Moment Of Complexity Emerging Network Culture:

The Moment of Complexity Mark C. Taylor, 2003-09 We live in a moment of unprecedented complexity an era in which change occurs faster than our ability to comprehend it With The Moment of Complexity Mark C Taylor offers a map for the unfamiliar terrain opening in our midst unfolding an original philosophy of our time through a remarkable synthesis of science and culture According to Taylor complexity is not just a breakthrough scientific concept but the defining quality of the post Cold War era The flux of digital currents swirling around us he argues has created a new network culture with its own distinctive logic and dynamic

Postcomposition Sidney I Dobrin, 2011-06-02 Leading a burgeoning self critical moment in composition studies and writing program administration Postcomposition is a fundamental reconsideration of the field that attempts to shift the focus away from pedagogy and writing subjects and toward writing itself In this forceful and reasoned critique of many of the primary tenets and widely accepted institutional structures of composition studies Sidney I Dobrin delivers a series of shocks to the system meant to disrupt the pedagogical imperative and move beyond the existing limits of the discipline Dobrin evaluates the current state of composition studies underscoring the difference between composition and writing and arguing that the field's focus on the administration of writing students and its historically imposed prohibition on theory greatly limit what can be understood about writing Instead he envisions a more significant approach to writing one that questions the field's conservative allegiance to subject and administration and reconsiders writing as spatial and ecological Using concepts from ecocomposition spatial theory network theory complexity theory and systems theory Postcomposition lays the groundwork for a networked theory of writing and advocates the abandonment of administration as a useful part of the field He also challenges the usefulness of rhetoric in writing studies showing how writing exceeds rhetoric Postcomposition is a detailed consideration of how posthumanism affects the field's understanding of subjectivity It also tears at the seams of the contingent labor problem As he articulates his own frustrations with the conservatism of composition studies and builds on previous critiques of the discipline Dobrin stages a courageous and inevitably polemical intellectual challenge to the entrenched ideas and assumptions that have defined composition studies

Inhuman Networks Grant Bollmer, 2016-08-11 Social media's connectivity is often thought to be a manifestation of human nature buried until now revealed only through the diverse technologies of the participatory internet Rather than embrace this view Inhuman Networks Social Media and the Archaeology of Connection argues that the human nature revealed by social media imagines network technology and data as models for behavior online Covering a wide range of historical and interdisciplinary subjects Grant Bollmer examines the emergence of the network as a model for relation in the 1700s and 1800s and follows it through marginal often forgotten articulations of technology biology economics and the social From this history Bollmer examines contemporary controversies surrounding social media extending out to the influence of network models on issues of critical theory politics popular science and neoliberalism By moving through the past and present of network media Inhuman Networks demonstrates how contemporary network culture unintentionally repeats debates over the limits of Western modernity to provide an idealized future where the human is interchangeable with abstract flowing data connected through well managed distributed networks

New Developments in Self Psychology Practice Peter Buirski, Amanda Kottler, 2007-10-23 Since the publication of Heinz Kohut's monumental book The Analysis of the Self in 1971 self psychology has undergone a vibrant and exciting evolution that has significantly influenced and expanded the range of psychoanalytic thinking New Developments in Self Psychology Practice gives voice to the multiple and diverse perspectives that shape contemporary self psychology from complexity and attachment theories to treatment of children and from developments in family and group therapies practices and supervisory process to examination of the role of shame enactments and traumatic experience in self object relatedness and subjective experience

Thinking Through Poetry Marjorie Levinson, 2018-07-11 Thinking through Poetry Field Reports on Romantic Lyric pursues two goals The title signals the contribution to debates about reading Do we think through by means of with poems sympathetically elaborating their surfaces Is this compatible with a second meaning thinking through poems to their end solving a problem getting to its root its deep truth Third can we square these surface and depth readings with a speculative philosophical criticism to which the poem carries us where through denotes a going beyond All three meanings of through are in play throughout The subtitle applies field first to Romantic studies since the 1980s a field that this project reflects upon from beginning to end Examples are drawn especially from Wordsworth but also from Coleridge and in assessing Romanticism's afterlife from Stevens Field also characterizes the shift from a unitary to a field concept of form during that time span a shift pursued through prolonged engagement with Spinoza Field thus underscores the synthesis of form and history the importance of analytic scale to that synthesis and the displacement of entity text by relation as the object of investigation While the book historically connects early nineteenth century intellectual trends to twentieth and twenty first century scientific revolutions its focuses on introducing new models to literary criticism Unlike accounts of the influence of science on literature or various literature X approaches literature and ecology literature and cognitive science it constructs its object of inquiry in a way cognate with work in non humanities disciplines thus highlighting a certain unity to human knowledge The claim is that specialists in literature should think the way distinguished scientists think and vice versa

Ecology, Writing Theory, and New Media Sidney Dobrin, 2011-12-22 Moving beyond ecocomposition this book galvanizes conversations in ecology and writing not with an eye toward homogenization but with an agenda of firmly establishing the significance of writing research that intersects with ecology It looks to establish ecological writing studies not just as a legitimate or important form of writing research but as paramount to the future of writing studies and writing theory Complex ecologies writing studies and new media post media converge to highlight network theories systems theories and posthumanist theories as central in the shaping of writing theory and this study embraces work in these areas as essential to the development of ecological theories of writing Contributors address ecological theories of writing by way of diverse and promising avenues united by the underlying commitment to better understand how ecological methodologies might help better inform our understanding of writing and might provoke new theories of writing Ecology Writing Theory and New Media fuels future theoretical conversations about ecology and writing and will be of interest to those who are interested in theories of writing and the function of writing

Globalization and WMD Proliferation James A. Russell, James J. Wirtz, 2009-12-04 This edited volume explores the relationship between the accelerating process of globalization and the proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction which is increasingly seen as the pre eminent threat to international security The proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction has traditionally been seen as a function of the security dilemma in the state based international system But the advent of the nuclear supply network pieced together by the Pakistani scientist A Q Khan represented a departure from this model involving a variety of organizations not directly connected to a state This volume assembles an international group of experts in order to assess the relationship between proliferation and globalization to ascertain how contemporary communication transportation and financial networks are facilitating or constraining trade in dangerous contraband The book ultimately seeks to determine whether globalization is fundamentally altering the nature of the proliferation problem particularly the threat that Weapons of Mass Destruction might fall into the hands of terrorists This book will be of much interest to students of nuclear proliferation international security terrorism and IR in general

Derrida, Myth and the Impossibility of Philosophy Anais Spitzer, 2011-06-02 Philosophy Aesthetics And Cultural Theory Is An Interdisciplinary Series In Continental Philosophy Cultural Theory And The Arts Edited By Hugh J Silverman Stony Brook University New York USA This is a compelling study of the intimate complex and often unexpected aspects of the relationship between philosophy and myth This is an eloquent forceful and altogether timely contribution in a world in which new myths purport to be unquestionable while philosophy bides its time in self absorbed conceptual retreat Its publication marks a new step in deconstructive thinking after which deconstruction will never again be the same This book is a gift precisely in the Derridean sense described within it Its gift is that it is a tour de force The book leads its reader on a profound and clear even if complex exploratory voyage into and out of the maze of Jacques Derrida s web of deconstructive thought While making this trip the book weaves a radical argument against the notion that philosophical logic transcends mythic qualities of understanding It shows compellingly that philosophy s knowledge of truth is inescapably embedded in myth Bombarded by narratives that terrorize and repress we may often consider myth to be constrictive dogma or at best something to be readily disregarded as unphilosophical and irrelevant However such dismissals miss a crucial aspect of myth Harnessing the insights of Jacques Derrida s deconstruction and Mark C Taylor s philosophical reading of complexity theory Derrida Myth and the Impossibility of Philosophy provocatively reframes the pivotal relation of myth to thinking and to philosophy demonstrating that myth's inherent ambiguity engenders vital and inescapable deconstructive propensities Exploring myth's disruptive presence Spitzer shows that philosophy cannot separate itself from myth Instead myth is an inevitable condition of the possibility of philosophy global capitalism's demand for new knowledge and new commodities as well as new logistical systems to deliver them the nature of education has changed significantly Universities in striving to become a part of this knowledge society have focused on responding to these demands at the expense of the humanities and social sciences The dominance of this way of thinking primarily a product of Western educational thought has clearly affected approaches to education in the East The originalities authenticities and unique perspectives of the East have failed to get enough attention subsumed by the focus on science and technology However many education systems are still endeavouring to capture some of the indigenous and authentic culture of their home countries incorporating national cultural ideals even in subjects with a primarily vocational focus Although the drive for scientific knowledge has led to a degree of standardisation and convergence cultural differences still play a role in the education theory and policy of different countries This book examines these cultural differences between different East Asian and South Asian countries with chapters ranging from historical educational analysis to contemporary re interpretations of the construction of society and education in the East This book was originally published as a special issue of Comparative Education Sustainable Brownfield Regeneration Tim Dixon, Mike Raco, Philip Catney, David N.

Lerner, 2008-04-15 Sustainable Brownfield Regeneration presents a comprehensive account of UK policies processes and practices in brownfield regeneration and takes an integrated and theoretically grounded approach to highlight best practice Brownfield regeneration has become a major policy driver in developed countries It is estimated that there are 64 000 hectares of brownfield land in England much of which presents severe environmental challenges and lies alongside some of the most deprived communities in the country Bringing such land back into active use has taken on a new urgency among policymakers developers and other stakeholders in the development process Frequently however policy thinking and practice has been underpinned by silo mentalities in which integrated and multidisciplinary approaches to problem solving have been limited The book has two principal aims The first is to examine the ways in which science and social science research disciplines can be brought together to help solve important brownfield regeneration issues with a focus on the UK The second is to assess the efficiency and effectiveness of different types of regeneration policy and practice and to show how liveable spaces can be produced from problem places The Thames Gateway in the south of England and Greater Manchester in the North of England are shown as examples of how brownfield regeneration projects are developing in an era where sustainability is high on the policy agenda From the Foreword by Paul Syms National Brownfield Advisor English Partnerships Ensuring the effective and efficient reuse of brownfield land is an essential part of the British Government's land use policies in support of sustainable communities This book recognises that reusing brownfield land is not just about overcoming technical issues to remove contamination or other physical problems with the ground It highlights the importance of engaging with the many different stakeholders whose opinions and concerns need to be taken into account if sustainable outcomes are to be achieved The authors also recognise that brownfield land reuse is not just about building new homes or places of employment the creation of new green spaces can be just as important

Cross-Border Networks in Writing Studies Derek Mueller, Andrea Williams, 2017-02-18 Cross Border Networks in Writing Studies coordinates mixed methods approaches to survey interview and case study data to study Canadian writing studies scholars The authors argue for networked disciplinarity the notion that ideas arise and flow through intellectual networks that connect scholars not only to one another but to widening networks of human and nonhuman actors Although the Canadian field is historically rooted in the themes of location and national culture expressing a tension between Canadian independence and dependence on the US field more recent research suggests a more hybridized North American scholarship rather than one defined in opposition to rhetoric and composition in the US In tracing identities roles and rituals of nationally bound considerations of how disciplinarity has been constructed through distant and close methods this multi scaled multi scopic approach examines the texture of interdependent constructions of the Canadian discipline Cross Border Networks in Writing Studies also launches a collaborative publishing network between Canadian publisher Inkshed and US publisher Parlor Press

'Philosophy' - After the End of Philosophy Nader N. Chokr, 2014-10-16 The essays included in this collection deal with a wide and diverse range of problems and issues namely Cultural Complexity Globalization Glocalization Relativism Bullshit Embodied and Situated Cognition Capabilities Approach Moral Universalism Solidarity Cosmopolitanism Pluralism Human Rights Justice and Philosophy after the end of Philosophy This work takes its main title from the last essay in which the author makes an effort to rethink the nature and purpose of philosophy for our times sketching a proposal for a new beginning for philosophy as critical philosophy Such a philosophy would have a clear and compelling emancipatory thrust At this point in human history it would have to be underwritten by an ethical universalism that is pluralistic historically enlightened and non ethnocentric In addition it would take seriously the consequences of complexity in a world that is increasingly interconnected and interdependent yet still so far apart and would be prepared to draw the full implications of the embodied and situated cognition paradigm shift which has taken place in the past few decades It would furthermore take aim at the bullshit in all of its manifestations that is so pervasive in various quarters throughout the whole of culture and society Finally it would effectively contribute to the articulation and elaboration of the kinds of concepts frameworks narratives and practices generally speaking which could somehow enable humans to rise to the next level in their understanding of the globalizing and glocalizing world in which they live and which is as is common knowledge dramatically confronted by a number of serious challenges grave risks and threats dismal shortcomings and failures This work offers compelling analyses and diagnostics and makes some sketch proposals to urgently grapple with them
