Taylor-Robinson, 1985-09-30 It goes almost without saying that there has been a marked increase in the incidence of sexually transmitted diseases throughout the world in the past two to three decades Indeed despite the progress that has been made in methods of diagnosis and treatment the sexually transmitted diseases as a whole are the most common communicable diseases and as such constitute an important health problem The increase in incidence may be accounted for by changes in sexual behaviour the introduction of contraceptives and the increasing mobility of the population In addition during the same time period the number of infectious agents recognized as being sexually transmitted has increased considerably These include Chlamydia trachomatis herpes simplex virus cytomegalovirus and hepatitis B virus Indeed some are as dependent on sexual transmission as the agents which cause the traditional venereal diseases and collectively they cause morbidity which has out stripped that caused by gonorrhoea and syphilis It could almost be said that to know the sexually transmitted diseases is to know micro biology However the approach taken in this book has not been to consider individual infectious agents and evaluate what they do and do not cause but to consider clinical conditions and what might be responsible for them To cover the complete spectrum of the sexually transmitted diseases in a comprehensive way now takes a text book of massive proportion Regulatory Impact/initial Flexibility Analysis of Proposed Inshore/offshore Allocation Alternatives, Amendment 18/23 to Groundfish, Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands Fisheries Management Plan (FMP) and Gulf of Alaska Groundfish Fisheries Management Plan (FMP) ,1992 The San Joaquin Kit Fox Brian L.

Immune Involvement in Recurrent Pregnancy Loss Gendie Lash,Raj Raghupathy,2023-11-27 Recurrent pregnancy loss RPL is defined as two or more consecutive pregnancy losses before the 20th week of gestation occurring in 1% 3% of reproductive women Unexplained RPL URPL is a heterogeneous condition affecting approximately 50% of RPL cases with one contributing factor thought to be a disruption in maternal immune tolerance Various immune effectors and molecules in the immune microenvironment establish specific maternal tolerance toward the semi allogeneic fetus during pregnancy Immune cells including innate lymphoid cells ILCs myeloid cells T cells and B cells have been found to contribute to maintaining this maternal immunological tolerance during pregnancy ILCs have been found to be the most abundant immune cells in the pregnant uterus with many studies focusing on the relationship between RPL and either T cells or natural killer NK cells in peripheral blood and the endometrium decidua Despite progress in uncovering the roles of NK and regulatory T cells and cytokines in pregnancy the immune heterogeneity in patients with URPL remains elusive
