Representation Of Meaning In Memory:

The Representation of Meaning in Memory (PLE: Memory) Walter Kintsch, 2014-05-23 Originally published in 1974 this volume presents empirical and theoretical investigations of the role of meaning in psychological processes A theory is proposed for the representation of the meaning of texts employing ordered lists of propositions The author explores the adequacy of this representation with respect to the demands made upon such formulations by logicians and linguists A sufficiently large number of problems are encompassed by the propositional theory to justify its use in psychological research into memory and language comprehension A number of different experiments are reported on a wide variety of topics and these test central portions of this theory and any that purports to deal with how humans represent meaning Among the topics discussed are the role of lexical decomposition in comprehension and memory propositions as the units of recall and the effects of the number of propositions in a text base upon reading rate and recall New problems are explored such as inferential processes during reading differences in levels of memory for text and retrieval speed for textual information On the other hand a study of retrieval from semantic memory focusses on a problem of much current research The final review chapter relates the present work to other current research in the area at the time

Retrieval and Organizational Strategies in Conceptual Memory (PLE: Memory) Janet Kolodner, 2014-05-09 Someday we expect that computers will be able to keep us informed about the news People have imagined being able to ask their home computers questions such as What's going on in the world Originally published in 1984 this book is a fascinating look at the world of memory and computers before the internet became the mainstream phenomenon it is today It looks at the early development of a computer system that could keep us informed in a way that we now take for granted Presenting a theory of remembering based on human information processing it begins to address many of the hard problems implicated in the quest to make computers remember The book had two purposes in presenting this theory of remembering First to be used in implementing intelligent computer systems including fact retrieval systems and intelligent systems in general Any intelligent program needs to use and store and use a great deal of knowledge The strategies and structures in the book were designed to be used for that purpose Second the theory attempts to explain how people s memories work and makes predictions about the organization of human memory

Encoding and Navigating Linguistic Representations in Memory Claudia Felser,Colin Phillips,Matthew Wagers,2017-03-22 Successful speaking and understanding requires mechanisms for reliably encoding structured linguistic representations in memory and for effectively accessing information in those representations later Studying the time course of real time linguistic dependency formation provides a valuable tool for uncovering the cognitive and neural basis of these mechanisms This volume draws together multiple perspectives on encoding and navigating structured linguistic representations to highlight important empirical insights and to identify key priorities for new research in this area

Imagery, Memory and Cognition (PLE: Memory) John C. Yuille,2014-05-09 Originally published in 1983 the 14 chapters in this volume are based upon presentations made to a conference held at the University of Western Ontario in June 1981 The primary purpose of that conference was to mark the 10th anniversary of the publication of Allan Paivio's text Imagery and Verbal Processes and to acknowledge the continuing contribution that Paivio was making to imagery research and theory at the time His landmark book had been the major publication in the field of imagery and during the decade prior to this volume Paivio's theorizing and research dominated the investigation of imaginal processes It was felt the most appropriate way to honor his achievements and activities was to hold a conference on current developments in imagery research and theory at the time Proceedings of the Nineteenth Annual Conference of the Cognitive Science Society Michael G. Shafto, Pat Langley, 1997 This volume features the complete text of the material presented at the Nineteenth Annual Conference of the Cognitive Science Society Papers have been loosely grouped by topic and an author index is provided in the back As in previous years the symposium included an interesting mixture of papers on many topics from researchers with diverse backgrounds and different goals presenting a multifaceted view of cognitive science In hopes of facilitating searches of this work an electronic index on the Internet's World Wide Web is provided Titles authors and summaries of all the papers published here have been placed in an online database which may be freely searched by anyone You can reach the web site at www.csli.stanford.edu/cogsci97 Remembering Mass

Tangled Memories Marita Sturken, 1997-02-28 Analyzing the ways U S culture has been formed and transformed in the 80s and 90s by its response to the Vietnam War and the AIDS epidemic Marita Sturken argues that each has disrupted our conventional notions of community nation consensus and American culture She examines the relationship of camera images to the production of cultural memory the mixing of fantasy and reenactment in memory the role of trauma and survivors in creating cultural comfort and how discourses of healing can smooth over the tensions of political events Sturken's discussion encompasses a brilliant comparison of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial and the AIDS Quilt her profound reading of the Memorial as a national wailing wall one whose emphasis on the veterans and war dead has allowed the discourse of heroes sacrifice and honor to resurface at the same time that it is an implicit condemnation of war is particularly compelling The book also includes discussions of the Kennedy assassination the Persian Gulf War the Challenger explosion and the Rodney King beating While debunking the image of the United States as a culture of amnesia Sturken also shows how remembering itself is a form of forgetting and how exclusion is a vital part of memory formation

Peasants under Siege Gail Kligman, Katherine Verdery, 2011-07-25 In 1949 Romania's fledgling communist regime unleashed a radical and brutal campaign to collectivize agriculture in this largely agrarian country following the Soviet model Peasants under Siege provides the first comprehensive look at the far reaching social engineering process that ensued Gail Kligman and Katherine Verdery examine how collectivization assaulted the very foundations of rural life transforming village communities that were organized around kinship and status hierarchies into segments of large bureaucratic organizations forged by the language of class warfare yet saturated with vindictive personal struggles Collectivization not only overturned property relations the authors argue but was crucial in creating the Party state that emerged its mechanisms of rule and the new persons that were its subjects The book explores how ill prepared cadres themselves unconvinced of collectivization's promises implemented technologies and pedagogies imported from the Soviet Union through actions that contributed to the excessive use of force which Party leaders were often unable to control In addition the authors show how local responses to the Party's initiatives compelled the regime to modify its plans and negotiate outcomes Drawing on archival documents oral histories and ethnographic data Peasants under Siege sheds new light on collectivization in the Soviet era and on the complex tensions underlying and constraining political authority
