Parish Nursing Verna Carson, 2002-05-01 Parish Nursing presents a vision where nurses can serve as the vital link between secular healthcare and sacred, faith-based systems. Nurses are able to provide direct ministry to members of the congregation and also can be the communicators, teachers, motivators, and encouragers of others. The parish nurse could be a key person to link the two systems and provide truly wholistic care. Reading the stories of parish nurses gives us hope that this vision might be possible; indeed, it must be possible if our aging society is to flourish in the years ahead.

The Role of Companion Animals in Counseling and Psychology Jane K. Wilkes, 2009 The human health benefits derived from relationships with companion animals has attracted an abundance of scientific interest and research. However, there is a need for theoretical conceptualizations in order to understand the healing benefits of human-animal interactions. The goal of this book is to seek these answers and the OCO and OC why OCO companion animals play a role in counseling and psychology. In-depth, semi-structured interviews were conducted with three psychologists who use animals in their therapy settings. The focus of these interviews was to determine the experiences of having a companion animal present during therapy sessions. The results revealed that pets in therapy: 1) enhanced the therapeutic alliance/relationship, 2) revived the therapeutic environment, 3) improved professional practice, and 4) created a sense of sacredness. The therapy animals seemed to provide the trust and safety needed for clients to work within the transitional space and that the animals may act as transitional objects for some clients. This book suggests that therapy animals are extremely helpful in providing a sense of safety for traumatized clients and could act as catalysts, especially with defensive and/or detached clients. Unique features include discussion of the domestication of companion animals, research into the human-animal bond, social and psychological support theory, descriptions of methods used, object
