Politics Of Ngos In South East Asia:

The Politics of NGOs in Southeast Asia Gerard Clarke, 2006-05-17 The Politics of NGOs in Southeast Asia traces the history of the emergence of NGOs in the Philippines and southeast Asia and the political factors which encouraged this. The main focus is on the period from the mid 1990s when NGOs first became a notable force in the region. It documents the complex relations between NGOs and other political actors including the state, organised religion, foreign donors, the business sector and underground insurgent groups and their impact on NGO strategy.

The Politics of NGOs in Indonesia Bob S. Hadiwinata, 2003-08-29 This book deals with two major issues: how Indonesian NGOs survived under Suharto's authoritarian rule and how NGOs contributed to the promotion of democracy in the post-Suharto era. If NGOs are to change from development to movement in democratic post-Suharto Indonesia, they must adjust not only their management and working style but also their very ideology. This comprehensive study will be an important book for scholars interested in Asian studies, Indonesian politics and development studies.

Politics of Human Rights in Southeast Asia Philip J. Eldridge, 2013-01-11 The divide between the West and Southeast Asia seems to be nowhere more apparent than in debates about human rights. Within these diverse geographical, political and cultural climates, human rights seem to have become relative and the quest for absolutes seems unattainable. In this new book, Philip J. Eldridge seeks to question this stalemate. He argues that the Association of Southeast Asian Nations' inclusion in United Nations human rights treaties could be the common ground that bridges the gap between East and West. Eldridge uses topical case studies and primary research from Malaysia, Indonesia, East Timor and Australia to compare the effectiveness of United Nations human rights directives on local democracies. This study presents insightful research into a hotly debated topic. As such, it will be a thought-provoking resource for students of human rights, politics and international relations.

Political Business in East Asia Edmund Gomez, 2003-09-02 The relationship between government and business has become a central issue in East Asia since the financial crisis of 1997. As the Asian economies try to advance the reform process, recent scandals involving corruption and cronyism have demonstrated the ongoing significance of the issue. This edited book features a range of distinguished international specialists and explores the interaction between politics and business across the region. Detailed case studies focus on Japan, China, South Korea, Malaysia, Thailand, Singapore and Indonesia. This is the first comprehensive introduction to government-business relations in the region and makes a significant contribution to our understanding of the problems faced by the Asian economies.

Human Rights and Participatory Politics in Southeast Asia Catherine Renshaw, 2019-02-18 In Human Rights and Participatory Politics in Southeast Asia, Catherine Renshaw recounts an extraordinary period of human rights institution building in Southeast Asia. She begins her account in 2007 when the ten members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) signed the ASEAN charter, committing members for the first time to principles of human rights, democracy and the rule of law. In 2009, the ASEAN Intergovernmental Commission on Human Rights was established with a mandate to uphold internationally recognized human rights standards In 2013 the ASEAN Human Rights Declaration was adopted as a framework for human rights cooperation in the region and a mechanism for ASEAN community building Renshaw explains why these developments emerged when they did and assesses the impact of these institutions in the first decade of their existence In her examination of ASEAN Renshaw asks how human rights can be implemented in and between states that are politically diverse Vietnam and Laos are Communist Brunei Darussalam is an Islamic sultanate Myanmar is in transition from a military dictatorship the Philippines and Indonesia are established multiparty democracies while the remaining members are less easily defined Renshaw cautions that ASEAN is limited in its ability to shape the practices of its members because it lacks a preponderance of democratic states However she concludes that in the absence of a global legalized human rights order the most significant practical advancements in the promotion of human rights have emerged from regional institutions such as the ASEAN

Politics in Southeast Asia William Case, 2013-09-13 This volume provides an introduction to the politics of the five key southeast Asian states Malaysia Singapore Indonesia Thailand and the Philippines and is intended as a textbook for undergraduate and graduate students taking courses on this subject Using a comparative politics and political economy perspective the author focuses in particular on the degree of democracy in the five countries arguing that in all the countries considered democracy is to varying degrees imperfect The book synthesises a wide range of scholarship and presents the material in a concise and accessible way

Comparative Politics of Southeast Asia Aurel Croissant, Philip Lorenz, 2017-12-26 This textbook provides a comprehensive introduction to the political systems of all ASEAN countries and Timor Leste from a comparative perspective It investigates the political institutions actors and processes in eleven states covering democracies as well as autocratic regimes Each country study includes an analysis of the current system of governance the party and electoral system and an assessment of the state its legal system and administrative bodies Students of political science and regional studies will also learn about processes of democratic transition and autocratic persistence as well as how civil society and the media influence the political culture in each country

NGOs and Civil Society in Thailand Theerapat Ungsuchaval, 2022-09-28 NGOs and Civil Society in Thailand critically examines the relationships of civil society to nongovernmental organisations in Thailand and examines the NGOisation of civil society how NGOs are funded and governed and in what way the NGOs has been shaped to work with the funder NGOisation is a phenomenon by which the funded organisations are impelled to transform suit their funder as reliable partners Focusing on Thailand an Asian country where NGOs have been heavily relied on the public sector for funding the book analyses the relations between NGOs and their significant funder Thailand Health Promotion Foundation THPF one of the biggest and most influential players in the NGO sector As the NGO funded organisations are impelled to transform and adapt to become more professionalised institutionalised bureaucratised and depoliticised to suit their funder as reliable partners their characteristics and relations with the state are complex and interactive Engaging with key stakeholders in the field of NGO and public governance in

Thailand the book demonstrates how THPF changed the NGO landscape integrating them and innovatively coordinating non state initiatives into public governance system A novel contribution to the study of NGOs and the state the book also addresses NGO transformation politics and governance It will be of interest to academics working on Asian Politics civil society public policy and public management

Facing Asia - Japan's Role in the Political and Economic Dynamism of Regional Cooperation Blechinger, Verena, Legewie, Jochen, 2000-05-04 Facing Asia examines the political and economic processes of regionalism and regionalization in Asia with a focus on Japan and Japanese actors The articles by eminent scholars address the forces that tie the region together They treat topics ranging from Japanese bilateral and multilateral ODA and the activities of state and non state actors on the regional level to issues such as Japanese multinational corporations foreign direct investment in Asia and regional financial institutions Methodologically the authors draw on disciplinary strengths in either the social sciences or economics while organizing their treatment around a shared political economic perspective By looking at Asia through an interdisciplinary lens the volume offers something to anyone interested in Japanese involvement in the politics and economics of the region In the final chapter the editors weave together the different approaches to Japan's place in Asian regional cooperation in the 1990s and beyond

The Politics of Southeast Asia's New Media William Atkins, 2013-11-19 The past decade has seen a major structural shift in broadcasting in Southeast Asia with the development of digital satellite and cable broadcasting This shift has impacted upon some of the most information sensitive governments in the world Singapore Malaysia and until recently Indonesia Atkins traces this development in five countries showing that the challenge to authoritarian regimes anticipated by modern theorists as a result of the globalization of news and information is not materializing Instead a new commercial elite has arisen Southeast Asia's own mini moguls who act as gatekeepers for state interests as partners to global media companies

The New Global Politics of the Asia-Pacific Michael K. essential reading for undergraduate students of Asian Studies International Politics and anyone interested in the region

The Making of Southeast Asia Amitav Acharya, 2013-02-22 Developing a framework to study what makes a region Amitav Acharya investigates the origins and evolution of Southeast Asian regionalism and international relations He views the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN from the bottom up as not only a U S inspired ally in the Cold War struggle against communism but also an organization that reflects indigenous traditions Although Acharya deploys the notion of imagined community to examine the changes especially since the Cold War in the significance of ASEAN dealings for a regional identity he insists that imagination is itself not a neutral but rather a culturally variable concept The regional imagination in Southeast Asia imagines a community of nations different from NAFTA or NATO the OAU or the European Union In this new edition of a book first published as The Quest for Identity in 2000 Acharya updates developments in the region through the first decade of the new century the aftermath of the financial crisis of 1997 security affairs after September 2001 the long term impact of the 2004 tsunami and the substantial changes wrought by the rise of China as a regional and global actor Acharya argues in this important book for the crucial importance of regionalism in a different part of the world

Migration and Integration in Europe, Southeast Asia, and Australia Juliet Pietsch, Marshall Clark, 2025-10-01 This volume brings together a group of scholars from a wide range of disciplines to address crucial questions of migration flows and integration in Europe Southeast Asia and Australia Comparative analysis of the three regions and their differing approaches and outcomes yields important insights for each region as well as provokes new questions and suggests future avenues of study

ASEAN and the Institutionalization of East Asia Ralf Emmers, 2011-09-28 This book examines the evolving multilateral security arrangements in East Asia It discusses the role of ASEAN highlighting its successes and its deficiencies including the fact that it is confined to Southeast Asia and has among its members none of the major East Asian powers nor any of the external powers such as the United States which have a strong interest in the region

Routledge Handbook of Southeast Asian Politics Richard Robison, 2012-03-12 Now available in paperback this Handbook provides a comprehensive analysis of the major themes that have defined the politics of Southeast Asia It provides a comprehensive and cutting edge examination of this important subject The introductory chapter provides an overview of the theoretical and ideological themes that have dominated the study of the region's politics and presents the different ways the complex politics of the region have been understood The contributions by leading scholars in the field cover a range of broad questions about the dynamics of politics The Handbook analyses how the dominant political and social coalitions of the region were forged in the Cold War era and assesses the complex processes of transition towards various forms of democratic politics How institutions and systems of governance are being forged in an increasingly global environment is discussed and whether civil society in Southeast Asia has really evolved as an independent sphere of social and political activity The Handbook examines how national governments are dealing with growing tensions within the region as matters such as labour human rights and the environment spill beyond national boundaries and how they are establishing a place in the new global framework By engaging the Southeast Asian experience more firmly with larger debates about modern political systems the Handbook is an essential reference tool for students and scholars of Political Science and Southeast Asian studies The Politics of Accountability in Southeast Asia Garry Rodan, Caroline Hughes, 2014 This book examines different ideologies and related political coalitions forming the bases of movements for accountability reform in Southeast Asia Religion, Politics, and Society in South and Southeast Asia N. N. Vohra, Jyotindra Nath Dixit, 1998 Outcome of Seminar on Religion Politics and Society in South and Southeast Asia held in New Delhi 10-12 Dec 1997 and organized by IIC Asia Project Routledge Handbook of Environment and Society in Asia Paul G. Harris, Graeme Lang, 2014-09-19 Nowhere is the connection between society and the environment more evident and potentially more harmful for the future of the world than in Asia In recent decades rapid development of Asian countries with very large populations has led to an unprecedented increase in environmental problems such as air and water pollution solid and hazardous wastes deforestation depletion of natural resources and extinction of native species This handbook provides a comprehensive survey of the cultural social and policy contexts of environmental change across East Asia The team of international experts critically examine a wide range of environmental problems related to energy climate change air land water fisheries forests and wildlife The editors conclude that with nearly half of the human population of the planet and several rapidly growing economies most notably China Asian societies will determine much of the future of human impacts on the regional and global environments As climate change related threats to society increase the book strongly argues for increased environmental consciousness and action in Asian societies This handbook is a very valuable companion for students scholars policy makers and researchers working on environmental issues in Asia Reflections on Development in Southeast Asia Teck Ghee Lim, 1988 The rapid pace of economic development in Southeast Asia has involved a changing and often volatile relationship between traditional structures and values and new structures associated with state and administrative power In this volume a variety of original perspectives is offered on crucial subjects including region the bureaucracy the state and non governmental organizations

Civil Society and Regional Governance Anders Uhlin, 2016-09-12 Through detailed comparative case studies of civil society engagement with two major regional international organizations in Southeast Asia this book demonstrates the potentials and limitations of civil society actors as democratizing agents in governance beyond the nation state Drawing on previous research on civil society social movements transnational activism and democratization Uhlin develops an analytical framework focusing on a how national and international political opportunities shape and are shaped by civil society advocacy b how civil society activists frequently combine inside and outside strategies when targeting international organizations and c how civil society advocacy can have a liberalizing impact on the targeted international organizations Drawing on rich empirical data including more than 100 qualitative interviews with civil society activists and representatives of the Asian Development Bank ADB and the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN the study demonstrates how civil society actors have contributed to pushing ADB and to a much lesser extent ASEAN in a political liberal direction improving transparency strengthening accountability and introducing mechanisms protecting people from the abuse of power With its innovative analytical framework broad scope covering civil society activism across Southeast Asia and in depth analysis of civil society attempts to influence ADB and ASEAN the book makes important contributions to research on civil society activism in Southeast Asia as well as the more general field of civil society and governance beyond the nation state
