Guide to Accompany Pediatric Nursing Potts, Barbara Hartwig Mandleco, 2002 Pediatric Nursing is a comprehensive text for undergraduate nursing students that approaches the topic of children's healthcare from a holistic and family centered perspective. Traditional areas of assessment, disease processes, and health promotion are examined within the context of contemporary social and cultural influences that affect today's children and their families. Chapters focus on anticipatory guidance for the family related to developmental milestones, health concerns, and health promotion strategies specific to each stage of development. This text also addresses the specific needs of the increasing number of families caring for children with complex health problems at home. Common alterations and disorders are discussed extensively and organized by body system rather than age group. This enables students to locate information and absorb the content more easily. The text seeks to empower students as critical thinkers capable of meeting the challenges they will face as healthcare providers in the 21st century.

It shows students how to make critical judgments and assessments to manage the care of children in a variety of community settings, including homes, schools, and medical centers. From infancy through adolescence, this text thoroughly covers the health promotion, surveillance, and maintenance needs of children. In this edition, threaded case studies follow a community of pediatric clients and continue throughout the chapter to show the interrelated dynamics of pediatric nursing care. Family-Centred Perinatal Care Beverley Chalmers, 2017-04-03 Since childbirth became a medicalized and usually hospitalized event a century ago women's and families psychosocial needs have been relegated to a somewhat peripheral role within the clinically focussed hierarchy of medical care. This text reinstates psychosocial issues as a primary focus of care together with clinical excellence. Family-centred care is a familiar phrase in today's maternity services with professional guidelines and hospital policies including the term in their care protocols; however, few definitions and no specific standards for family-centred care exist. While all caregivers and care services are likely to define their care as sensitive to women's needs and family-centred, the actual implementation of a family-centred approach despite it being a current fashion in care is still inadequate. This book clearly defines family-centred perinatal care and outlines how truly family-centred care can and should be implemented and how and where this has been done. National Library of Medicine Audiovisuals Catalog
