Reading In A Second Language Process Product And Practice:

Reading in a Second Language William Grabe, Junko Yamashita, 2022-09-08 Understanding reading abilities and their development is fundamental for language comprehension and human cognition. Now in its second edition, this book draws on research from multiple disciplines to explain reading abilities in both L1 and L2 and shows how this research can be applied in practice in order to support reading development. Research into reading has progressed a great deal since the first edition was published, so this edition has been completely updated and revised in order to reflect these advances. All chapters present updated research studies and completely new chapters are included on the neurocognition of reading, reading-writing relationships, and digital reading. If you want to know how reading works, no matter the languages involved, as well as how it can be taught effectively, this book provides a persuasive research foundation and many practical insights. It is essential reading for academic researchers and students in Applied Linguistics and TESOL. Reading in a Second Language A. H. Urquhart, 1998

Reading in a Second Language William Grabe, 2009 Abstract The Use of L1 Cognitive Resources in L2 Reading by Chinese EFL Learners Shiyu Wu, 2016-05-20 This book focuses on the effects of L1 cognitive resources on L2 reading, e.g., the effects of L1 reading ability, the ability in L1 mental structure building, L1 cognitive use in L2 reading, and other related cognitive mechanisms and capacities of EFL learners in China. It integrates test-based and product-oriented as well as VPA-based verbal protocol analysis and process-oriented experiments to address the problems of reading in a second language. This book provides several theoretical, methodological, and pedagogical insights, including the multidimensional nature of L2 reading and Vygotskian sociocultural theory as a suitable L2 reading framework, combined approaches on L2 studies, and the rewarding active use of L1 cognitive resources in L2 learning.

Teaching and Learning Chinese as a Foreign or Second Language: The Educational Psychology Perspective Yang Frank Gong, Chun Lai, Jinghe Han, Chan Lu, Sihui Echo Ke, 2024-02-21 Over the past two decades, Chinese as a foreign or second language (CFL/CSL) has been increasingly taught and learnt as an important language both within and outside China. Studies in the field have attempted to address deep-seated tensions between existing educational ideologies, concepts, strategies, and approaches and student learning process and performance, and between existent teaching methods and techniques and the globalization of Chinese language education.

Language as Discourse Michael McCarthy, Ronald Carter, 2014-07-22 In this book, Michael McCarthy and Ronald Carter describe the discursive properties of language and demonstrate what insights this approach can offer to the student and teacher of language. The authors examine the relationship between complete texts, both spoken and written, and the social and cultural contexts in which they function. They argue that the functions of language are often best understood in a discursive environment and that exploring language in context compels us to revise commonly held understandings about the forms and meanings of language. In so doing, the authors argue the need for language teachers, syllabus planners, and curriculum organisers to give greater attention to language as discourse.

Managing Evaluation and Innovation in

Language Teaching Pauline Rea Dickins, Kevin Germaine, 2014-06-11 Managing Evaluation and Innovation in Language Teaching focuses on the connections to be made between evaluation and change in language education with a specific focus on English Language Teaching The book demonstrates the central importance of evaluation in relation to language projects and programmes the management of change and innovation and in improving language teacher development The introductory chapter provides an overview of the present trends in evaluation as well as offering examples of recent evaluation projects Subsequent chapters identify contemporary issues in evaluation and their relevance to language teaching covering a number of cultural and ethnographic studies in evaluation management in different world wide contexts as well as drawing insights from other related disciplines The editors seek to draw attention to the possibilities of inter disciplinary exchange to inform the reader of current practice and highlight emerging issues in the expanding field of evaluation in language teaching especially in ELT The contemporary nature of the studies presented here will be relevant to both post graduate students following language education programmes as well as to professionals involved in language teaching It will be of particular interest to those involved in the management of innovation and the evaluation of projects and programmes such as curriculum developers Director of Studies and professionals with a special responsibility for bringing about change in language teaching contexts

Testing the Hierarchical Order of Reading

Skills: A Multifaceted Rasch Approach Noor Lide Abu Kassim, 2024-12-11 It is well established in reading assessment that the same reading skills may vary in difficulty which makes it almost impossible to come to a definite conclusion on the hierarchy of skills This is primarily due to the influences of test or item characteristics on the difficulty level of an item These include the item format context type question type explicitness or implicitness of information students test taking skills text type and text length Given the critical role that reading plays in literacy development and learning this research is hoped to assist researchers and teacher practitioners in understanding what reading skills are how they have been conceptualised and how they can be tested It is also hoped that this book will be a reference for researchers who are interested in using the Many facets Rasch Model and the FACETS software to investigate the hierarchical ordering of reading skills or any other language skills

Measured Constructs Cyril J. Weir, Ivana Vidaković, Evelina D. Galaczi, 2013-05-23 This volume establishes how English language constructs were measured in Cambridge English examinations over the period 1913 to 2012. An addition to the Studies in Language Testing series, this volume provides an overview of English language testing over the last century with coverage of key theoretical and practical aspects of the assessment of reading, listening, writing, and speaking skills. It includes examples of the Cambridge English exams, old and new, and is the first volume to describe in a systematic way the different theoretical influences which have shaped the development of the constructs underlying Cambridge English exams in the last 100 years.
