Report Of The Committee Against Torture Un General Assembly:

International Crimes: Volume I: Genocide Guénaél Mettraux, 2019-06-18 Judge Mettraux's four volume compendium International Crimes Law and Practice will provide the most detailed and authoritative account to date of the law of international crimes. It is a scholarly tour de force providing a unique blend of academic rigour and an insight into the practice of international criminal law. The compendium is unrivalled in its breadth and depth, covering almost a century of legal practice, dozens of jurisdictions, national and international, thousands of decisions and judgments, and hundreds of cases. This first volume discusses in detail the law of genocide, its definition, elements, normative status, and relationship to the other core international crimes. While the book is an invaluable tool for academics and researchers, it is particularly suited to legal practitioners, guiding the reader through the practical and evidential challenges associated with the prosecution of international crimes.

Chinese Yearbook of Human Rights, Volume 5 (2023) Huawen Liu, Wei Zhang, 2023-10-20 The Chinese Yearbook of Human Rights is a forum for academic exchange between China and the international community in the field of human rights. It publishes peer-reviewed articles by scholars and practitioners from both within and outside China on human rights issues from the perspectives of law, philosophy, political science, history, international relations, and other relevant academic disciplines. The Yearbook was originally founded in cooperation with the UN Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights, the Raoul Wallenberg Institute of Human Rights and Humanitarian Law, and the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, but fell silent from 2008 onwards. It now has a new editorial team consisting of internationally based human rights scholars and a team of editors at the Institute for Human Rights of the China University of Political Science and Law and the Center for Human Rights Studies of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. Volume 5, 2023, is the result of that cooperation and focuses on the topical issue of international standards and international monitoring procedures, including historical evolution, current interpretation and application, the monitoring work by both treaty and Charter-based bodies, and directions for future developments.

Ramcharan, Gudmundur Alfredsson, Jonas Grimheden, 2021-10-25 This collection is intended to serve as a thematic textbook on the institutions and procedures devoted to the national implementation of human rights and to the international monitoring of State performance. Albeit not exhaustive, the coverage extends to most of the monitoring instances available at intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations: complaints, fact-finding, and investigative procedures; State reporting obligations; good offices actions; dialogue functions; human rights education; dissemination of human rights information; letter campaigns; and technical co-operation. The target audience of the book is students of international human rights law, but the book can also serve as a guide for both officials and activists involved in the realization of human rights.

means Voices contemplating the legitimacy of such treatment to combat terrorism have been heard in the wake of the atrocities of 11 September 2001 The book finds that the evidence clearly suggests that the absolute prohibition of such treatment remains firm Other chapters deal with problems of poor prison conditions and of certain extraordinary penalties notably corporal and capital punishment A chapter explores ethical codes for members of professions capable of inflicting or preventing the prohibited behaviour police and medical and legal professionals Chapters are also devoted to the extreme practice of enforced disappearance and the contribution of the new convention on this phenomenon as well as to extra legal executions

Accountability of Armed Groups under Human Rights Law Katharine Fortin,Foreword by Andrew Clapham,2017-08-11 Today the majority of the armed conflicts around the world are fought between States and armed groups rather than between States This changed conflict landscape creates an imperative to clarify the obligations of armed groups under international law While it is generally accepted that armed groups are bound by international humanitarian law the question of whether they are also bound by human rights law is controversial This book brings significant new understanding to the question of whether and when armed groups might be bound by human rights law Its conclusions will benefit international law academics legal practitioners and political scientists and anthropologists working on issues related to rebel governance and civil wars This book addresses the debate on this topic by employing a theoretical historical and comparative analysis that spans international humanitarian law international criminal law and international human rights law Embedding these different perspectives in public international law this book brings several key points of clarification to the legal framework Firstly the book draws upon social science literature on armed conflict to present a new viewpoint on the role that human rights law plays vis vis international humanitarian law in non international armed conflicts Secondly the book sheds light on the circumstances in which armed groups acquire obligations under human rights law It brings illumination to these topics by combining historical and comparative research on belligerency insurgency and international humanitarian law with a theoretical analysis of legal personality under international law In the final part of the book the author tests the four most utilised theories of how armed groups are bound by human rights law examining whether armed groups can be bound by virtue of i treaty law ii control of territory iii international criminal law and iv customary international law In the book s conclusions the author presents final remarks that are designed to provide concrete guidance on how the issue of armed groups and human rights law can be dealt with more thoroughly in practice      International Information Peter I.
