Derrida Simon Wortham,2008-07-23 Derrida wrote a vast number of texts for particular events across the world as well as a series of works that portray him as a voyager As an Algerian migr a postcolonial outsider and an idiomatic writer who felt tied to a language that was not his own and as a figure obsessed by the singularity of the literary or philosophical event Derrida emerges as one whose thought always arrives on occasion But how are we to understand the event in Derrida Is there a risk that such stories of Derrida s work tend to misunderstand the essential unpredictability at work in the conditions of his thought And how are we to reconcile the importance in Derrida of the unknowable event the pull of the singular with deconstruction s critical and philosophical rigour and its claims to rethink more systematically the ethico political field This book argues that this negotiation in fact allows deconstruction to reformulate the very questions that we associate with ethical and political responsibility and shows this to be the central interest in Derrida s work

Postmodern Interviewing Jaber F. Gubrium,James A. Holstein,2003-03-21 Interview roles are less clear than they once were and in some cases the roles are even exchanged to promote new opportunities for understanding the shape and evolution of selves and experience Postmodern Interviewing offers readers an exploration of the postmodern interview a conversation with diverse purposes in which the communicative format is constructed as much within the interview conversation as it stems from predesignated research interests It provides cutting edge discussions of emerging horizons featuring reflexivity poetics and power along with discussions of new ways of gathering experiential knowledge Employing concepts from anthropology family studies history and sociology the contributors present the ambitious new directions in which the interview has gone such as How the interview process is refracted through the lens of language knowledge culture and difference How the dividing line between fact and fiction is blurred to promote richer understanding How standardized representation has given way to representational invention By exploring these exciting developments readers will be exposed to the engaging opportunities for understanding the shape and evolution of selves and social worlds that are made possible through changes in the interview process This volume is comprised of chapters from the Handbook of Interview Research Gubrium and Holstein SAGE 2001 The companion volume Inside Interviewing SAGE 2003 is also comprised of chapters from the Handbook

Reimagining Rapport Zane Goebel, 2021-01-18 To do ethnography a researcher must have rapport with research subjects But what is rapport Ethnography and ethnographic methods have increasingly become a feature of social inquiry in general and sociolinguistics in particular and rapport is generally considered a prerequisite for fieldwork And yet unlike related terms such as communication and phatic communion this concept has remained largely unexamined Reimagining Rapport turns a critical eye to the use of the term rapport across disciplines The collection analyzes the very idea of rapport both exploring how it has been shaped by historical forces and actors within sociocultural anthropology and questioning its usefulness Rather than viewing the term as simply denoting a type of positive social relationship that needs to be formed between researcher and consultant before research can begin this book invites us to reimagine rapport theoretically methodologically and meta methodologically Zane Goebel and other leading sociolinguists challenge readers to think about how rapport has been constructed within these disciplines and ultimately to see rapport as an emergent co constructed social relationship that is actively built during situated multimodal encounters The contributors collectively examine the role of ideology and mediation in the construction of rapport and argue that reconceptualizing research subject relationships is essential for establishing more sophisticated ways of understanding interpreting and representing research context A valuable resource for scholars and students of sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology as well as for others engaged in ethnographic fieldwork Reimagining Rapport is the first collection to provide an in depth investigation of this critically important but previously unexamined concept

Theo-Drama: Theological Dramatic Theory, Vol. 4 Hans Urs von Balthasar, 1988-01-01 Having presented his christology and mariology under the sign of the Dramatis Personae in volume three of Theo Drama von Balthasar now turns to the action of the divine drama itself Here we find his soteriology where time freedom history power sin conflict are seen in the light of the Cross the culmination of the action and passion of God and man As Balthasar expresses it in the conclusion to his preface here we discern the unity of glory and the dramatic God s glory as it appears in the world supremely in Christ is not something static that could be observed by a neutral investigator It manifests itself only through the personal involvement whereby God himself comes forth to do battle and is both victor and vanquished If this glory is to come within our range at all an analogous initiative is called for on our part Revelation is a battlefield Those who do battle on it can only be believers and theologians provided they have equipped themselves with the whole armor of God Eph 6 11

Theory and the Disappearing Future Tom Cohen, Claire Colebrook, J. Hillis Miller, with a manuscript by Paul de Man, 2011-11-10 Paul de Man is often associated with an era of high theory an era it is argued may now be coming to a close This book written by three leading contemporary scholars includes both a transcript and facsimile print of a previously unpublished text by de Man of his handwritten notes for a lecture on Walter Benjamin Challenging and relevant this volume presents de Man s work as a critical resource for dealing with the most important questions of the twenty first century and argues for the place of theory within it The humanities are flooded with crises of globalism capitalism and terrorism contemporary narratives of financial collapse viral annihilation species extinction environmental disaster and terrorist destruction Cohen Colebrook and Miller draw out the implications of these crises and their narratives and reflecting on this work by de Man explore the limits of political thinking of historical retrieval and the ethics of archives and cultural memory
