Metal Working In Borneo Essays On Iron And Silver Working In Sarawak:

Metal-working in Borneo Jan Wisseman Christie, Victor T. King, 1988 An Economic History of Malaysia, c.1800-1990 John Drabble, 2000-05-15 An Economic History of Malaysia c 1800 1990 provides the first general history of the Malaysian economy over the past two centuries including a survey of the pre colonial era A unique feature is that it integrates the historical experiences of Peninsular Malaysia Sabah and Sarawak as a case study in the onset of modern economic growth Particular attention is paid to explaining Malaysia's signal success in achieving a relatively smooth shift away from the primary commodity export economy of the colonial period to near NIC status by 1990 Borneo and Sulawesi Ooi Keat Gin, 2019-11-28 This book presents a great deal of new research findings on the history of Borneo the history of Sulawesi and the interrelationship between the two islands Some specific chapters focus on empires and colonizers including the activities of James Brooke in Sulawesi of Chinese mining communities in Borneo and of the quisling issue in immediate post war Sarawak Other chapters consider indigenous peoples and how different regimes have handled them The book is published in honour of Victor T King a leading scholar in the field of Southeast Asian studies and a final chapter discusses his contribution to scholarship in particular his views on how area studies should be approached and the implications of this for future research Early Modern Southeast Asia, 1350-1800 Ooi Keat Gin, Hoang Anh Tuan, 2015-10-08 This book presents extensive new research findings on and new thinking about Southeast Asia in this interesting richly diverse but much understudied period It examines the wide and well developed trading networks explores the different kinds of regimes and the nature of power and security considers urban growth international relations and the beginnings of European involvement with the region and discusses religious factors in particular the spread and impact of Christianity One key theme of the book is the consideration of how well developed Southeast Asia was before the onset of European involvement and how during the peak of the commercial boom in the 1500s and 1600s many polities in Southeast Asia were not far behind Europe in terms of socio economic progress and attainments Histories of the Borneo Environment Reed L. Wadley, 2022-07-04 In light of the tremendous changes that have come to the island of Borneo in recent decades this volume takes a detailed historical look at the Borneo environment from native colonial and national perspectives It examines change and continuity in the economic political and social dimensions of human environment interactions Reflecting the increasingly multidisciplinary nature of environmental history the book brings together an international group of historians anthropologists geographers and social foresters all looking through a historical lens at the environment in the Malaysian states of Sabah and Sarawak and the Indonesian province of Kalimantan and Brunei Drawing on extensive archival research and fieldwork these ten original contributions encompass eleven centuries of history on Borneo examining interrelated topics that include long distance trade conservation land tenure resource access property rights perceptions of the environment migration and development policy and practice The chapters in this volume are extensively revised versions of selected papers presented at an international seminar on Environmental change in native and colonial histories of Borneo Lessons from the past prospects for the future held in Leiden under the auspices of the International Institute for Asian Studies Borneo Studies in History, Society and Culture Victor T. King, Zawawi Ibrahim, Noor Hasharina Hassan, 2016-08-12 This edited book is the first major review of what has been achieved in Borneo Studies to date Chapters in this book situate research on Borneo within the general disciplinary fields of the social sciences with the weight of attention devoted to anthropological research and related fields such as development studies gender studies environmental studies social policy studies and cultural studies Some of the chapters in this book are extended versions of presentations at the Borneo Research Council's international conference hosted by Universiti Brunei Darussalam in June 2012 and a Borneo Studies workshop organised in Brunei in 2012 The volume examines some of the major debates and controversies in Borneo Studies including those which have served to connect post war research on Borneo to wider scholarship It also assesses some of the more recent contributions and interests of locally based researchers in universities and other institutions in Borneo itself The major strength of the book is the inclusion of a substantial amount of research undertaken by scholars working and teaching within the Southeast Asian region In particular there is an examination of research materials published in the vernacular notably the outpouring of work published in Indonesian by the Institut Dayakologi in Pontianak In doing so the book also addresses the urgent matters which have not received the attention they deserve specifically subjects themes and issues that have already been covered but require further contemplation elaboration and research and the scope for disciplinary and multidisciplinary collaboration in Borneo Studies The book is a valuable resource and reference work for students and researchers interested in social science scholarship on Borneo and for those with wider interests in Indonesia and Malaysia and in the Southeast Asian region

Language Contact and Change in the Austronesian World Tom Dutton, Darrell T. Tryon, 2010-12-14 TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing Raiding, Trading, and Feasting Laura L. Junker, 1999-09-01 As early as the first millennium A D the Philippine archipelago formed the easternmost edge of a vast network of Chinese Southeast Asian Indian and Arab traders Items procured through maritime trade became key symbols of social prestige and political power for the Philippine chiefly elite Raiding Trading and Feasting presents the first comprehensive analysis of how participation in this trade related to broader changes in the political economy of these Philippine island societies. By combining archaeological evidence with historical sources, Laura Junker is able to offer a more nuanced examination of the nature and evolution of Philippine maritime trading chiefdoms. Most importantly, she demonstrates that it is the dynamic interplay between investment in the maritime luxury goods trade and other evolving aspects of local political economies, rather than foreign contacts, that led to the cyclical coalescence of larger and more complex chiefdoms at various times in Philippine history. A broad spectrum of historical and ethnographic sources, ranging from tenth-century Chinese tributary trade records to turn-of-the-century accounts of chiefly feasts of merit, highlights both the diversity and commonality in evolving chiefly economic strategies within the larger political landscape of the archipelago. The political ascendance of individual polities, the emergence of more complex forms of social ranking, and long-term changes in chiefly economies are materially documented through a synthesis of archaeological research at sites dating from the Metal Age (late first millennium B.C.) to the colonial period. The author draws on her archaeological fieldwork in the Tanjay River basin to investigate the long-term dynamics of chiefly political economy in a single region. Reaching beyond the Philippine archipelago, this study contributes to the larger anthropological debate concerning ecological and cultural factors that shape political economy in chiefdoms and early states. It attempts to address the question of why Philippine polities, like early historic kingdoms elsewhere in Southeast Asia, have a segmentary political structure in which political leaders are dependent on prestige goods exchanges, personal charisma, and ritual pageantry to maintain highly personalized power bases. Raiding Trading and Feasting is a volume of impressive scholarship and substantial scope, unmatched in the anthropological and historical literature. It will be welcomed by Pacific and Asian historians and anthropologists and those interested in the theoretical issues of chiefdoms.

Metal-working in Borneo J. W. Christie, Victor T. King, 1988

In Place of the Forest H. C. Brookfield, Yvonne Byron, Lesley M. Potter, 1995. This book describes the modern transformation of Borneo and the eastern side of the Malay Peninsula, an area considered to be environmentally critical because of the massive deforestation that has taken place there since the 1960s. The conclusions indicate that great dangers arise from national policies that continue to treat this region as a resource frontier despite its growing resource scarcity.

Ancient Southeast Asia John Norman Miksic, Goh Geok Yian, 2016-10-14. Ancient Southeast Asia provides readers with a much-needed synthesis of the latest discoveries and research in the archaeology of the region, presenting the evolution of complex societies in Southeast Asia from the protohistoric period (beginning around 500 BC) to the arrival of British and Dutch colonists in 1600. Well illustrated throughout, this comprehensive account explores the factors which established Southeast Asia as an area of unique cultural fusion. Miksic and Goh explore how the local population exploited the abundant resources available, developing maritime transport routes which resulted in economic and cultural wealth, including some of the most elaborate art styles and monumental complexes ever constructed The book's broad geographical and temporal coverage including a chapter on the natural environment provides readers with the context needed to understand this staggeringly diverse region It utilizes French Dutch Chinese Malay Indonesian and Burmese sources and synthesizes interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives and data from archaeology history and art history Offering key opportunities for comparative research with other centres of early socio-economic complexity Ancient Southeast Asia establishes the area's importance in world history

God and Gold in Late Antiquity Dominic Janes, 1998-02-19 From the conversion of the emperor Constantine in the early fourth century vast sums of money were spent on the building and sumptuous decoration of churches The resulting works of art contain many of the greatest monuments of late antique and early medieval society But how did such expenditure fit with Christ's message of poverty and simplicity In attempting to answer that question this 1998 study employs theories on the use of metaphor to show how physical beauty could stand for spiritual excellence As well as explaining the evolving attitudes to sanctity decorum and display in Roman and medieval society detailed analysis is made of case studies of Latin biblical exegesis and gold ground mosaics so as to counterpoint the contemporary use of gold as a Christian image in art and text

The Sarawak Museum Journal, 2007 Power and Prowess JH Walker, 2020-09-02 A significant reinterpretation of Sarawak history Power and Prowess explores the network of power economic and ritual relationships that developed on the northwest coast of Borneo in the mid nineteenth century from which a coalition led by James Brooke established the state of Sarawak Where many authors placed Brooke in the context of nineteenth century British imperialism this study perceives him in the context of Bornean cultures and political economies Brooke emerges from the historical record as a man of prowess with the author identifying important ritual sources of Brooke's power among Malays Bidayuh and Ibans sources which derived from and expressed indigenous cultural traditions about fertility health and status Drawing on conceptual frameworks from political science as well as recent southeast Asian historiography Power and Prowess offers a detailed political history of the period and new interpretations of Brooke's career This study also retrieves from the historical sources previously concealed narratives which reflect the interests priorities and activities of Sarawak people themselves J H WALKER lectures in political science at the University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy

The Most Offending Soul Alive Judith M. Heimann, 1999-11-01 An English eccentric and adventurer Tom Harrisson 1911-1976 sought knowledge and renown in a dizzying number of fields while breaking most of the rules of civilized society He was a precursor in the field of modern market research he won the DSO for his World War II service in Borneo he led efforts to save the orangutan the green sea turtle and other endangered species he discovered the oldest modern human skull known at the time This hugely enjoyable story of Harrisson's extravagant controversial life offers a sympathetic and insightful look at a charismatic figure who offended as many people as he impressed at the twilight of colonialism on the fringes of the British empire objects produced in Borneo are created from plant materials gathered in the rainforest and worked by hand using techniques passed from generation to generation. Unrivalled in their combination of beauty, form and function, they provide a unique window on the way of life of Borneo's inhabitants. Plaited Arts from the Borneo Rainforest recognizes this plaiting tradition as the primary creative expression of the peoples of Borneo, producing the most ingenious and aesthetically appealing material goods found on the island. Using a contextual and interdisciplinary approach that connects botanical and technical features with economic, social and ritual elements, the book explores how people in Borneo rely on plaited articles, whether for daily use or in the ritual sphere. The sophisticated sense of design, rich iconography and complex social and ceremonial efficacy of these objects are unsurpassed. Elaborately patterned mats from the Ngaju people of southern Borneo, for example, portray the cosmos and are the most prominent decorative features of the Ngaju ceremonial cycle. The sun hats of the Kenyah, using a unique resist dye technique, display patterns that were once taboo to all but the nobility. The exquisite plaited designs of Iban seed baskets, stained red with the prized dragon's blood pigment, show the importance of the planting ritual for the vital and sacred rice crop. The contributors to this volume are among the world's leading authorities of the arts of Borneo. These twenty scholars and artisans are from ten different nations, including Indonesia and Malaysia, and from Borneo itself: Sarawak, Sabah and Kalimantan. Their original work is supplemented by a selection of texts written by three pioneer authors that describe Borneo basketry before the Second World War. The volume is divided into twelve parts that cover the complex role of basketry in Borneo societies; the ethnobotanical and technical aspects of basketry; the distribution of plaited arts by region; the past and current market for Borneo's plaited arts; and style and identity. The abundantly illustrated Appendix surveys the relation between the tropical environment and the material culture. Illustrated with more than 1,250 color photographs, newly commissioned maps, rare historical photographs and detailed line drawings, Plaited Arts from the Borneo Rainforest is an essential addition to the libraries of universities, collectors and scholars alike. Publication of this book is supported by Total E P Indonesia as part of its Corporate Social Responsibility program for preserving Indonesian cultural heritage.
