My Journey The Autobiography Of An Immigrant:

A Long Journey Frieda Brewster, 2025-09-25 This autobiography is an account of Frieda Brewster's remarkable life. She was born in America to socialist immigrant parents from Croatia. The journey begins with her childhood in Pittsburgh, her left-wing student activism, her experience of the Great Depression when she had to leave university, and her campaigning with the American Communist Party. Here she met and at the age of 18 married a Scottish Communist, Pat Devine, who was arrested for leading trade union action. After spending a year in jail, he was deported to Scotland. Frieda went with him, and a new chapter of her journey unfolds. She settled in the UK where she spent the rest of her life. Her account here centres around her life as an active Communist. She details her fascinating experiences in the Soviet Union, her activity as a courier for the Communist International movement, Comintern, where she delivered money to anti-fascist groups in Germany in the 1930s and to the Communist Party in China. After the birth of her son, she continued her political activities in the UK. She worked at the central headquarters of the British Communist Party for a number of years. She played an active role at the centre for the recruitment and support for the British volunteers to the International Brigade fighting fascism in the Spanish Civil War. During this period, she was also involved in campaigns in her local area, including the demonstrations against the rising British Fascist movement of Oswald Mosley and the battle of Cable Street. After the war, she trained as a primary school teacher. She had a daughter, divorced her husband, and remarried. She was active in her union and CND, became interested in and supportive of the Women's Liberation Movement, and demonstrated at Greenham Common. She retained her socialist convictions throughout her life and shares interesting reflections on convulsions in the Communist movement. She became a committed Euro Communist, convinced of the need for a democratic route to Socialism. This is not at all a dry outline of a life, but rather a lively, personal and moving account of a woman's experiences, struggles, both personal and political, and of her personal growth.

Women, Autobiography, Theory Sidonie Smith, Julia Watson, 1998 The first comprehensive guide to the burgeoning field of women's autobiography. Essays from 39 prominent critics and writers explore narratives across the centuries and from around the globe. A list of more than 200 women's autobiographies and a comprehensive bibliography provide invaluable information for scholars, teachers, and readers.

Lim Chong Yah: An Autobiography - Life Journey Of A Singaporean Professor Chong Yah Lim, 2017-01-18 Why are some nations rich and others poor? Why do the citizens of some countries lead a happy, prosperous life while others struggle in terrible want? This book takes the reader through the eventful life journey of one of Singapore's best-known economists and educators, Professor Lim Chong Yah. Born in Malacca, the author planted tapioca to feed himself and his family, caught fish in paddy fields, and was thrown in jail as a 10-year-old during the war. He fought to win a Commonwealth scholarship to get a decent education, met the love of his life at a Chinese New Year party, became a Professor at two of the best universities in Asia, and went on to write one of the most widely used economics textbooks of the time, Elements of Economic Theory. At 84, Lim Chong Yah is as feisty, indomitable, and curious as when he was a small cheeky boy catching fighting fish in those paddy fields And he still asks the fundamental question of how each of us can make a difference

Memories: Journey into an Immigrant'S Mind Emanuel Paparella,2018-08-10 As its title powerfully suggests this bookwhile being a personal memoir a narration of ones life journey from sunrise to sunsettranscends the personal Its uniqueness lies in the fact that these memories are the memories of an immigrant who has lived in the country as a US citizen with an American born father for some sixty years It is much more than a list of events and anecdotes of an immigrant experience It is written in a Dantesque and Vichian spirit and as such it goes beyond the listing of historical events and people More than a physical journey it is an intellectual journey into the mind of an immigrant in search of ones self and ones ethnic identity As such it is a universal journey with which nonimmigrants even native born can easily empathize Our common humanity makes it universal As Dante well put it when he began the narration of his lifes journey In the middle of the journey of our lives I found myself in a dark wood As Dante begins the journey guided by Virgil and Breatrice he finds out that indeed the journey is universal beyond the purely personal As Michelangelo said Ancor imparo I am still learning He uttered such a statement at the venerable age of eighty nine a few days before he died He was still sculpting and learning Likewise if we dare to begin the journey at whatever age we may find ourselves we may soon find out that we too are still learning and the journey may well have a common purpose and destination

Take My Word Anne E. Goldman,2023-09-01 In an innovative critique of traditional approaches to autobiography Anne E Goldman convincingly demonstrates that ethnic women can and do speak for themselves even in the most unlikely contexts Citing a wide variety of nontraditional texts including the cookbooks of Nuevo Mexicanas African American memoirs of midwifery and healing and Jewish women s histories of the garment industry Goldman illustrates how American women have asserted their ethnic identities and made their voices heard over and sometimes against the interests of publishers editors and readers While the dominant culture has interpreted works of ethnic literature as representative of a people rather than an individual the working women of this study insist upon their own agency in narrating rich and complicated self portraits In an innovative critique of traditional approaches to autobiography Anne E Goldman convincingly demonstrates that ethnic women can and do speak for themselves even in the most unlikely contexts Citing a wide variety of nontraditional texts including

Never Alone Natan Sharansky,Gil Troy,2020-09-01 A classic account of courage integrity and most of all belonging In 1977 Natan Sharansky a leading activist in the democratic dissident movement in the Soviet Union and the movement for free Jewish emigration was arrested by the KGB He spent nine years as a political prisoner convicted of treason against the state Every day Sharansky fought for individual freedom in the face of overt tyranny a struggle that would come to define the rest of his life Never Alone reveals how Sharansky's years in prison many spent in harsh solitary confinement prepared him for a very public life after his release As an Israeli politician and the head of the Jewish Agency Sharansky brought extraordinary moral clarity and uncompromising often uncomfortable honesty His story is suffused with reflections from his time as a political prisoner from his seat at the table as history unfolded in Israel and the Middle East and from his passionate efforts to unite the Jewish people Written with frankness affection and humor the book offers us profound insights from a man who embraced the essential human struggle to find his own voice his own faith and the people to whom he could belong The Value of

Festus E. Obiakor,Ying Hui-Michael,2018-10-01 Voices of Asian Americans in Higher Education Unheard Voices is a unique and historical book Asian Americans are often portrayed as model minority yet their personal and educational experiences are often unheard In this book 10 Asian American educators and scholars present realistic pictures of America's higher education using personal narratives The contributors in this book come from different regions and teach in different colleges and universities and coincidentally they all endure the outsider category formerly as students and now as professors and leaders This outsider status can be emotionally overwhelming and psychologically unnerving This status hampers opportunities for Asian Americans to grow and maximize their fullest potential Though they develop different strategies to address their outsider label it does not make it comfortable But time and time again they have proven that they can succeed In this technological age we must value unending truths as we educate ourselves and others We hope that this book will be an educational and informational resource for students administrators and faculty in higher education and also educational policy makers and stakeholders A Little Book for Immigrants in Boston Boston (Mass.). The Borders of Empathy in Children's Fiction Macarena García-González, 2025-06-16 The Borders of Empathy in Children's Fiction centres the question of how reading fiction develops our moral imagination and our capacities to think and feel with others The question is approached with a good dose of scepticism revising tensions between ethical aesthetical and pedagogical dimensions when certain books films and other cultural materials are recommended for children This volume examines how texts addressed to children are meant to assist socioemotional education and whether we put forward adultist assumptions around such conceptualisations of the emotional The book is organised into nine chapters with some of them focusing on difficult themes such as violence xenophobia death migration as well as gender and social exclusions and some others on more general relationships between emotions media and education The chapters combine a textual analysis of recommended cultural materials for children with insights from empirical research and ethnographic approaches to children's cultures A common thread throughout the book is the open question about the epistemic injustices in knowing children and childhood and how this may be overcome by shifting our research practices with posthumanist philosophies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
