Mother Earth and Uncle Sam Rena I. Steinzor, 2009-05-21 In this compelling study Rena Steinzor highlights the ways in which the government over the past twenty years has failed to protect children from harm caused by toxic chemicals She believes these failures under funding excessive and misguided use of cost benefit analysis distortion of science and devolution of regulatory authority have produced a situation in which harm that could be reduced or eliminated instead persists Steinzor states that as a society we are neglecting our children's health to an extent that we would find unthinkable as individual parents primarily due to the erosion of the government's role in protecting public health and the environment At this pace she asserts our children will inherit a planet under grave threat We can arrest these developments if a critical mass of Americans become convinced that these problems are urgent and the solutions are near at hand By focusing on three specific case studies mercury contamination through the human food chain perchlorate rocket fuel in drinking water and the effects of ozone smog on children playing outdoors Steinzor creates an analysis grounded in law economics and science to prove her assertions about the existing dysfunctional system Steinzor then recommends a concise and realistic series of reforms that could reverse these detrimental trends and serve as a blueprint for restoring effective governmental intervention She argues that these recommendations offer enough material to guide government officials and advocacy groups toward prompt implementation for the sake of America's and the world's future generations

Welfare for Politicians? John Samples,2005-03-25 Candidates and parties need money to fight election campaigns In the United States this money comes largely from individuals and groups not the government and taxpayers Many people criticize such private financing of politics Private donations they claim advance special interests thereby corrupting politics and government Some critics argue that government should ban private campaign contributions in favor of financing by taxpayers Since public money comes from everyone they reason it actually comes from no one which cuts out corruption before it begins But taxpayer financing of campaigns such as the income tax check off for presidential campaigns has its share of critics who point out that public financing has often come up short in terms of increasing electoral competition Another major problem concerns the taxpayers who are called on to fund these programs Taxpayer financing in polls and in reality lacks public support The public resists giving welfare to politicians to run their campaigns In Welfare for
