as recent empirical work conducted in experimental and classroom settings Revision is an essential resource for researchers in cognitive developmental and educational psychology who are interested in language acquisition and for professionals of language instruction including pre-service and in-service teacher training
