Making Films In Contemporary Hollywood:

The New Film History J. Chapman, M. Glancy, S. Harper, 2007-04-25 The first major overview of the field of film history in twenty years this book offers a wide ranging account of the methods sources and approaches used by modern film historians The key areas of research are analysed alongside detailed case studies centred on well known American Australian British and European films

Hollywood's Artists Virginia Wright Wexman, 2020-07-21 Today the director is considered the leading artistic force behind a film The production of a Hollywood movie requires the labor of many people from screenwriters and editors to cinematographers and boom operators but the director as author of the film overshadows them all How did this concept of the director become so deeply ingrained in our understanding of cinema In Hollywood's Artists Virginia Wright Wexman offers a groundbreaking history of how movie directors became cinematic auteurs that reveals and pinpoints the influence of the Directors Guild of America DGA Guided by Frank Capra's mantra one man one film the Guild has portrayed its director members as the creators responsible for turning Hollywood entertainment into cinematic art Wexman details how the DGA differentiated itself from other industry unions focusing on issues of status and creative control as opposed to bread and butter concerns like wages and working conditions She also traces the Guild's struggle for creative and legal power exploring subjects from the language of on screen credits to the House Un American Activities Committee's investigations of the movie industry Wexman emphasizes the gendered nature of images of the great director demonstrating how the DGA promoted the idea of the director as a masculine hero Drawing on a broad array of archival sources interviews and theoretical and sociological insight Hollywood's Artists sheds new light on the ways in which the Directors Guild of America has shaped the role and image of directors both within the Hollywood system and in the culture at large

Hollywood's Africa after 1994 MaryEllen Higgins, 2012-11-01 Hollywood's Africa after 1994 investigates Hollywood's colonial film legacy in the postapartheid era and contemplates what has changed in the West's representations of Africa How do we read twenty first century projections of human rights issues child soldiers genocide the exploitation of the poor by multinational corporations dictatorial rule truth and reconciliation within the contexts of celebrity humanitarianism new military humanitarianism and Western support for regime change in Africa and beyond A number of films after 1994 such as Black Hawk Down Hotel Rwanda Blood Diamond The Last King of Scotland The Constant Gardener Shake Hands with the Devil Tears of the Sun and District 9 construct explicit and implicit arguments about the effects of Western intervention in Africa Do the emphases on human rights in the films offer a poignant expression of our shared humanity Do they echo the colonial tropes of former civilizing missions Or do human rights violations operate as yet another mine of sensational images for Hollywood's spectacular storytelling The volume provides analyses by academics and activists in the fields of African studies English film and media studies international relations and sociology across continents This thoughtful and highly engaging book is a valuable resource for those who seek new and varied approaches to films about Africa Contributors Harry

American Film in the Digital Age Robert C. Sickels,2010-12-08 This eclectic yet comprehensive analytical overview of the cataclysmic changes in the American film industry since 1990 shows how they have collectively resulted in a new era The Digital Age The American film industry has entered a new era American Film in the Digital Age traces the industrial changes since 1990 that have brought us to this point namely the rise of media conglomerates the proliferation of pornography through peripheral avenues of mainstream media the role of star actors and directors in distributing and publicizing their own pet projects the development of digital technology and the death of truly independent films Author Robert Sickels draws straight lines from the movies to music DVDs video games fast food digital on demand and more to demonstrate how all forms of media are merging into one He explores the irony that the success of independent films essentially killed independent cinema showing how it has become almost impossible to get a film released without the imprimatur of one of the big six media companies Fox Viacom TimeWarner Disney General Electric or CBS In the end using recent popular films as examples he explains not only how we got where we are but where we're likely headed as well Contemporary Hollywood Cinema Stephen Neale,Murray Smith,1998 A comprehensive overview of the film industry in Hollywood today Contemporary Hollywood Cinema brings together leading international cinema scholars to explore the technology institutions film makers and movies of contemporary American film making EBOOK: Cinema Entertainment: Essays

On Audiences, Films And Film Makers Gianluca Sergi, Alan Lovell, 2009-05-16 Entertainment is a defining feature of contemporary culture yet it is often accused of being superficial and even harmful In this thought provoking book the authors challenge this negative view and argue for a reconsideration of the value of entertainment and the effect it has on the world in which we live Taking Hollywood cinema as its central focus this exciting book explores the range of debates that the phenomenon of cinema entertainment has aroused It is packed with examples from modern popular films throughout including a whole chapter on the hugely successful film The Dark Knight The book features interviews with Randy Thom and Walter Murch filmmakers involved in creating some of the most successful films of recent years There is an interesting discussion of the work and reputation of renowned filmmakers Steven Spielberg and Alfred Hitchcock names which have become synonymous with cinema entertainment The authors consider what makes a film successful by looking at box office figures as well as detailed description and critique of current debates surrounding what it means to entertain and be entertained Cinema Entertainment is important reading for film and media students as well as anyone interested in contemporary mass culture fifties to the restructuring of the working class that was a feature of films of the 1980s in both the United States and Great Britain

Minding Movies David Bordwell, Kristin Thompson, 2011-03-15 David Bordwell and Kristin Thompson are two of America's preeminent film scholars. You would be hard pressed to find a serious student of the cinema who hasn't spent at least a few hours huddled with their seminal introduction to the field Film Art now in its ninth edition or a cable television junkie unaware that the Independent Film Channel sagely christened them the Critics of the Naughts. Since launching their blog Observations on Film Art in 2006 the two have added web virtuosos to their growing list of accolades, pitching unconventional long form pieces engaged with film artistry that have helped to redefine cinematic storytelling for a new age and audience. Minding Movies presents a selection from over three hundred essays on genre movies, art films, animation and the business of Hollywood that have graced Bordwell and Thompson's blog. Informal pieces conversational in tone but grounded in three decades of authoritative research, the essays gathered here range from in-depth analyses of individual films such as Slumdog Millionaire and Inglourious Basterds to adjustments of Hollywood media claims and forays into cinematic humor. For Bordwell and Thompson the most fruitful place to begin is how movies are made, how they work, and how they work on us. Written for film lovers, these essays on topics ranging from Borat to blockbusters and back again will delight current fans and gain new enthusiasts. Serious but not solemn, vibrantly informative without condescension and above all illuminating, reading Minding Movies offers ideas sure to set film lovers thinking and keep them returning to the silver screen.

The Cinema of Michael Mann Jonathan Rayner, 2013-09-22 Michael Mann is one of the most important American filmmakers of the past forty years. His films exhibit the existential concerns of art cinema articulated through a conspicuous and recognizable visual style and yet integrated within classical Hollywood narrative and genre frameworks. Since his beginnings as a screenwriter in the 1970s, Mann has become a key figure within contemporary American popular culture as writer, director, and producer for film and television. This volume offers a detailed study of Mann's feature films from The Jericho Mile (1979) to Public Enemies (2009), with consideration also being given to parallels in the production style and characterization in his television work. It explores Mann's relationship with classical genres, his thematic concentration on issues of morality and masculinity, his film adaptations from literature, and the development and significance of his trademark visual style within modern American cinema.

Doing Film Studies Sarah Casey Benyahia, Claire Mortimer, 2013 This title examines what it really means to study film, encouraging the reader to question the dominant theories as well as understanding the key approaches to cinema.
