Constellations of Reading Carlo Salzani, 2009 How to read Walter Benjamin today This book argues that the proper way is through an approach which recognizes and respects his own peculiar theorization of the act of reading and the politics of interpretation that this entails The approach must be figural that is focused on images and driven by the notion of actualization Figural reading in the very sui generis Benjaminian way understands figures as constellations whereby an image of the past juxtaposes them with an image of the present and is thus actualized To apply this method to Benjamin s own work means first to identify some figures The book singles out the Fl neur the Detective the Prostitute and the Ragpicker and then sets them alongside a contemporary account of the same figure the Fl neur in Juan Goytisolo s Landscapes after the Battle 1982 the Detective in Paul Auster s New York Trilogy 1987 the Prostitute in Dacia Maraini s Dialogue between a Prostitute and her Client 1973 and the Ragpicker in Mudrooroo s The Mudrooroo M ller Project 1993 The book thereby on the one hand analyses the politics of reading Benjamin today and on the other sets his work against a variety of contemporary aesthetics and politics of interpretation

Sex Working and the Bible Avaren Ipsen, 2014-12-18 The Bible contains many stories of prostitution Feminist and liberation readings of these biblical narratives have often made sex workers invisible Sex Working and the Bible examines stories of biblical prostitution through the experiences and understanding of sex workers today The Bible narratives ranging across Rahab in the Book of Joshua the story of Solomon and the two prostitutes the anointing women traditions and the apocalyptic vision of the whore of Babylon in Revelation are set within both a practical and theoretical framework This radical book offers a new more inclusive way of approaching issues of gender sexuality and prostitution in the Bible

Chariton of Aphrodisias and the Invention of the Greek Love Novel Stefan Tilg, 2010-05-06 The best known variety of the ancient novel sometimes identified with the ancient novel tout court is the Greek love novel The question of its origins has intrigued scholars for centuries and has been the focus of a great deal of research Stefan Tilg proposes a new solution to this ancient puzzle by arguing for a personal inventor of the genre Chariton of Aphrodisias who wrote the first Greek and with that the first European love novel Narratives about Callirhoe in the mid first century AD Tilg s conclusion is drawn on the basis of two converging lines of argument one from literary history another from Chariton's poetics and will shed fresh light upon the reception of Latin literature in the Greek world

Powers of Reading Peter Szendy, 2025-03-11 A historical literary and philosophical study that transforms our understanding of reading Peter Szendy offers a subtle persuasive and unprecedented account of the time of reading and its scene of address one that is as archaic as it is contemporary When we read are we listening to a voice or being read to If it is not a private and monologic exercise how do we understand the populated scene of reading What reads when we read and how does reading push and pull between temporalities and voices Why do we keep leaving the text when we seek to obey the injunction to stay within its terms Questions such as these produce a fresh even startling consideration of a wide range of literary and popular texts including Hobbes Leviathan Flaubert's Madame Bovary Kant's moral injunctions Sade Valéry Blanchot and de Certeau but also modern fiction film audiobooks and hypertext The power of reading turns out to belong to its surprising engagement with time and direction the deliberate reader stays close but strays tries to fill in the gaps but gets pushed back by a countercurrent The key to the text is sought outside only to be led back to the text and its failure to deliver a final answer Equally at odds with older versions of literary formalism that insist on the self-referentiality of the text as well as contextualists who scour an external social order to discover the truth of the text Szendy approaches that very conflict as an oscillation constitutive of reading itself Paradoxically reading is sustained precisely by what interrupts its teleological flow The result is a comic profound and timely reconceptualization of reading which rushes forward only to find itself pushed back into the heart of the text which discovers that this incessant breaking from the text this headlong rushing ahead to the world outside the text is a sequence of overreach delay and return that forms the ragged rhythm of reading itself Powers of Reading is a patient brilliant and illuminating inquiry into the crosscurrents of voice and address one that speaks to the speed and complexity of our time how we are upended by our forward propulsions to consider how multiple voice action and passivity are all rearranged in the scene of reading Judith Butler Distinguished Professor in the Graduate School University of California Berkeley

Robert Louis Stevenson and theories of reading Glenda Norquay, 2024-07-30 Robert Louis Stevenson and theories of reading is both an exceptionally well researched study of the novelist and well as an intriguing exploration of literary consumption Glenda Norquay presents fresh interpretations of Stevenson's literary essays of major works including The Master of Ballantrae and some of his more neglected fiction such as St Ives and The Wrecker as well as illuminating our understanding of his role within debates over popular fiction romance and reading pleasure She offers an unusual combination of literary history and reception theory and argues that Stevenson both exemplified tensions within the literary market of his time and anticipated later developments in reading theory By combining the study of nineteenth century cultural politics with detailed analysis of his Scottish Calvinism Stevenson is reassessed as both a Victorian and Scottish writer The book is aimed at scholars postgraduates and undergraduates with an interest in the nineteenth century literary marketplace in Scottish culture and in reading reception theory as well as Stevenson enthusiasts Shadow of Spirit Philippa Berry, Andrew Wernick, 2006-04-27 By illuminating the striking affinity between the most innovative aspects of postmodern thought and religious mystical discourse Shadow of Spirit challenges the long established assumption that western thought is committed to nihilism This collection of essays by internationally recognised scholars explores the implications of the fascination with the sacred divine or infinite which characterizes much contemporary thought It shows how these concerns have surfaced in the work of Derrida Baudrillard Lyotard Kristeva Irigaray and others Examining the connection between this postmodern turn and the current search for a new discourse of ethics and politics it also stresses the contribution made by feminist thought to this unexpected intellectual direction Reading Other-wise Gerald O. works were written revised published and performed in relation to this complex web of social forces Chapters of Dante Gabriel Rossetti Bernard Shaw Virginia Woolf James Joyce and Jean Rhys demonstrate that by both reacting against and complying with the forces of repression writers reaped personal and stylistic benefits for themselves and for society at large

Ngugi wa Thiong'o, Gender, and the Ethics of Postcolonial Reading Brendon Nicholls, 2016-05-06 This is the first comprehensive book length study of gender politics in Ngugi wa Thiong'o's fiction Brendon Nicholls argues that mechanisms of gender subordination are strategically crucial to Ngugi's ideological project from his first novel to his most recent one Nicholls describes the historical pressures that lead Ngugi to represent women as he does and shows that the novels themselves are symptomatic of the cultural conditions that they address Reading Ngugi's fiction in terms of its Gikuyu allusions and references a gendered narrative of history emerges that creates transgressive spaces for women Nicholls bases his discussion on moments during the Mau Mau rebellion when women's contributions to the anticolonial struggle could not be reduced to a patriarchal narrative of Kenyan history and this interpretive maneuver permits a reading of Ngugi's fiction that accommodates female political and sexual agency Nicholls contributes to postcolonial theory by proposing a methodology for reading cultural difference This methodology critiques cultural practices like clitoridectomy in an ethical manner that seeks to avoid both cultural imperialism and cultural relativism His strategy of performative reading that is making the conditions of one text such as folklore history or translation active in another for example fiction literary narrative or nationalism makes possible an ethical reading of gender and of the conditions of reading in translation

Poets Before Homer Delbert R. Hillers, 2015-02-18 This volume collects and reprints many of Delbert R Hillers's most important published essays and articles his long out of print Treaty Curses and the Old Testament Prophets and three previously unpublished essays including the aforementioned Poets Before Homer Archaeology and the Western Literary Tradition Hillers gave the latter as the 1992 William Foxwell Albright Lecture at The Johns Hopkins University and in it uses Ernst Robert Curtius's European Literature and the Latin Middle Ages with its topological method as a model for exploring the connections of the most ancient Near Eastern literatures including the Bible to later Western literature Though one of his latest pieces of writing Poets Before Homer represents as Hillers himself recognized a fairly clear statement of what he had been doing in much of his earlier scholarship and the volume collects the best of this earlier scholarship Most of these essays work themselves out from a particular passage theme topos image or grammatical issue and gain their interpretive vantage point by reading said passage etc comparatively whether in light of relevant ancient Near Eastern and or more recent

European literary parallels or with reference to some more theoretical interest such as modern linguistic theory Hillers's habit of mind ran toward the particular toward the individual detail His genius if this word may be used was in his capacity to seize upon one aspect of some larger entity problem or topic to work it through thoroughly and as often as not decisively all the while resisting the temptation to take up the larger perhaps unsolvable complex of which the detail or problem was but a part The worked example is the Hillersian trademark exemplum followed by moralisatio and Poets Before Homer collects all of his best

Greek Prostitutes in the Ancient Mediterranean, 800 BCE-200 CE Allison Glazebrook, Madeleine M. Henry, 2011-01-06 Greek Prostitutes in the Ancient Mediterranean 800 BCE-200 CE challenges the often romanticized view of the prostitute as an urbane and liberated courtesan by examining the social and economic realities of the sex industry in Greco-Roman culture Departing from the conventional focus on elite society these essays consider the Greek prostitute as displaced foreigner slave and member of an urban underclass The contributors draw on a wide range of material and textual evidence to discuss portrayals of prostitutes on painted vases and in the literary tradition their roles at symposia Greek drinking parties and their place in the everyday life of the polis Reassessing many assumptions about the people who provided and purchased sexual services this volume yields a new look at gender sexuality urbanism and economy in the ancient Mediterranean world
