All Rights Reserved. Contemporary British Ceramics and the Influence of Sculpture Laura Gray, 2018-01-02 This book investigates how British contemporary artists who work with clay have managed in the space of a single generation to take ceramics from niche interest/craft to the pristine territories of the contemporary art gallery. Ceramics is now encountering and colliding with sculpture both formally and intellectually. Laura Gray examines what this means for the old hierarchies between art and craft, the identity of the potter, and the character of a discipline tied to a

Ceramics and the Museum interrogates the relationship between art oriented ceramic practice and museum practice in Britain since 1970 Laura Breen examines the identity of ceramics as an art form drawing on examples of work by artist makers such as Edmund de Waal and Grayson Perry addresses the impact of policy making on ceramic practice traces the shift from object to project in ceramic practice and in the evolution of ceramic sculpture explores how museums facilitated multisensory engagement with ceramic material and process and analyses the exhibition as a text in itself Proposing the notion that gestures of showing such as exhibitions and installation art can be read as statements she examines what they tell us about the identity of ceramics at particular moments in time Highlighting the ways in which these gestures have constructed ceramics as a category of artistic practice Breen argues that they reveal gaps between narrative and practice which in turn can be used to deconstruct the art Art Boom: Contemporary Art in El Paso Becky Hendrick,2012-02-22

centuries old but exclusionary potting traditions opened to new practitioners and kinds of practices Listening to Clay includes conversations with artists born into pottery making families as well as with some of the first women admitted to the ceramics department of Tokyo University of the Arts telling a larger story about ingenuity and trailblazing that has shaped contemporary art in Japan and around the world Each artist is represented by an entry including a brief introduction a portrait selected examples of their work and an intimate interview conducted by the authors over several in person visits from 2004 to 2019 At the core of each story is the artist's personal relationship to clay often described as a collaboration with the material rather than an imposing of intention The oldest artist interviewed Hayashi Yasuo enlisted in the army during WWII at age fifteen and trained as a kamikaze pilot He was born into a family that had fired ceramics in cooperative kilns for generations but he rejected traditional modes and went on to be the first artist in Japan to make truly abstract ceramic sculpture In the late 1960s another artist Mishima Kimiyo developed a technique of silkscreening on clay and began making ceramic newspapers to comment on the proliferation of the media She became fascinated with trash recreating it out of clay and worked in relative obscurity for decades until she had a major exhibition in Tokyo in 2015 Featuring a preface by curator writer and historian Glenn Adamson and a foreword by Monika Bincsik the Associate Curator for Japanese Decorative Arts at The Metropolitan Museum of Art Listening to Clay has been a project more than fifteen years in the making for authors Alice and Halsey North respected and knowledgeable collectors and patrons of contemporary Japanese ceramics and Louise Allison Cort Curator Emerita of Ceramics National Museum of Asian Art Smithsonian Institution The book also includes conversations with five important dealers of contemporary Japanese ceramics who have played and are playing a critical role in introducing the work of these artists to the world several detailed appendices and a glossary of terms relevant people and relationships Listening to Clay is a long overdue and insightful book that for the first time spotlights some of Japan's most celebrated contemporary ceramic artists through personal idiosyncratic accounts of their day to day lives giving special access to their creative process and artistic development
