The Rise of Digital Management François-Xavier de Vaujany, 2024-06-03 This book analyzes the history of management placing it in perspective with both American history and the genealogy of digital technology Focusing on the years of industrial mobilization in the United States from 1937 to 1945 and their extension into the Cold War it shows particularly how scientific management was reconfigured and re-legitimized in favor of a new profoundly American geopolitics In a context where the future was at a standstill this research also explains what became of the managerial processes at the heart of capitalism from the 40s onwards the shift from a managerial capitalism of calculation to a narrative capitalism made up of desiring machines This digital management no longer simply contributes along with others to unveiling and revealing the future Aligned with the American obsession with novelty it is the very process of revelation and unveiling with managers and consumers alike becoming the intersecting subjects of desires borne of managerial apocalypses To explore this period of American history the author has combined a triple narrative anchored in three types of archives an intimate history of this reconfiguration from the presence in New York of Saint Exupéry Burnham and Wiener a description of the great historical moment of industrial mobilization and a philosophical speculation about reconfiguration and its links to American history

Reading Baudelaire's Le Spleen de Paris and the Nineteenth-Century Prose Poem Seth Whidden, 2022-06-02 Through its readings of Charles Baudelaire's collection Le Spleen de Paris and other prose poems from the nineteenth century this book considers the practice of reading prose poetry and how it might be different from reading poetry in verse. Among the numerous factors that helped shape the nascent modernity in Baudelaire's poetic prose are the poems' themes, forms, linguistic qualities, and modes. The contradictions identifiable at the level of prose poetry's discourse are similarly perceptible in other aspects of Baudelaire's poetic language beyond the discursive in the poems' formal considerations which retain recognisable traces of verse despite their prose presentation and with respect to both poetic form and thematics in the sights and sounds that contribute to their poeticity. With a focus on what makes prose texts poetic, this study sheds light on Baudelaire the practitioner of the prose poem as he navigated and complicated the boundaries between verse, prose, and poetry. Rather than rejecting those categories, Baudelaire forges a poetic space in which the notions of poetry and prose are recast, juxtaposed in a delicate balance in a textual space they manage to share. This coexistence of poetry and prose, previously thought of as incompatible, is the underlying tension and framework that contributes importantly to the modernity of his prose poetry. In turn, this new mode of poetry calls for new modes of reading poetry and new ways of engaging with a text.

Poets, Heroes, and their Dragons (2 vols) James R.

Russell, 2021-02-08 The present volume is a collection of articles published by Professor James R. Russell of Harvard University in various journals over the past decades. James Russell has been one of the pioneers in the field of Armenian and Iranian Studies where he has demonstrated the importance of Iranian civilization for pre-Christian Armenia. The connection between the two civilizations has been part of the tireless work of Professor Russell, and I hope this publication shows the immense importance of his work for both Armenian and Iranian Studies. I would like to thank Professor Hourii Berberian, Director of the UC Irvine Armenian Studies Program, as well as Mr. Mamigonian and the National Association for Armenian Studies and Research (NAASR) for supporting the publication of this book. This volume was previously published by the Jordan Center for Persian Studies, University of California, Irvine.

Yang Mu, the recipient of the 2007 International Prize for Literature, written in Chinese, is a well-known bicultural poet. Born in Taiwan during the last phase of the Japanese occupation, his life and writing have been influenced by competing forces in the historical, political, intellectual, linguistic, and aesthetic realms. Yang Mu's humanist sensibility has offered critical insights into the dangers of binary opposition and ideological thinking. His poetry has appealed to readers worldwide and is accessible in English, French, German, Dutch, Swedish, Japanese, and Korean translations. This study of Yang Mu's poetics examines the writer's literary choices from a cross-cultural perspective, highlighting the relationship between issues of international concern and modern cultural theories. Yang Mu's dialogic lyric voice engages peoples from different eras and cultures. This is achieved by addressing contemporary crises between nations or by responding to philosophical questions about identity.

memory and time Yang Mu's works exhibit a true transcultural outlook that will significantly contribute to the development of 21st century world poetry

The Genres of Thomson's The Seasons Sandro Jung, Kwinten Van De Walle, 2018-09-01 Critics since the eighteenth century have puzzled over the form of James Thomson's composite long poem The Seasons 1730 1744 1746 its generically hybrid make up and its relationship to established genres both Classical and modern The textual condition of the work is complicated by the fact that it started as a stand alone poem Winter 1726 but was subsequently expanded as part of a revision process that lasted almost two decades through the addition of three further seasons poems Transforming from primarily devotional poem to georgic account of the role of man's laboring role in the creation the meaning of The Seasons shifted with each addition of new material Each revision introduced diverse subject matter while existing material was reorganized and occasionally moved from one season installment to another The Genres of Thomson's The Seasons is the first collection of essays exclusively devoted to the study of the work's formal heterogeneity polyvocality and polygeneric character All contributions examine the different modes descriptive reflective pastoral hymnal amatory epic georgic dramatic discourses political sentimental scientific and kinds that cooperate to make up the different installments and variants of The Seasons They probe the multifarious interactions between different genres and modes and how a renewed focus on the form of Thomson's long poem will result in an understanding of the processual character of The Seasons as a synthesizing simulacrum of various discourses and theories of composition The volume's essays map the generic anatomy of the poem in its different incarnations They shed light on the poet's conception of the descriptive long poem and his engaging with formal traditions that would have enabled contemporaneous readers to conceive of The Seasons as an assimilating and learned work to be read through both the works of the Classics and moderns Contributions revisit models explaining the structural complexity of The Seasons proposing others in their stead and consider Thomson as the author of a long poem in relation to other poets both English and in a transnational study Swedish The poem is furthermore contextualized in terms of sexuality and animal studies The Poetry of Erasmus Darwin Martin Priestman, 2016-02-24 While historians of science have focused significant attention on Erasmus Darwin's scientific ideas and milieu relatively little attention has been paid to Darwin as a literary writer In The Poetry of Erasmus Darwin Enlightened Spaces Romantic Times Martin Priestman situates Darwin's three major poems The Loves of the Plants 1789 The Economy of Vegetation 1791 and The Temple of Nature 1803 and Darwin himself within a large polymathic late Enlightenment network of other scientists writers thinkers and social movers and shakers Interpreting Darwin's poetry in terms of Darwin's broader sense of the poetic text as a material space he posits a significant shift from the Enlightenment's emphases on conceptual spaces to the Romantic period's emphases on historical time He shows how Darwin's poetry illuminates his stance toward all the major physical sciences and his well formulated theories of evolution and materially based psychology Priestman's study also offers the first substantial accounts of Darwin's mythological theories and their links to Enlightenment Rosicrucianism and Freemasonry and of the reading of history that emerges from the fragment poem The Progress of Society a first ever printed edition of which is included in an appendix Ultimately Priestman's book offers readers a sustained account of Darwin's polymathic Enlightenment worldview and cognate poetics in a period when texts are too often judged by their adherence to a retrospectively constructed Romanticism Modern Philology, 1915 Vols 30-54 include 1932-56 of Victorian bibliography prepared by a committee of the Victorian Literature Group of the Modern Language Association of America Structure and Meaning in Medieval Arabic and Persian Lyric Poetry Julie Meisami, 2003-09-02 This is the first comprehensive and comparative study of compositional and stylistic techniques in medieval Arabic and Persian lyric poetry Ranging over some seven countries it deals with works by over thirty poets in the Islamic world from Spain to present day Afghanistan and examines how this rich poetic traditions exhibits both continuity and development in the use of a wide variety of compositional strategies Discussing such topics as principles of structural organisation the use of rhetorical figures metaphor and images and providing detailed analyses of a large number of poetic texts it shows how structural and semantic features interacted to bring coherence and meaning to the individual poem It also examines works by the indigenous critics of poetry in both Arabic and Persian and demonstrates the critics awareness of and interest in the techniques which poets employed to construct poems which were both eloquent and meaningful Comparisons are also made with classical and medieval poetics in the west The book will be of interest not merely to specialists in the relevant fields but also to all those interested in pre modern poetry and poetics The Virtue of Sympathy Seth Lobis, 2015-01-06 Beginning with an analysis of Shakespeare's The Tempest and building to a new reading of Milton's Paradise Lost author Seth Lobis charts a profound change in the
