Metadecisions Rehabilitating Epistemology:

Metadecisions John P. van Gigch, 2012-12-06 Metadecisions Rehabilitating Epistemology constitutes an epistemological inquiry about the foundations of knowledge of a scientific discipline. This text warns contemporary scientific disciplines that neglecting epistemological issues threatens the viability of their pronouncements and designs. It shows that the processes by which complex artefacts are created require a pluralistic approach to artefact design. It argues that viable solutions to fundamental problems in each discipline require cooperation, creativity, and respect for contributions from all walks of life. All levels of logic and all standards of rigor, be they in the natural sciences, the social sciences, engineering, sciences, management, the law, or political sciences. Several true cases obtained from different walks of life are used to illustrate logic levels in problems and how the application of the process of modeling, metamodeling helps to conceptualize problem dysfunctions and to convert decisions into metadecisions. Ten cases spanning subjects like Doctor Assisted Suicides, DASs, Advising Women on The Risks of Mammograms, a Deregulation Crusade, The Crash of TWA Flight 800, The Control of The World Wide Web, The Creation of the US Department of Homeland Security, among others, are used to illustrate the application of the metasystem framework to increase knowledge and meaning of fundamental problems. The design of any human activity requires the intervention of several inquiring systems where the manager, the engineer, the scientist, the lawyer, the epistemologist, the ethicist, and even the artist contribute to shape how problems in the real world are formulated, how decisions, metadecisions, to solve problems are taken, and finally how actions are implemented.

Wisdom, Knowledge, and Management: John P. van Gigch, 2007-04-03 In Wisdom, Knowledge, and Management: A Critique and Analysis of Churchman's Systems Approach, the 2nd volume of the series entitled Churchman's Legacy and Related Works, the editors draw contributions from leading systems thinkers inspired by the works of C. West Churchman. The Systems Approach and Its Enemies (C. West Churchman, 1979) is one of Churchman's most significant works. In this particular writing, he displayed two main tendencies: that he was a Skeptic and that he showed Socratic Wisdom. In Wisdom, Knowledge, and Management, the editors seek to follow up on these two themes and reveal how modern authors interpret Churchman's ideas, apply them to their own line of thinking, and develop their own brand of Systemics. Several authors re-interpret Churchman's thinking, and several others apply this holistic discourse to practical applications. It is very significant that the authors are a very cosmopolitan group hailing from Sweden, Australia, Spain, South Korea, Argentina, and USA. Interestingly, the contribution from the South Korean author Yu Jae E applies conceptual tools from the French contemporary writer Deleuze. Additionally, Darek M. Eriksson's chapter applies the epistemology of Jean Louis Le Moigne. Finally, we would like to note that one theme of this volume is to relate modern authors and, in particular, Churchman to ideas spawned two thousand years ago among the Ancient Greeks. This effort should show the reach of Churchman's intellectual power and demonstrates cross-fertilization across borders and continents. It could not have happened without the Internet.

Critical Systemic Praxis for Social and Environmental Justice Janet McIntyre-Mills, 2012-12-06 The book develops a practical approach to public policy issues that have continued to be intractable because of a lack of emphasis on transcultural understanding Sustained examples help to increase the readability and the accessibility of theory and methodology The key themes address the issue that Management needs to be more systemic Critical Systemic Praxis is the process whereby we find ways to work across discipline areas and sectoral areas in order to address complex social political economic and environmental problems The way we define and address problems depends on an ability to work with rather than within knowledge areas By introducing the notion of governance we can extend traditional management from an organisational context to an inter organisational context and locate governance as the goal for sustainable social and environmental justice The core aspects of praxis are Respectful listening and dialogue to set up appropriate contexts for participatory design Participatory designs based on participatory action research to map tacit and explicit knowledge of participants professional and ordinary citizens Strategic decision making across discipline areas cultural contexts and knowledge areas Action learning to transfer the policy and practice learnings Mainstreaming the approach to governance in the social political economic and environmental sectors The book develops a systemic approach to public policy issues Examples are used throughout to exemplify theory The integrated approach to policy and practice is ideally suited to addressing the socio economic and environmental issues

Processes and Boundaries of the Mind Yair Neuman, 2013-03-11 How is it that the world is conceived as exclusively populated by objects e.g. books cars numbers and people while cognition is first and foremost a dynamic process Inquiring into the reified universe Dr Neuman explores questions of mind reality knowledge and signification in a provocative stimulating and humorous way Drawing on various domains such as systems research semiotics philosophy and complexity sciences Dr Neuman is touching basic questions of our Being in the World as cognate creatures and presents a novel theory of the mind as a boundary phenomenon Following the footsteps of Gregory Bateson and Valentine Volosinov the book propagates a process oriented theory of the mind in a way that has never been presented before In this context new and creative solutions are presented for a variety of old philosophical problems such as What is the Mind Why do we use different signs for the same object across different cultures and how is it possible to think on our thinking without getting into problems such as an infinite regression

Systemic Ethics and Non-Anthropocentric Stewardship Janet McIntyre-Mills, 2014-10-01 This book makes a case for rights and responsibilities to be expressed through a cosmopolitan praxis based on developing strong cosmopolitan approaches This developed approach respects a form of cultural or national identity that is not at the expense of others the environment or future generations This new stoicism is based on a sense of responsibility for others The book also explores systemic ethical praxis in response to the vexed challenge of how to bridge the false dualism of pitting the environment versus profit Systemic Ethics and Non Anthropocentric Stewardship Implications for Transdisciplinarity and Cosmopolitan Politics is organized into seven chapters The book begins by providing readers with an understanding of the way in which cosmopolitanism like all social concepts is shaped by diverse definitions and applied differently by theorists and those that engage in transformative praxis It also develops an argument based on considering the empirical consequences of social economic and environmental decisions on the quality of life of current and future generations The next chapter critiques anthropocentrism and explores how policy makers develop agreements on what constitutes and supports the wellbeing of the planet rather than the GDP The book then explores the options for social democracy and ways to enhance an ethical approach to post national governance and argues for participatory democracy and governance to respond to diversity within and across national boundaries The following chapters reflect upon the author's own participatory action research process and examines the transformations that can arise through critical systemic thinking and practice Next the book makes the case for systemic ethical governance that is able to manage consumption before concluding with a final look at the book's approach based on critical heuristics governance process and to enhance a sense of shared ecological citizenship and responsibility for biodiversity The fundamental approach is collaborative research Planetary Passport Representation Accountability and Re Generation is comprised of six chapters Chapter 1 begins by making a case for a paradigm shift away from business as usual and the pursuit of profit at the expense of the social and environmental fabric of life The aim is to explore alternatives and to discuss some ways of achieving wellbeing whilst the focus is on human rights discrimination and outlining the notion of a planetary passport Chapter 2 makes a specific link between people and the planet as a basis for understanding the nature of hybridity and interconnectedness and the implications for ethics Chapter 3 focuses on building this planetary passport for social and environmental justice in order to enable people with complex needs to consider the consequences of either continuing to live the same way as before or making changes to the way that they live Meanwhile Chapter 4 does the same as the previous chapter but explores the political context of consumption and short term profit Chapter 5 examines the challenges and opportunities that come from explorations within a cross cultural learning community This includes a look at co creation and co determination Finally Chapter 6 ends with a look to the future and a potential new framework for people and the planet through a planetary passport
