Dickinson, Osbert John Radclyffe Howarth, 1991 The Making Of Geography R E Dickinson, O J R Howarth, 2023-07-18 This book traces the development of the field of geography from ancient times to the modern era exploring the contributions of key figures such as Eratosthenes Ptolemy and Alexander von Humboldt Through the authors engaging prose and use of illustrations and maps readers can gain an appreciation for the evolution of this critical area of study This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Envisioning Landscapes, Making Worlds Stephen Daniels, Dydia DeLyser, J. Nicholas Entrikin, Doug Richardson, 2012-03-15 There has been a remarkable resurgence in the past decade of intellectual interplay between geography and the humanities in both academic and public circles Terminology and concepts such as space place landscape mapping and geography are becoming pervasive as conceptual frameworks and core metaphors in recent publications by humanities scholars and well known writers Envisioning Landscapes Making Worlds examines the depth and complexity of human meaning invested in maps attached to landscapes and embedded in the spaces and places of modern life The clashing and blending of cultures caused by globalization and the new technologies that profoundly alter human environmental experience suggest new geographical narratives and representations that are explored here by a multidisciplinary group of authors With contributions from leading scholars this text is essential reading for scholars and students seeking to understand the new synergies and interconnectedness of geography and the humanities Research and Debate in Primary Geography Simon Catling, 2017-10-02 This book brings together recent papers which make important contributions to understanding and developing primary geography It considers primary teachers and trainee teachers knowledge of geography how the primary curriculum uses geography teachers planning of geography teaching the way in which aspects of geography are taught what high quality geography might look like and children s geographical understanding and voices Though geography curricula change quite often in countries around the world the core matters noted above remain of constant and vital importance The papers in this book either concern research with primary teachers and children or consider key concerns in primary geography providing important perspectives for thinking about future developments in geography teaching and curriculum initiatives in primary schools This is a stimulating and enticing collection written by leading exponents of and experts in primary geography education This book was originally published as a special issue of Education 3 13 Making Geography Matter Noel Castree, Trevor Barnes, Jennifer Salmond, 2025-02-28

What is the purpose of Geography? What do geographers study and why? How do they seek to shape the world they interrogate? This book addresses these questions by examining the lives and works of individual geographers both past and present. Like all disciplines, Geography is no more nor less than the collective endeavours of researchers and teachers operating in specific contexts. The contexts both shape and are shaped by these individuals. This book's biographical and autobiographical chapters transport readers to the times and places where geographers have sought to make Geography matter. The result is a more vivid, grounded understanding of the discipline than the many high-level surveys of geographic thought paradigms currently written for university students. This book's accessible essays each conclude with a study task. Making Geography Matter is aimed at university students and their teachers who wish to understand the goals, history, and evolving practice of Geography. It provides an alternative perspective, both concrete and engaging, to the many student-focused texts that map out numerous isms and ologies.

By Northern Lights Anne Buttimer, Tom Mels, 2017-05-15

Swedish society has recurrently shown a keen geographical sense, meticulously documenting all matters relating to environments, resources, and human activities through space and time from the sixteenth century on. Throughout the twentieth century, in particular, Sweden won international acclaim for its groundbreaking geographic work on spatial planning, climate change, time-space modelling, and landscape history, by the likes of Ahlmann, De Geer, Enequist, Hagerstrand, Kant, Olsson, and William Olsson. More recently, with the rising tide of post-modernity and multiple processes of globalization, there has been a good deal of debate about novel lines of enquiry into nature and culture, issues of gender, identity, and diversity, justice, and environmental concern. All of these have sparked a renewed interest in the history and philosophy of the field. Following on from Anne Buttimer's renowned Geography and the Human Spirit, this book not only offers the first book-length contextual account of the development of geographic thought in Sweden but also provides a narrative thread which traces continuity and change in both cognitive styles and professional practices of geography in general.

Making Political Geography John Agnew, Luca Muscarà, 2012-02-16

Dating from its inception in the late nineteenth century, political geography as a field has been heavily influenced by global events of the time. Thus, rather than trying to impose a single fashionable theory, leading geographers John Agnew and Luca Muscarà consider the underlying role of changing geopolitical context as their framework for understanding the evolution of the discipline. The authors trace the development of key thinkers and theories during three distinct periods: 1875-1945, the Cold War, and the post-Cold War, emphasizing the ongoing struggle between theoretical monism and pluralism, or one path to knowledge versus many. The world has undergone dramatic shifts since the book's first publication in 2002, and this thoroughly revised and updated second edition focuses especially on reinterpretations of the post-Cold War period. Agnew and Muscarà explore the renewed questioning of international borders, the emergence of the Middle East, and displacement of Europe as the center of global geopolitics, the rise of China, and other new powers, the reappearance of environmental issues and the development of critical geopolitics With its deeply knowledgeable and balanced history and overview of the field this concise work will be a valuable and flexible text for all courses in political geography

Postmodern Geographies Edward W. Soja, 1989 Written by one of America's foremost geographers Postmodern Geographies contests the tendency still dominant in most social science to reduce human geography to a reflective mirror or as Marx called it an unnecessary complication Beginning with a powerful critique of historicism and its constraining effects on the geographical imagination Edward Soja builds on the work of Foucault Berger Giddens Berman Jameson and above all Henri Lefebvre to argue for a historical and geographical materialism a radical rethinking of the dialectics of space time and social being Soja charts the respatialization of social theory from the still unfolding encounter between Western Marxism and modern geography through the current debates on the emergence of a postfordist regime of flexible accumulation The postmodern geography of Los Angeles exposed in a provocative pair of essays serves as a model in his account of the contemporary struggle for control over the social production of space
