PREHISTORY. ,1981 Afrikology, Philosophy and Wholeness. An Epistemology W. Nabudere,2011-04-11 How do we understand and create knowledge Does scientific knowledge cover all knowledge Afrikology tries to answer these questions by tracing the issue of epistemology to the Cradle of Humanity in Africa and through such a reflection the Monograph establishes a basis for holistic and integrated ways of knowledge production that makes it possible to interface scientific knowledge with other forms of knowledge In this way Afrikology responds to the crisis created by the fragmentation of knowledge through existing academic disciplines Afrikology therefore advances transdisciplinarity and hermeneutics to a level where they attain a coherent basis for interacting with Afrikology as an epistemology which returns wholeness to understanding and knowledge production

Appreciating Local Knowledge Elisabeth Kapferer, Andreas Koch, Clemens Sedmak, 2016-05-11 In the light of the globalization post modernization social fragmentation and economization of many of today's living contexts local knowledge is receiving increasing attention in various sciences Commonly local knowledge indicates a counterpart to both rational forms of an explicit knowledge of facts and knowledge of universal validity Local knowledge attempts to appreciate a more comprehensive view of people's skills capabilities experience and sophistication On the other hand the reference to local implies an idea of bounded applicability of knowledge in a specific environment Beyond this scope of application local knowledge can be acknowledged either as instrumental in order to achieve specific goals or as an intrinsic value in order to deal with social relations solidarity common values and norms accordingly Social and spatial settings are influential for everybody's quality of life personal identity and political commitment and local knowledge is the essential foundation in turning these settings into a vivid arena This volume is a result of a two day conference held in November 2013 in Salzburg Austria dedicated to bringing together researchers from different scientific disciplines including sociology philosophy social geography economics history interpersonal communication studies cultural studies and theology in order to draw distinct trains of thought about local knowledge in a transdisciplinary fashion the phenomenon its epistemic and philosophical reflection its methodological comprehension and its practical application

As a Fire by Burning Roger Standing, 2013 An exploration of the relationship between the day to day life of local churches and contemporary thinking about mission Drawing on the first hand experience of those engaged in mission in a wide variety of different contexts in contemporary Britain the component parts of church life are explored

Afrikology and Transdisciplinarity Wadada Nabudere, 2012-05-22 This monograph is intended to examine the epistemology of restorative rights in view of the continuing violation of rights in all aspects of life on the African continent and other parts of the world It is based on the research which the Marcus Garvey Pan Afrikan Institute undertook between 2006-2008 under a cross disciplinary research project entitled Restorative Justice and its Relationship to International Humanitarian Law which resulted in a Comprehensive Report that was later discussed at an international conference in Nairobi in August 2008 This conference was opened by the Prime Minister of Kenya Right Hon Raila Odinga and attended by Ministers of Justice and Constitutional Affairs judges and other ministers from the five countries in which the research was carried out Uganda Kenya Tanzania Rwanda and Southern Sudan The objective here is to relate the concept of restorative justice in its broad and cross disciplinary meaning to the epistemology of Afrikology and transdisciplinarity which aim at breaking down disciplinary boundaries between the different academic disciplines which inhibit our capabilities of looking at realities in a comprehensive holistic manner leading to the adoption of fragmented solutions to problems which inevitably fail to address those problems As stated in the monograph on the epistemology of Afrikology knowledge is created holistically by the heart and the basis of the perceptions and experiences of the five senses The knowledge created through the word which ultimately constitutes the language and the community is related to our cosmic forces and reason which gives cosmic significance to our existence We cannot therefore detach ourselves from these cosmic forces and reality must be examined from this combinatory holistic understanding

The Politics of Historical Memory and Commemoration in Africa Cassandra Mark-Thiesen, Moritz Mihatsch, Michelle Sikes, 2021-12-06 Essays in Memory of Jan Georg Deutsch The volume observes some of the principles that drove Prof Jan Georg Deutsch's research highlighting present day politics for the way they shape historical remembrance learning from people on the ground through fieldwork and oral history and bringing various parts of the African continent into discussion with one another From Cape Town to Charlottesville many societies are grappling with historical consciousness and the production of public memory In particular how and why societies remember and forget what should serve as symbols of collective memory and whether there exists space for multiple memory cultures are questions being vigorously debated once again These discussions present particular challenges not only to official memory bound to ideological constructions of nationhood but also to the teaching of history and its links to social justice movements The volume re-centres Africa and African history in memory studies with each chapter drawing parallels to comparable cases in Africa and the world An underlying assumption is that what can be learned from the politics of historical memory in Africa will have relevance for contemporary politics globally and for understanding how memories can be mobilised for political ends

General History of Africa International Scientific Committee for the drafting of a General History of Africa, 1989-12-31 One of UNESCO's most important publishing projects in the last thirty years the General History of Africa marks a major breakthrough in the recognition of Africa's cultural heritage Offering an internal perspective of Africa the eight volume work provides a comprehensive approach to the history of ideas civilizations societies and institutions of African history The volumes also discuss historical relationships among Africans as well as multilateral interactions with other cultures and continents

Natives and Newcomers Bruce G. Trigger, 1986 According to conventional nineteenth century wisdom societies of European origin were naturally progressive native societies were static One consequence of this attitude was the almost universal separation of history and anthropology Today despite a growing interest in changes in Amerindian societies this dichotomy continues to distort the investigation of Canadian history and to assign native peoples only a marginal place in it Natives and Newcomers discredits that myth In a spirited and critical re-examination of relations between the French and the Iroquoian speaking inhabitants of the St Lawrence lowlands from the incursions of Jacques

Cartier through the explorations of Samuel de Champlain and the Jesuit missions into the early years of the royal regime Natives and Newcomers argues that native people have played a significant role in shaping the development of Canada Trigger also shows that the largely ignored French traders and their employees established relations with native people that were indispensable for founding a viable European colony on the St Lawrence The brisk narrative of this period is complemented by a detailed survey of the stereotypes about native people that have influenced the development of Canadian history and anthropology and by candid discussions of how historical ethnographical and archaeological approaches can and cannot be combined to produce a more rounded and accurate understanding of the past Across Cultural Borders

Eckhardt Fuchs, Benedikt Stuchtey, 2002 This innovative work offers the first comprehensive transcultural history of historiography The contributors transcend a Eurocentric approach not only in terms of the individual historiographies they assess but also in the methodologies they use for comparative analysis Moving beyond the traditional national focus of historiography the book offers a genuinely comparative consideration of the commonalities and differences in writing history Distinguishing among distinct cultural identities the contributors consider the ways and means of intellectual transfers and assess the strength of local historiographical traditions as they are challenged from outside The essays explore the question of the utility and the limits of conceptions of modernism that apply Western theories of development to non Western cultures Warning against the dominant tendency in recent historiographies of non Western societies to define these predominantly in relation to Western thought the authors show the extent to which indigenous traditions have been overlooked The key question is how the triad of industrialization modernization and the historicization process which was decisive in the development of modern academic historiography also is valid beyond Europe Illustrating just how deeply suffused history writing is with European models the book offers a broad theoretical platform for exploring the value and necessity of a world historiography beyond Eurocentrism African Historical Archaeologies

Andrew M. Reid, Paul J. Lane, 2014-10-28 This volume explores the range of interactions between the historical sources and archaeology that are available on the African continent The contributions written by a range of experts on different aspects of African archaeology present the underlying issues such as The conflict and collaboration in the foundation of modern Africa African trading communities maintaining their independence from Europe The impacts of the Atlantic slave trade This represents the first consideration of historical archaeology over the African continent as a whole and therefore provides an important review for African archaeologists and historians This seminal volume also explores Africa's place in global systems of thought and economic development for historical archaeologists and historians alike The Psychology of Adult Learning in Africa Thomas O. Fasokun, Anne Katahoire, Akpovire Oduaran, 2005 Presenting psychology as an applied discipline that can help adult educators be more effective in their work this book analyses the cultural factors that influence the characteristics behaviour and thinking of adult learners It emphasizes the collective orientation of African cultures and the view of the self in terms of interdependent relationships within a community The chapters provide an introduction to the psychology of adult learning and address the following characteristics of adult learning life span development human motivation and participation learning styles facilitating adult learning and guidance and counselling of adult learners

The First Ethiopians Malvern van Wyk Smith, 2009-07-01 The First Ethiopians explores the images of Africa and Africans that evolved in ancient Egypt in classical Greece and imperial Rome in the early Mediterranean world and in the early domains of Christianity Inspired by curiosity regarding the origins of racism in southern Africa Malvern van Wyk Smith consulted a wide range of sources from rock art to classical travel writing from the pre Dynastic African beginnings of Egyptian and Nubian civilisations to Greek and Roman perceptions of Africa from Khoisan cultural expressions to early Christian conceptions of Africa and its people as demonic from Aristotelian climatology to medieval cartography and from the geo linguistic history of Africa to the most recent revelations regarding the genome profile of the continent's peoples His research led to a startling proposition Western racism has its roots in Africa itself notably in late New Kingdom Egypt as its ruling elites sought to distance Egyptian civilisation from its African origins Kushite Nubians founders of Napata and Mero who in the eighth century BCE furnished the black rulers of the twenty fifth Dynasty in Egypt adopted and adapted such Dynastic discriminations in order to differentiate their own superior Meroitic civilisation from the world of other Ethiopians In due course archaic Greeks who began to arrive in the Nile Delta in the seventh century BCE internalised these distinctions in terms of Homer's identification of two Ethiopias an eastern and a western to create a racialised and racist discourse of worthy and savage Ethiopians Such conceptions would inspire virtually all subsequent Roman and early medieval thinking about Africa and Africans and become foundational in European thought The book concludes with a survey of the special place that Aksumite Ethiopia later Abyssinia has held in both European and African conceptual worlds as the site of worthy Ethiopia as well as in the wider context of discourses of ethnicity and race

Great Zimbabwe Joseph O. Vogel, 2019-08-22 First Published in 1994 This research guide was written as a comprehensive though by no means exhaustive survey of the literature pertinent to studying the indigenous complex societies of south central Africa Although the paramount focus of the compilation was the archaeology of Great Zimbabwe the author has drawn from a broad geographical area and a wider period of time than that usually associated with Zimbabwean culture in order to demonstrate the cultural background for the growth of monumental trading towns in south central Africa
