Qing Colonial Enterprise Ethnography And Cartography In Early Modern China:

Qing Colonial Enterprise Laura Hostetler,2005-12-15 In Qing Colonial Enterprise Laura Hostetler shows how Qing China 1636 1911 used cartography and ethnography to pursue its imperial ambitions She argues that far from being on the periphery of developments in the early modern period Qing China both participated in and helped shape the new emphasis on empirical scientific knowledge that was simultaneously transforming Europe and its colonial empires at the time Although mapping in China is almost as old as Chinese civilization itself the Qing insistence on accurate to scale maps of their territory was a new response to the difficulties of administering a vast and growing empire Likewise direct observation became increasingly important to Qing ethnographic writings such as the illustrated manuscripts known as Miao albums from which twenty color paintings are reproduced in this book These were intended to educate Qing officials about various non Han peoples so that they could govern these groups more effectively Hostetler s groundbreaking account will interest anyone studying the history of the early modern period and colonialism

The Invention of China Bill Hayton, 2020-10-02 A smart take on modern Chinese nationalism Foreign Policy this provocative account shows that China and its 5 000 years of unified history is a national myth created only a century ago with a political agenda that persists to this day China's current leadership lays claim to a 5 000 year old civilization but China as a unified country and people Bill Hayton argues was created far more recently by a small group of intellectuals In this compelling account Hayton shows how China's present day geopolitical problems the fates of Hong Kong Taiwan Tibet Xinjiang and the South China Sea were born in the struggle to create a modern nation state In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries reformers and revolutionaries adopted foreign ideas to invent a new vision of China By asserting a particular politicized version of the past the government bolstered its claim to a vast territory stretching from the Pacific to Central Asia Ranging across history nationhood language and territory Hayton shows how the Republic's reworking of its past not only helped it to justify its right to rule a century ago but continues to motivate and direct policy today

Edge of Empires John M. Carroll, 2005-04-30 In an engaging revisionist study John M Carroll argues that in the century after the Opium War Hong Kong's colonial nature helped create a local Chinese business elite By the end of the nineteenth century the colonial government saw Chinese businessmen as allies in establishing Hong Kong as a commercial center The idea of a commercially vibrant China united them Chinese and British leaders cooperated on issues of mutual concern such as the expansion of capitalism and political and economic directions for an ailing China These Chinese also found opportunities in the colonial system to develop business and commerce In doing so they used Hong Kong's strategic position to underscore their own identity as a distinctive group unlike their mainland counterparts Nationalism took on a specifically Hong Kong character At the same time by contributing to imperial war funds organizing ceremonies for visiting British royalty and attending imperial trade exhibitions the Chinese helped make Hong Kong an active member of the global British Empire In Edge of Empires Carroll situates Hong Kong squarely within the framework of both Chinese and British colonial history while exploring larger questions about the meaning and implications of colonialism in modern history Taiwan's Imagined Geography Emma Jinhua Teng, 2020-03-23 Until 300 years ago the Chinese considered Taiwan a land beyond the seas a ball of mud inhabited by naked and tattooed savages The incorporation of this island into the Qing empire in the seventeenth century and its evolution into a province by the late nineteenth century involved not only a reconsideration of imperial geography but also a reconceptualization of the Chinese domain The annexation of Taiwan was only one incident in the much larger phenomenon of Qing expansionism into frontier areas that resulted in a doubling of the area controlled from Beijing and the creation of a multi ethnic polity The author argues that travelers accounts and pictures of frontiers such as Taiwan led to a change in the imagined geography of the empire In representing distant lands and ethnically diverse peoples of the frontiers to audiences in China proper these works transformed places once considered non Chinese into familiar parts of the empire and thereby helped to naturalize Qing expansionism By viewing Taiwan China relations as a product of the history of Qing expansionism the author contributes to our understanding of current political events in the region China Robert B. geography Corporate Conquests C. Patterson Giersch, 2020-04-07 Tenacious patterns of ethnic and economic inequality persist in the rural largely minority regions of China's north and southwest. Such inequality is commonly attributed to geography, access to resources, and recent political developments. In Corporate Conquests, C. Patterson Giersch provides a desperately needed challenge to these conventional understandings by tracing the disempowerment of minority communities to the very beginnings of China's modern development. Focusing on the emergence of private and state corporations in Yunnan Province during the late 1800s and early 1900s, the book reveals how entrepreneurs centralized corporate power even as they expanded their businesses throughout the Southwest and into Tibet, Southeast Asia, and eastern China. Bringing wealth and cosmopolitan lifestyles to their hometowns, the merchant owners also gained greater access to commodities at the expense of the Southwest's many indigenous minority communities. Meanwhile, new concepts of development shaped the creation of state-run corporations, which further concentrated resources in the hands of outsiders. The book reveals how important new ideas and structures of power, now central to the Communist Party's repertoire of rule and oppression, were forged not along China's east coast but along the nation's internal borderlands. It is a must-read for anyone wishing to learn about China's unique state capitalism and its contribution to inequality.

Building New China, Colonizing Kokonor Gregory Rohlf, 2016-03-04 Building New China: Colonizing Kokonor Resettlement to Amdo and Qinghai in the 1950s examines rural resettlement to the Sino-Tibetan cultural borderlands in the 1950s. More than 100,000 eastern Han and Hui Chinese were sent to Qinghai province, known in Mongolian as Kokonor, and Amdo to Tibetans to plow up new fields in areas that were being incorporated into the Chinese state for the first time. The settlers were to bring their skilled labor, literacy, and modern thinking to backward Qinghai to fully exploit its natural resources of oil, natural gas, gold, and empty lands for the benefit of the industrializing nation. The book is a social and political history of resettlement, focusing on the people who were moved and the overall impact the program had on the province. It is a frontier history, but it also narrates a story of state building in modern China that spans the twentieth century and the opening years of the twenty-first.
