Quality And Quantity The Quest For Biological Regeneration In Twentieth Century France:

Quality and Quantity William H. Schneider, 2002-08-08 This book first published in 2001 is an account of eugenicists efforts to improve the inherited biological quality of the French population Eugenics and Nation in Early 20th Century Hungary M. Turda, 2014-03-25 In 1900 Hungary was a regional power in Europe with imperial pretensions by 1919 it was crippled by profound territorial social and national transformations This book chronicles the development of eugenic thinking in early twentieth century Hungary examining how eugenics was an integral part of this dynamic historical transformation

Psychoanalysis and the family in twentieth-century France Richard Bates, 2022-02-08 In the last quarter of the twentieth century if French people had a parenting problem or dilemma there was one person they consulted above all Fran oise Dolto 1908 88 But who was Dolto How did she achieve a position of such influence What ideas did she communicate to the French public This book connects the story of Dolto s rise to two broader histories the dramatic growth of psychoanalysis in postwar France and the long running debate over the family and the proper role of women in society It shows that Dolto s continued reputation in France as a liberal and enlightened educational thinker is at best only partially deserved and that conservative and anti feminist ideas often underpinned her prominent public interventions While Dolto retains the status of a national treasure her career has had far reaching and sometimes harmful repercussions for French society particularly in the treatment of autism

The Oxford Handbook of the History of Eugenics Alison Bashford, Philippa Levine, 2010-09-24 Eugenic thought and practice swept the world from the late nineteenth to the mid twentieth century in a remarkable transnational phenomenon Eugenics informed social and scientific policy across the political spectrum from liberal welfare measures in emerging social democratic states to feminist ambitions for birth control from public health campaigns to totalitarian dreams of the perfectibility of man This book dispels for uninitiated readers the automatic and apparently exclusive link between eugenics and the Holocaust It is the first world history of eugenics and an indispensable core text for both teaching and research Eugenics has accumulated generations of interest as experts attempted to connect biology human capacity and policy In the past and the present eugenics speaks to questions of race class gender and sex evolution governance nationalism disability and the social implications of science In the current climate in which the human genome project stem cell research and new reproductive technologies have proven so controversial the history of eugenics has much to teach us about the relationship between scientific research technology and human ethical decision making

In the Museum of Man Alice L. Conklin, 2013-10-04 In the Museum of Man offers new insight into the thorny relationship between science society and empire at the high water mark of French imperialism and European racism Alice L Conklin takes us into the formative years of French anthropology and social theory between 1850 and 1900 then deep into the practice of anthropology under the name of ethnology both in Paris and in the empire before and especially after World War I and finally into the fate of the discipline and its practitioners under the German Occupation and its immediate aftermath Conklin addresses the influence exerted by academic networks museum collections and imperial connections in defining human diversity socioculturally rather than biologically especially in the wake of resurgent anti-Semitism at the time of the Dreyfus Affair and in the 1930s and 1940s Students of the progressive social scientist Marcel Mauss were exposed to the ravages of imperialism in the French colonies where they did fieldwork as a result they began to challenge both colonialism and the scientific racism that provided its intellectual justification Indeed a number of them were killed in the Resistance fighting for the humanist values they had learned from their teachers and in the field A riveting story of a close knit community of scholars who came to see all societies as equally complex In the Museum of Man serves as a reminder that if scientific expertise once authorized racism anthropologists also learned to rethink their paradigms and mobilize against racial prejudice a lesson well worth remembering today Race and Nation in Modern Latin America Nancy P.

Appelbaum, Anne S. Macpherson, Karin Alejandra Rosemblatt, 2003-11-20 This collection brings together innovative historical work on race and national identity in Latin America and the Caribbean and places this scholarship in the context of interdisciplinary and transnational discussions regarding race and nation in the Americas Moving beyond debates about whether ideologies of racial democracy have actually served to obscure discrimination the book shows how notions of race and nationhood have varied over time across Latin America's political landscapes Framing the themes and questions explored in the volume the editors introduction also provides an overview of the current state of the interdisciplinary literature on race and nation state formation Essays on the postindependence period in Belize Brazil Colombia Cuba Mexico Panama and Peru consider how popular and elite racial constructs have developed in relation to one another and to processes of nation building Contributors also examine how ideas regarding racial and national identities have been gendered and ask how racialized constructions of nationhood have shaped and limited the citizenship rights of subordinated groups The contributors are Sueann Caulfield Sarah C Chambers Lillian Guerra Anne S Macpherson Aims McGuinness Gerardo Renique James Sanders Alexandra Minna Stern and Barbara Weinstein From Vichy to the Sexual Revolution

Sarah Fishman, 2017 In the decades after World War II French ideas about gender and family life underwent dramatic changes laying the groundwork for the sexual revolution of the 1960s This book offers a broad view of changing lives and ideas about love courtship marriage giving birth parenting childhood and adolescence in France from the Vichy regime to the sexual revolution of 1960s The Measure of Merit John Carson, 2025-10-28 A wide ranging account of American and French understandings of merit talent and intelligence over the past two centuries How have modern democracies squared their commitment to equality with their fear that disparities in talent and intelligence might be natural persistent and consequential John Carson tells the fascinating story of how two nations wrestled scientifically with human inequalities and their social and political implications Surveying a broad array of political tracts philosophical treatises scientific works and journalistic writings Carson chronicles the gradual embrace of the IQ version of intelligence in the United States while in France the birthplace of the modern intelligence test expert judgment was consistently prized above such quantitative measures He also reveals the crucial role that determinations of and contests over merit have played in both societies they have helped to organize educational systems justify racial hierarchies classify army recruits and direct individuals onto particular educational and career paths A contribution to both the history of science and intellectual history The Measure of Merit illuminates the shadow languages of inequality that have haunted the American and French republics since their inceptions

Enlightenment Biopolitics William Max Nelson, 2024-05-06 A wide ranging history tracing the birth of biopolitics in Enlightenment thought and its aftermath In Enlightenment Biopolitics historian William Max Nelson pursues the ambitious task of tracing the context in which biopolitical thought emerged and circulated He locates that context in the Enlightenment when emancipatory ideals sat alongside the horrors of colonialism slavery and race based discrimination In fact these did not just coexist Nelson argues they were actually mutually constitutive of Enlightenment ideals In this book Nelson focuses on Enlightenment era visions of eugenics including proposals to establish programs of selective breeding forms of penal slavery and spurious biological arguments about the supposed inferiority of particular groups The Enlightenment he shows was rife with efforts to shape harness and organize the minds and especially the bodies of subjects and citizens In his reading of the birth of biopolitics and its transformations Nelson examines the shocking conceptual and practical connections between inclusion and exclusion equality and inequality rights and race and the supposed improvement of the human species and practices of dehumanization

The Changing Image of the Sciences Ida H. Stamhuis, Teun Koetsier, Cornelis De Pater, Albert Van Helden, 2012-12-06 The title of our book would lead the reader to believe that in speaking of the changing image of the sciences we are taking for granted the multiplicity of sciences as these are practiced for instance in modern universities That was of course not always the case Although we can point to some subjects for instance mathematical astronomy as being demarcated to some extent from other subjects as far back as Antiquity the current division into individual sciences can hardly be traced back further than the nineteenth century Moreover the further we go back in history the more we must subsume science under general knowledge or scholarship scientia Some of the earliest images of episteme or scientia are those of forbidden knowledge often related to technology on the one hand and the absent minded scholar on the other These are powerful metaphors in word as well as image that have been appropriated in various ages for different purposes The Greeks gave Western society its first images of the power of knowledge and those who produced it Prometheus ridiculed the gods stole their fire and brought it down to Earth For this Zeus had him chained to a rock on Mount Caucasus where a vulture fed on his liver during the day while it grew back at night He was finally freed by Heracles

The History of Public Health and the Modern State, 2020-06-22 Since George Rosen's comprehensive History of Public Health first published in 1956 there has been no internationally comparative survey of the subject Over the past three decades or so however research in this field has expanded rapidly especially with regard to the history of disease and social order and public health politics and the state Most of these studies have been highly scholarly and specialised and often dealing with only one aspect of public health in any one national context The essays here examine the road history of public health in different national contexts in order to provide a work of comparative reference that could be used as a teaching aid The book focuses on whether the construction of a public health system is an inherent characteristic of the managerial function of modern political systems Thus each essay traces the steps leading to the growth of health government in various nations examining the specific conflicts and contradictions which each incurred As a result the volume highlights the need for further comparative analysis of public health systems as a highly fruitful topic for future study

Civilization without Sexes Mary Louise Roberts, 2009-02-15 In the raucous decade following World War I newly blurred boundaries between male and female created fears among the French that theirs was becoming a civilization without sexes This new gender confusion became a central metaphor for the War's impact on French culture and led to a marked increase in public debate concerning female identity and woman's proper role Mary Louise Roberts examines how in these debates French society came to grips with the catastrophic horrors of the Great War In sources as diverse as parliamentary records newspaper articles novels medical texts writings on sexology and vocational literature Roberts discovers a central question how to come to terms with rapid economic social and cultural change and articulate a new order of social relationships She examines the role of French trauma concerning the War in legislative efforts to ban propaganda for abortion and contraception and explains anxieties about the decline of maternity by a crisis in gender relations that linked soldiery virility and paternity Through these debates Roberts locates the seeds of actual change She shows how the willingness to entertain or simply the need to condemn nontraditional gender roles created an indecisiveness over female identity that ultimately subverted even the most conservative efforts to return to traditional gender roles and irrevocably altered the social organization of gender in postwar France
