Reading Womens Lives Second Edition:

Helpmates, Harlots, and Heroes, Second Edition Alice Ogden Bellis, 2007-07-03 This best selling book now revised and updated shares the work of many feminist biblical scholars who have examined women's stories for several years. These stories are powerful accounts of women in the Old Testament stories that have profoundly affected how women understand themselves as well as men's perception of them. Here Alice Bellis shares the research of feminist biblical scholarship during a quarter of a century which renders a vast amount of refreshing exciting sometimes disturbing material. Academic Reading - Second Edition Janet Giltrow, 2002-03-21 This reader has been designed to accompany Giltrow's Academic Writing one of the key principles of which is that there is a close connection between the processes of reading and of writing academic prose. Each reading is preceded by introductory commentary questions and suggestions for discussion and the book also includes a brief general introduction. As with Giltrow's Academic Writing her Academic Reading is a challenging text. At its core are examples of actual academic writing of the sort that students must learn to deal with daily and to write themselves. As newcomers to the scholarly community students can find that community's ways of reading and writing mysterious unpredictable and intimidating. Academic Reading demystifies the scholarly genres shedding light on their discursive conventions. Throughout Academic Reading respects the student writer it engages the reader's interest without ever condescending and it avoids entirely the arbitrary and the dogmatic. The second edition is expanded to include twenty one selections nineteen of which come from scholarly publications and more than half of which are new to this edition.

Reading Canadian Women's and Gender History Nancy Janovicek, Carmen Nielson, 2019-05-06 Inspired by the question of what's next in the field of Canadian women's and gender history this broadly historiographical volume represents a conversation among established and emerging scholars who share a commitment to understanding the past from intersectional feminist perspectives. It includes original essays on Quebecois Indigenous Black and immigrant women's histories and tackles such diverse topics as colonialism religion labour warfare sexuality and reproductive labour and justice. Intended as a regenerative retrospective of a critically important field this collection both engages analytically with the current state of women's and gender historiography in Canada and draws on its rich past to generate new knowledge and areas for inquiry. Staging Women's Lives in Academia Michelle A. Massé, Nan Bauer-Maglin, 2017-01-12 Staging Women's Lives in Academia demonstrates how ostensibly personal decisions are shaped by institutions and advocates for ways that workplaces not women must be changed. Addressing life stages ranging from graduate school through retirement these essays represent a gamut of institutions and women who draw upon both personal experience and scholarly expertise. The contributors contemplate the slipperiness of the very categories we construct to explain the stages of life and ask key questions such as what does it mean to be a graduate student at fifty Or a full professor at thirty five. The book explores the ways women in all stages of academia feel that they are always too young or too old too attentive to work or too overly focused on family By including the voices of those who leave as well as those who stay this collection signals the need to rebuild the house of academia so that women can have not only classrooms of their own but also lives of their own
