

Major League

She's beautiful, smart, goal-oriented, and she just inherited the Cleveland Indians. Unfortunately, she wants to move the franchise to Miami, and a tough season is her only ticket to Florida. So she signs the wildest gang of screwballs that ever spit tobacco.

They're handsome, but they're hapless! Her catcher (Tom Berenger) is a washed-up warhorse who struck out in the bigs. Her pitcher (Charlie Sheen) is a punked-out crap who struck out with the law. And her first baseman (Corbin Bernsen) is more concerned about finding endorsements than grounds.

Throw in a handful of other misfits and you've got yourself a hilarious lineup that's destined for disaster. Or is it?

With a special focus on historical and political developments, this first volume draws a map of documentary festivals operating today and then looks at their origins and evolution. This volume is organized in three sections: the first addresses methodological problems film historians and social scientists face when researching documentary film festivals; the second looks at the historical development of this circuit within the wider frame of history of world and national cinemas; and the third reflects on how politics find their way through festival programs and actions. Curatorial, organizational, industrial and political changes occurred in the festival realm addressed in this book help better understand how these affected documentary production, distribution, curation, exhibition and reception up to this day.
