Dry Times Mark Stafford Smith, Julian Cribb, 2009 With knowledge from our deserts Australians can reshape the human story Dry Times Blueprint for a Red Land provides new insights into how our desert environments and institutions work and how this affects the people living in them Aboriginal and non Aboriginal alike

The Ekistics of Animal and Human Conflict Rishi Dev, 2016-09-01 Urban wildlife management is a town planning subject It is logical and important to relate the animal and human conflict seen all over the world as a phenomenon which is applicable to all types of human settlements despite the diversities and complexities of cultures societal structures laws value systems religions and so on A universal principle or theory governs and applies to all cities which define these conditions and phenomena creating the conflict or coexistence This book investigates the niches of one of the key urban animals from a syntactic semantic and pragmatic perspective and explores how these niches are naturally synonymous to similar patterns structures and compositions within human settlements It explores and defines the demographic patterns thresholds and phenomenon which leads to formation of the different levels and extremes of interaction between the species This forms a paradigm which classifies this conflict within the various disciplines and frameworks of urban ecology The focus is primarily on urban dogs it being a keystone species but is later related with other urban animals as well The premise for this approach is that history has shown how certain species have persuasively coexisted with humans for so many millennia yet a conflict happens between animals and humans and within humans over animals It is thus logical to believe that the forces which create this conflict cannot solely be natural to the species in question and have to come from outside from the settlement patterns of both species and the net resultant force and dynamics The book looks at these dichotomies in four distinct but interrelated ways It delves deep inside four niches which form the dynamics of any settlement spatial cultural ecological and economic and explores all scales at which the succession and evolution of animals take place in highly urbanized settlements

The extended self Chris Abel, 2016-10-28 In this wide ranging study of architecture and cultural evolution the author argues that underlying the global environmental crisis is a general resistance to changing personal and social identities shaped by a technology based culture and its energy hungry products The book traces the roots of that culture to the coevolution of Homo sapiens and technology from the first use of tools as artificial extensions of the human body to the motorised cities spreading around the world whose uncontrolled effects are changing the planet itself Advancing a new concept of the meme called the technical meme as the primary agent of cognitive extension and technical embodiment the author proposes a theory of the extended self encompassing material and spatial as well as psychological and social elements Drawing upon research from philosophy psychology and the neurosciences the book presents a new approach to environmental and cultural studies that will appeal to a broad readership searching for insights into the crisis Animal Welfare and Meat Production Neville G. Gregory, Temple Grandin, 2007-01-01 It is essential reading for students and practitioners in animal welfare and animal science and will also be of interest to readers in meat veterinary and food sciences and applied ethology BOOK JACKET The Spectator ,1898
