Reading the Popular in Contemporary Spanish Fiction Nickianne Moody, 2004-12 Although Spain has one of the lowest per capita rates of book buying in Europe popular and mass market print fiction is perennially in demand The essays in this volume assess the appeal of popular genres such as the detective novel romance and science fiction to particular groups of readers and consider what makes a bestseller in the Spanish context They look at how reader taste is directed by nonacademic book buying magazines and analyze the political intentions of seemingly innocuous comics and popular novels with particular reference to women s writing Montalban Esther Tusquets or Carmen Martin Gaité decide to incorporate the themes devices and structures of mass cultural products into their highbrow literature The wide ranging nature of this volume and its fusion of textual analysis and theoretical overview provide unique access to aspects of Spanish mass popular and high literature hitherto largely ignored by the critics Shelley Godsland is Jubilee Research Fellow Department of Hispanic Studies Royal Holloway University of London Nickiane Moody is principal lecturer in Media and Cultural Studies at Liverpool John Moores University

Post-war Spanish Women Novelists and the Recuperation of Historical Memory Patricia O'Byrne, 2014 The passing of Spain's Law of Historical Memory 2007 marked the official recognition of the need to confront a violent and painful past Article 2 makes reference to specific groups who experienced discrimination including religious and ethnic communities no reference is made to the gender repression endured by women enforced by a patriarchal regime through its legislation and policies with the active support of the Church and the Women's Section of the Falange Revised narratives of the period that have emerged in recent decades have raised issues in relation to the reliability and selectivity of memory and its ongoing mediation by intervening events While documentary sources of the period are prejudicial contemporaneous post war testimonial novels provide an invaluable resource in reconstructing the past particularly the novels of women writers This book draws on their narrative to reconstruct the female experience of the post war years and in particular on the writings of novelists whose work has undeservedly been disregarded Neither the experience of women under Franco nor the narrative of women writers of the period should be forgotten Patricia O'Byrne lectures in Hispanic Studies and Comparative Literature at Dublin City University
