Frumkes, 2000-05-12 DON'T STOP WITH THE PERIOD The richness of English comes from its enormous vocabulary upward of a million words But how many punctuation marks are available to help communicate all the subtlety and nuances of the language A piddling handful of tired overworked dots dashes and devices that fall short when it comes to delivering the written word as the writer intended it Metapunctuation the product of the brilliant if somewhat askew mind of Lewis Burke Frumkes adds the absent flair and precision ends ambiguity and makes manifest all of English's unspoken jabs frowns inflections passions and innuendos with marks such as phobic brackets to enclose fear gone wildly out of control infatuation marks to indicate a frivolous kind of love ring of indignation to really let em have it passion waves for prose ranging from purple to blue contempt drips for utter disdain The Oxford Companion to Twentieth-century Literature in English Jenny

Stringer, 1996 Survey of twentieth century English language writers and writing from around the world celebrating all major genres with entries on literary movements periodicals more than 400 individual works and articles on approximately 2 400 authors Journeying and Journalling Giselle Bastin, 2010 In December 2004 the town of Penneshaw Kangaroo Island provided the backdrop for an international conference titled Journeying and Journalling The conference created a space for creative and critical meditations on travel writing Collectively the essays in this collection provide a snapshot of current directions and preoccupations in contemporary travel writing scholarship They function as a reminder of the work that has been done on representations of Indigeneity and of writing marginalised narratives into the travel canon However these chapters also remind us of the important work that remains particularly in relation to travel writing as form of reconciliation for example between Indigenous people and colonisers and between colonisers and neo colonials Scholars also bear the responsibility of considering the complexities of representing culture and place in a post colonial even post traumatic world This collection includes essays by Tim Youngs Helen Tiffin and Paul Sharra and many other leading writers in the field of travel writing

The Party Is Over Robert Mann, 2022-02-16 For decades the Louisiana political scene has been a source of interest and intrigue for scholars and casual observers alike In recent years the state's political economic and environmental challenges have drawn sustained attention from regional and national media Observers have typically focused on Louisiana's distinctive political culture including jungle primaries colorful candidates and tolerance for scandal However recent shifts have eroded the state's unique political character aligning it with national political trends of partisan realignment political polarization and outside influence in state and local elections The Party Is Over brings together top scholars journalists and policy analysts to investigate these recent shifts in institutions politics and policy and situate them in the context of national politics Both accessible and thorough the volume offers an informed and reliable foundation for those new to Louisiana's political culture and for long time observers seeking new insights into recent developments Contributors recognize the challenges posed by the new politics and point toward opportunities to leverage the state's cultural and economic strengths to build a better Louisiana

The Regimen sanitatis of "Avenzoar" Michael R. McVaugh, Gerrit Bos, Joseph Shatzmiller, 2019-07-08 The authors publish a previously unedited Regimen of Health attributed to Avenzoar Ibn Zuhr translated at Montpellier in 1299 in a collaboration between a Jewish philosopher and a Christian surgeon the former translating the original Arabic into their shared Occitan vernacular the latter translating that into Latin They use manuscript evidence to argue that the text was produced in two stages first a quite literal version then a revision improved in style and in language adapted to contemporary European medicine Such collaborative translations are well known but the revelation of the inner workings of the translation process in this case is exceptional A separate Hebrew translation by the philosopher also edited here gives independent evidence of the lost Arabic original

The Liberal Mind in a Conservative Party Geoffrey Robinson, 2025-06-17 Robinson analyses the peculiarly Australian intellectual tradition of liberal conservatism within the mainstream centre right Liberal Party of Australia Conservative intellectuals in Australia have forged a pragmatic sceptical and utilitarian liberal conservatism focused on the tasks of government It remains distant both from the romantic and organicist ideas of the populist right and the simplicities of libertarianism Focusing on key figures within this tradition Robinson tracks the progress of Australian liberal conservatism over the years through its origins in the work of David Hume to the thoughts of Peter Coleman David Kemp and Andrew Norton before moving forward to George Brandis and Gregory Melleuish The Liberal Party of Australia has appealed successfully to the conservative sentiments of voters in a liberal society The Liberal Mind in a Conservative Party tells the story of seven intellectuals who helped make this possible Peter Coleman drew on John Anderson Georges Sorel and Michael Oakeshott to champion neoconservatism He argues that this potent political ideology has shaped a distinct political identity which rejects conservative traditionalism and libertarian economics while defending a pragmatic approach to capitalism A fascinating read for students and scholars of Australian politics this book will also be of great value to readers with an interest in international centre right politics
