Rerighting History:

(Re)writing History in Byzantium Panagiotis Manafis, 2020-05-12 Scholars have recently begun to study collections of Byzantine historical excerpts as autonomous pieces of literature. This book focuses on a series of minor collections that have received little or no scholarly attention including the Epitome of the Seventh Century, the Excerpta Anonymi tenth century, the Excerpta Salmasiana eighth to eleventh centuries and the Excerpta Planudea thirteenth century. Three aspects of these texts are analysed in detail: their method of redaction, their literary structure and their cultural and political function. Combining codicological, literary and political analyses, this study contributes to a better understanding of the intertwining of knowledge and power and suggests that these collections of historical excerpts should be seen as a Byzantine way of rewriting history. Writing/Righting History: Twenty-Five Years of Recovering the US Hispanic Literary Heritage Antonia Castañeda, Clara Lomas, 2019-04-30 The tenth volume in the Recovering the US Hispanic Literary Heritage Series, this collection of essays reflects on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the project's efforts to locate, identify, preserve and disseminate the literary contributions of US Latinos from the Spanish Colonial Period to contemporary times. Essays by scholars recalling the beginnings of the project cover a wide range of topics: origins, identity, archival research, institutional politics and pedagogy. From recollections about funding to personal reminiscences, the recovery of Jewish Hispanic heritage and the intellectual project of reframing American history and literature, these articles provide a fascinating look at twenty-five years of recovering the written legacy of the Hispanic population in what has become the United States. An additional nineteen scholarly essays speak to specific efforts to recover an extremely diverse Latino literary heritage. Historians and literary critics who research Spanish, English and Sephardic texts examine a broad array of subjects including colonialism, historical populations, exile and immigration. This far-reaching book is required reading for those studying US Latino history and literature.

Scholarship and Commitment Omoko, Peter E., 2018-06-14 Professor Darah turned seventy on Wednesday November 22 2017 and to celebrate his very productive career his colleagues and many of those he has mentored thought it appropriate to mark his official exit from the university in a dignified way by commissioning for publication in the now acceptable festschrift tradition the highly compelling and outstanding collection of essays titled Scholarship and Commitment Essays in Honour of G G Darah. The book is a ground breaking collection of essays some are couched as tributes to the ebullient celebrant there are others on more serious discourses in the areas of literary theories and criticism language and linguistics popular literature and politics the African woman identity and contemporary realities oral literature the news media and cultural studies. The essays on their own attest to the vivacity and liveliness as well as the encouraging state of health of publishing in the Nigerian academia which in this collection alone parades forty two essays in different fields or discourses.

Gender and Crisis in Global Politics Laura Sjoberg, 2018-02-02. The global political arena is again in a time of crisis. Different sources pay attention to different crises: the Global Financial Crisis, the Debt Crisis, the Crisis of ISIL, Daesh in Iraq and Syria, the Crisis of Israel and Palestine and the Iran Nuclear Crisis have gotten significant attention in media coverage of global politics. But those are not the only crises that scholars and practitioners discuss. Environmentalists warn of ecological crisis, health scholars warn of disease crises, cyber security experts suggest a coming information crisis and migration experts warn of population crises. Feminist work on global politics has addressed many of these crises, historical and contemporary, in crisis language and without it as well as a number of the non crises that looking for women and gender in the international arena draws into focus. That work however had generally not explicitly theorized the conceptualization of crisis, its gendered dimensions and or gender based crises as such. Across this book, feminist conversations about crisis in global politics suggests that a single feminist approach to definition of or politics of crisis is impossible to find. That same variety of work though makes a strong case that paying attention to crises in the world and to the manufacture of crisis rhetoric alongside events in global politics is not only generally important but an important place for feminist scholarship, feminist political activism and direct attention. This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Feminist Journal of Politics.

The Essential Guide to Writing History Essays Katherine Pickering Antonova, 2020. The Essential Guide to Writing History Essays is a step by step guide to the typical assignments of any undergraduate or master's level history program in North America. Effective writing is a process of discovery achieved through the continual act of making choices: what to include or exclude, how to order elements and which style to choose, each according to the author's goals and the intended audience. The book integrates reading and specialized vocabulary with writing and revision and addresses the evolving nature of digital media while teaching the terms and logic of traditional sources and the reasons for citation as well as the styles. This approach to writing not only helps students produce an effective final product and build from writing simple short essays to completing a full research thesis, it also teaches students why and how an essay is effective, empowering them to approach new writing challenges with the freedom to find their own voice.

Knowing and Writing School History Luciana C. de Oliveira, 2011-03-01. Because school history often relies on reading and writing and has its own discipline specific challenges it is important to understand the language demands of this content area the typical writing requirements and the language expectations of historical discourse History uses language in specialized ways so it can be challenging for students to construct responses to historical events It is only through a focus on these specialized ways of presenting and constructing historical content that students will see how language is used to construe particular contexts This book provides the results of a qualitative study that investigated the language resources that 8th and 11th grade students drew on to write an exposition and considered the role of writing in school history The study combined a functional linguistic analysis of student writing with educational considerations in the underresearched content area of history Data set consisted of writing done by students who were English language learners and other culturally and linguistically diverse students from two school districts in California The book is an investigation of expository school history writing and teachers expectations for this type of writing School history writing refers to the kind of historical writing expected of students at the pre college levels
