Moral Topographies Johanna Vogel, 2018 This qualitative study asks whether structural transformation brought about by modernization in contemporary urban India can induce growing equality in the sense of mutual respect between the lower and the middle classes From the idographic context of female domestic workers and their employers in Chennai Tamil Nadu a general type of modernity for the periphery is outlined Even though changes in this relation are apparent and various forms of respect and recognition are developing the deep hierarchical differences persist despite or precisely because of modernity in the form of capitalism Johanna Vogel Dr studied Intercultural Business Studies at the University of Passau and received 2017 her PhD in Human Geography at the University of Bayreuth Scripts of Servitude Beatriz P. Lorente, 2017-10-19
This book examines how language is a central resource in transforming migrant women into transnational domestic workers Focusing on the migration of women from the Philippines to Singapore the book unpacks why and how language is embedded in the infrastructure of transnational labor migration that links migrant sending and migrant receiving countries It sheds light on the everyday lives of transnational domestic workers and how they draw on their linguistic repertoires and in particular on English as they cross geographical and social spaces By showing how the transnational mobility of labor is dependent on the selection and performance of particular assemblages of linguistic resources that index migrants as labor and not as people the book provides a powerful lens with which to examine how migration contributes to relationships of inequality and how such inequalities are produced and challenged on the terrain of language
