Gynecology Mariska Leunissen, 2025 In Aristotle's Gynecology Mariska Leunissen examines Aristotle's methods for the establishment of gynecological facts within his natural science arguing that many of the gynecological phenomena at stake such as menstruation and the nature of menstrual blood the role of female pleasure during sex and women's experiences of erotic dreams and their knowledge of conception and their experiences of false pregnancy and childbirth were mostly for socio cultural reasons not at all or not immediately accessible for a male natural scientific observer such as Aristotle Given this lack of immediate empirical evidence Aristotle employed alternative methods for the establishment of facts such as relying on signs and circumstantial empirical evidence or using analogical and probabilistic reasoning and relied heavily on existing expert reports such as mainly early medical sources but also sometimes verbal reports from women themselves Moreover Aristotle used a secondary standard for testing the results of this inquiry namely one which he originally developed for investigations into physically remote meteorological and cosmological phenomena that are not apparent to observation and according to which statements of facts are credible if they are ontologically possible Leunissen thus reconstructs Aristotle's gynecology in the context of his commitments to empiricism and his scientific methods for the fact establishing phase of natural science and elucidates the role his concepts of evidence credibility and signs play in his natural scientific research However through its focus on Aristotle's use of gendered knowledge and his reconstruction of natural phenomena believed to be characteristic of women Leunissen's book also offers a glimpse of the lived experiences and reproductive beliefs of women in Ancient Greece Mirror Graham Masterton, 2011-07-07 It is said that a mirror can trap a person's soul

Martin Williams is a broke two bit screenwriter living in Hollywood but when he finds the very mirror that once hung in the house of a murdered 1930s child star he happily spends all he has on it He has long obsessed over the tragic story of Boofuls a beautiful and successful actor who was slaughtered and dismembered by his grandmother However he soon discovers that this dream buy is in fact a living nightmare the mirror was not only in Boofuls house but witness to the death of this blond haired and angelic child which in turn has created a horrific and devastating portal to a hellish parallel universe So when Martin's landlord loses his grandson it is soon apparent that the mirror is responsible But if a little boy has gone into the mirror what on earth is going to come out The Man Who Saved Geometry Siobhan Roberts, 2024-10-29 An illuminating biography of one of the greatest geometers of the twentieth century Driven by a profound love of shapes and symmetries Donald Coxeter 1907-2003 preserved the tradition of classical geometry when it was under attack by influential mathematicians who promoted a more algebraic and austere approach His essential contributions include the famed Coxeter groups and Coxeter diagrams tools developed through his deep understanding of mathematical symmetry The Man Who Saved Geometry tells the story of Coxeter's life and work placing him alongside history's greatest geometers from Pythagoras and Plato to Archimedes and Euclid and it reveals how Coxeter's boundless creativity reflects the adventurous ever evolving nature of geometry itself With an incisive touching foreword by Douglas R Hofstadter The Man Who Saved Geometry is an unforgettable portrait of a visionary mathematician The Ugly History of Beautiful Things Katy Kelleher,2023-04-25 In these deeply researched essays a Paris Review contributor blends science history and memoir to explore human obsession with gorgeous things exposing the fraught histories of makeup silk jewels perfume and other objects helping readers to ethically partake in the beauty of the world around them The Elements of the Heliograph Frederick King Ward,1883
