Robert Louis Stevenson and Theories of Reading Glenda Norquay, 2007-06-15 Glenda Norquay presents fresh interpretations of Stevenson's literary essays of major works including The Master of Ballantrae and some of his more neglected fiction such as St Ives and The Wrecker as well as illuminating our understanding of his role within debates over popular fiction romance and reading pleasure She offers an unusual combination of literary history and reception theory and argues that Stevenson both exemplified tensions within the literary market of his time and anticipated later developments in reading theory By combining the study of nineteenth century cultural politics with detailed analysis of his Scottish Calvinism Stevenson is reassessed as both a Victorian and Scottish writer

Robert Louis Stevenson's Pacific Impressions Carla Manfredi, 2018-11-11 This book tackles photography's role during Robert Louis Stevenson's travels throughout the Pacific Island region and is the first study of his family's previously unpublished photographs Cutting across disciplinary boundaries the book integrates photographs with letters non fiction and poetry and includes much unpublished material The original readings of photographs and non fiction highlight Stevenson's engagement with colonial ideology and reality and advance new arguments about Victorian travel settlement and colonialisms in the Pacific Like the Stevensons the book moves from the Marquesas to the atolls of the Gilbert Islands in Micronesia from the Kingdom of Hawai'i's political ambitions to Samoan plantations and the Stevensons settlement at Vailima Central to this study is the notion that Pacific history and Pacific Island cultures matter to the interpretation of Stevenson's work and a rigorous historical and cultural contextualization ensures that local details structure literary and photographic interpretation The book's historical grounding is key to its insightful conclusions regarding travel settlement photography and colonialism
