Research Racism In Education Set Politics Theory And Practice:

Race, Culture, and Politics in Education Kogila Moodley, 2020-12-04 Through her far ranging autobiography Kogila Moodley provides readers with a detailed glimpse of how she managed as a person of color amid divided societies from Apartheid South Africa to anti-Semitism in Europe and sectarian conflict in the Middle East Moodley's message to readers is to find ways to combat oppression and racism in order to foster a more interconnected world Rationing Education

David Gillborn, Deborah Youdell, 1999-12-16 This research should make us extremely sceptical that the constant search for higher standards and for ever increasing achievement scores can do much more than put in place seemingly neutral devices for re-stratification Michael W Apple John Bascom Professor of Curriculum and Instruction and Educational Policy Studies University of Wisconsin Madison Recent educational reforms have raised standards of achievement but have also resulted in growing inequalities based on race and social class School by school league tables play a central role in the reforms These have created an A to C economy where schools and teachers are judged on the proportion of students attaining five or more grades at levels A to C To satisfy these demands schools are embracing new and ever more selective attempts to identify ability Their assumptions and practices embody a new IQism a simple narrow and regressive ideology of intelligence that labels working class and minority students as likely failures and justifies rationing provision to support those often white middle class boys already marked for success This book reports detailed research in two secondary schools showing the real costs of reform in terms of the pressures on teachers and the rationing of educational opportunity It will be important reading for any teacher researcher or policymaker with an interest in equality in education Failing Boys? Debbie Epstein, 1998-11-16

Failing Boys Issues in Gender and Achievement challenges the widespread perception that all boys are underachieving at school It raises the more important and critical questions of which boys At what stage of education And according to what criteria The issues surrounding boys underachievement have been at the centre of public debate about education and the raising of standards in recent years Media and political responses to the problem of boys have tended to be simplistic partial and owe more to quick fixes than investigation and research Failing Boys provides a detailed and nuanced case study of the issues in the UK which will be of international relevance as the moral panic is a globalised one taking place in diverse countries The contributors to this book take seriously the issues of boys underachievement inside and outside school from a critical perspective which draws on the insights of previous feminist studies of education to illuminate the problems associated with the education of boys This will be a key text for educators policy makers students and teachers of education sociology gender studies and cultural studies and others interested in gender and achievement Researching Education for Social Justice in Multilingual Settings Jean Conteh, 2017-12-14 Researching Education for Social Justice in Multilingual Settings provides innovative guidance on carrying out qualitative research in education by offering a wide range of examples of research projects with a focus on the methodologies and data collection strategies used Rather than decontextualised how to advice the book offers insights into the complexities of actually carrying out research in multilingual settings In this practical guide examples of real life projects are framed by chapters providing a theoretical background to the principles of ethnography and to the processes and practices of qualitative research focusing on data generation and collection strategies Case study chapters offer a rich understanding of the detail of qualitative research in education from the points of view of people who have engaged in it Moreover the book promotes understanding of current research that aims to make a difference to pupils students teachers and families whose diverse languages and cultural experiences are not fully valued in society and in mainstream education contexts Pedagogical features that support private study and use on courses include a glossary of key terms guiding questions for reading at the start of each section and discussion questions to promote reflection as well as suggestions for further reading Researching Education for Social Justice in Multilingual Settings is a supportive guide to the principles of ethnography and the processes of qualitative research for all those wishing to investigate complex problems in multilingual education settings Roma Identity and Ritual in the Classroom Jana Obrovská,2018-09-21 This book addresses the dynamics of interethnic relationships in ethnically mixed classrooms in the Czech Republic The classroom is a space in which the boundaries and meanings of facets of identity such as ethnicity class and gender are negotiated on a daily basis using rich ethnographic data the author grounds the analysis in a novel theoretical framework which uses the traditional concept of ritual to examine peer cultures Highlighting the perspectives of the students themselves their own peer cultures and the agency of the minority youth present in the classroom the book reinforces the idea that the dynamics of peer culture can be the scene for successful peer inclusion strategies as well as a stage for the reproduction of inequalities The author offers a rich array of data from post socialist classrooms which are almost invisible in the dominant debates surrounding ethnicity This revelatory book will be of interest and value to students and scholars of social anthropology the sociology of education and race and ethnicity in education as well as practitioners working with minority youth Theory and Practice of Adult and Higher Education Victor C.X. Wang,2016-10-01 A volume on Theory and Practice of Adult and Higher Education or Foundations of Adult and Higher Education will appeal to both our graduate students and faculty as so many of them have been taking courses in both program areas and have been concerned with their defined areas of expertise Although theories and practices in Adult Education and in Higher Education are being used interchangeably there is a lack of scholarly work that connects existing theories and practices across the two fields The proposed ground breaking volume will cover topics theories practices in both fields of Adult Education and of Higher Education and in doing so will bring to the fore the connections that make these two fields truly inseparable The proposed volume will therefore generate new knowledge to share among faculty graduate students and other researchers who practice not only in Adult Education but also in Higher Education Connecting Theory and Practice in Middle School Literacy Jason DeHart,Carla K. Meyer,Katie Walker,2021-12-27 Bringing together the voices of researchers and teachers this volume addresses how teachers connect theory to practice in the middle school English Language Arts education setting and explores how to teach and engage with young adults in a way that treats them as ethical and thoughtful citizens The book bridges the gap between educational theory and real world implementation and covers a range of timely topics in middle level education through a focus on text choice identity and practice Contributors acknowledge and balance the challenges associated with the reality of teaching including time constraints sudden shifts and fast paced work with real world guidance on key topics such as supporting multilingual students queering middle grade pedagogies teaching diverse texts examining racial bias in the classroom and critical digital literacy Ideal for courses on middle level education and literacy education this book encourages and equips pre service teachers to engage in meaningful conversations with their students that foster reflection and transformative learning

The Relationality of Race in Education Research Greg Vass, Jacinta Maxwell, Sophie Rudolph, Kalervo N. Gulson, 2017-11-01 This edited collection examines the ways in which the local and global are key to understanding race and racism in the intersectional context of contemporary education Analysing a broad range of examples it highlights how race and racism is a relational phenomenon that interconnects local national and global contexts and ideas The current educational climate is subject to global influences and the effects of conservative hyper nationalist politics and neoliberal economic rationalising in local settings that are creating new formations of race and racism While focused predominantly on Australia and southern world or settler colonial contexts the book aims to constructively contribute to broader emerging research and debates about race and education Through the adoption of a relational framing it draws the Australian context into the global conversation about race and racism in education in ways that challenge and test current understandings of the operation of race and racism in contemporary social and educational spaces Importantly it also pushes debates about race and racism in education and research to the foreground in Australia where such debates are typically dismissed or cursorily engaged The book will guide readers as they navigate issues of race in education research and practice and its chapters will serve as provocations designed to assist in critically understanding this challenging field It reaches beyond education scholarship as concerns to do with race remain intertwined with wider social justice issues such as access to housing health social economic mobility and political representation

Politics and the Mediatization of School Educational Policy Grant Rodwell, 2020-04-07 Despite increasing prevalence over the past three decades and a clear impact on school education policy and practice education s connection to dog whistle journalism and politics has not yet been fully explored Addressing this gap Politics and the Mediatization of School Educational Policy examines the emergence and current impact of dog whistle politics and journalism on education in Australia the US and the UK questioning what is at stake when this political dog whistle is directed at school educational policy and practice Exploring common targets for dog whistling such as teaching standards teacher quality and specific curriculum areas such as history sex and health education the book considers the broader social issues of xenophobia and racism as well as the decline of print media and rise of digital news sources in its place with each chapter including an in depth discussion using peer reviewed literature on the subject Following the trail of dog whistles impacting in school educational policy and practice across these three countries this book explores To what extent is the dog whistle dynamic embedded in school educational policy and practice To what extent does the dog whistle dynamic affect our understanding of school educational policy and practice How might we explain the continued flurry of dog whistles impacting school educational policy and practice As the phenomenon of the dog whistle intensifies both nationally and internationally this timely and thought provoking book is necessary reading for academics postgraduate researchers and all members of school communities

The Handbook of Educational Theories Beverly Irby, Genevieve H. Brown, Rafael Lara-Alecio, Dr. Shirley A. Jackson, 2013-03-01 Although educational theories are presented in a variety of textbooks and in some discipline specific handbooks and encyclopedias no publication exists which serves as a comprehensive consolidated collection of the most influential and most frequently quoted and consulted theories There is a need to put such theories into a single easily accessible volume A unique feature of the Handbook is the way in which it conveys the theories The organization of the chapters within each section makes the volume an easy to use and understandable reference tool as researchers and practitioners seek theories to guide their research and practice and as they develop theoretical frameworks In addition to the traditional theories presented the Handbook includes emerging theories for the 21st Century as well as presenting practical examples of the use of these theories in research from dissertations and published articles An appendix which indicates which theories have instruments associated with them and where those instruments can be found is also included The Handbook consists of 12 sections Section I provides the introduction with a focus on what constitutes good theory as well as how theory guides research and practice The remaining sections address Philosophical Educational Constructs Learning Theory Instructional Theory Curriculum theory Literacy and Language Acquisition Theory Counseling Theory Moral Development Theory Classroom Management Theory Assessment Theory Organizational Theory and Leadership Management Theory Each section consists of an overview written by the section editor of the general theoretical concepts to be addressed by the chapter authors Each chapter within the section will include a description of the theory with goals assumptions and aspects particular to the theory b the original development of and interactions of the theory c validation of the theory d generalizability of the theory across cultures ethnicities and genders e the use and application of the theory f critiques of the theory g any instruments associated with the theory and h two to five particular studies exemplifying particular theories as individuals have used them in theoretical framework of dissertations or published articles and be written by the original theorist or prominent contributors to the theory The Handbook is intended for graduate students enrolled in research courses or completing theses and dissertations Additionally professors of all educational disciplines in the social sciences would be an interested audience There is also potential use of the text as administrators counselors and teachers in schools use theory to guide practice As more inquiry is being promoted among school leaders this book has more meaning for practitioners
