Walden x 40 Robert B. Ray, 2011-11-24 Provocative and illuminating essays on Thoreau's masterwork shedding new light on its enduring inspiration and philosophical depth In 1845 Henry David Thoreau moved from his parents' house in Concord Massachusetts to a one room cabin he built himself on the land of his mentor Ralph Waldo Emerson He described his time there just over two years as an experiment in living deliberately His daily journal entries became the source material for Walden a masterful meditation on the virtues of simplicity self sufficiency and man's relationship to nature In Walden x 40 Robert B Ray adopts Thoreau's compositional method to explore some of the questions posed in Walden Drawing connections to the works of poets and philosophers from Wordsworth to Wittgenstein Nietzsche and Breton Ray derives the inspiration for his 40 brief essays by exploring the pages of Walden in the same way Thoreau explored his own life deliberately

America Melville Andrew Delbanco, 2013-02-20 If Dickens was nineteenth century London personified Herman Melville was the quintessential American With a historian's perspective and a critic's insight award winning author Andrew Delbanco marvelously demonstrates that Melville was very much a man of his era and that he recorded in his books letters and marginalia and in conversations with friends like Nathaniel Hawthorne and with his literary cronies in Manhattan an incomparable chapter of American history From the bawdy storytelling of Typee to the spiritual preoccupations building up to and beyond Moby Dick Delbanco brilliantly illuminates Melville's life and work and his crucial role as a man of American letters Morality USA Ellen G. Friedman, 1998 In today's world moral uncertainty is found everywhere MORALITY USA calls for recognition of the multiplicity of moral structures that now exist and argues that we need to rethink our concepts of morality Controversial comprehensive engaging and timely MORALITY USA is sure to spark debate and contemplation across political and social spectrums 23 photos Follies of the Wise Frederick Crews, 2007-03-01 Bestselling author and Berkeley professor of thirty years Frederick Crews has always considered himself a skeptic Forty years ago he thought he had found a tradition of thought Freudian psychoanalytic theory that had skepticism built into it He gradually realized however that true skepticism is an attitude of continual questioning The more closely Crews examined the logical structure and institutional history of psychoanalysis the more clearly he realized that Freud's system of thought lacked empirical rigor Indeed he came to see Freudian theory as the very model of a modern pseudoscience Follies of the Wise contains Crews's best writing of the past fifteen years including such controversial and widely quoted pieces as The Unknown Freud and The Revenge of the Repressed essays whose effects still reverberate today In addition his topics range from Intelligent Design creationism to theosophy from psychological testing to UFO zaniness from American Buddhism to the current state of literary criticism A single theme animates his bracing and witty discussions the temptation to reach for deep wisdom without attending to the little voice that asks Could I by any chance be deceiving myself here The Demise of the Library School Richard J. In scripture, Jesus promises a future that potentially infuses all texts: my words will not pass away (Matt 24:28). This book argues that texts, even literary texts, have an eschatology too: a part in God's purpose for the cosmos. They, with all creation, move toward participation in the new creation in the Trinity's expanding creative love. This eschatological future for texts impacts how we understand meaning-making from the level of semiology to that of hermeneutics. This book tells the story of how readers participate in the future of the word, the eschatology of texts. If texts have a future in the kingdom of God, then readers' engagements with them, everything from preservation and utterance to translation, criticism, and call and response, can cultivate those futures in the love of the Trinity. Kriner explores how the fallenness and failures of texts, alongside readers' own failures, while seeming to challenge the future of the word, ultimately point to reading as a posture of reconciliation in which reader and text meet in the Maranatha of all text. New York Magazine, 1997-09-22. New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea. Richard Wright Kenneth Kinnamon, 2014-11-04. African American writer Richard Wright (1908-1960) was celebrated during the early 1940s for his searing autobiography Black Boy and fiction Native Son. By 1947, he felt so unwelcome in his homeland that he exiled himself and his family in Paris. But his writings changed American culture forever, and today they are mainstays of literature and composition classes. He and his works are also the subjects of numerous critical essays and commentaries by contemporary writers. This volume presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of those essays, books, and articles from 1983 through 2003, arranged alphabetically by author. Within years, there are some 8320 entries ranging from unpublished dissertations to book-length studies of African American literature and literary criticism. Also included as an appendix are addenda to the author's earlier bibliography covering the years from 1934 through 1982. This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics. The Company of the Creative David L. Larsen. Great works and authors of the world are introduced and reviewed artistically, intellectually, and theologically. Persons discussed include Plato, Milton, Dickens, Shakespeare, Charlotte

Bronte Mark Twain and C S Lewis
