Cross-X Joe Miller, 2007-10-02 In Cross X journalist Joe Miller follows the Kansas City Central High School s debate squad through the 2002 season that ends with a top ten finish at the national championships in Atlanta By almost all measures Central is just another failing inner city school Ninety nine percent of the students are minorities Only one in three graduate Test scores are so low that Missouri bureaucrats have declared the school academically deficient But week after week a crew of Central kids heads off to debate tournaments in suburbs across the Midwest and South where they routinely beat teams from top ranked schools In a game of fast talking wit and sheer brilliance these students close the achievement gap between black and white students an accomplishment that educators and policy makers across the country have been striving toward for years Here is the riveting and poignant story of four debaters and their coach as they battle formidable opponents from elite prep schools bureaucrats who seem maddeningly determined to hold them back friends and family who are mired in poverty and drug addiction and perhaps most daunting their own self destructive choices In the end Miller finds himself on a campaign to change debate itself certain that these students from the Eastside of Kansas City may be the saviors of a game that is intrinsic to American democracy

Ring Shout, Wheel About Katrina Dyonne Thompson,2014-01-30 In this ambitious project historian Katrina Thompson examines the conceptualization and staging of race through the performance sometimes coerced of black dance from the slave ship to the minstrel stage Drawing on a rich variety of sources Thompson explicates how black musical performance was used by white Europeans and Americans to justify enslavement perpetuate the existing racial hierarchy and mask the brutality of the domestic slave trade Whether on slave ships at the auction block or on plantations whites often used coerced performances to oppress and demean the enslaved As Thompson shows however blacks backstage use of musical performance often served quite a different purpose Through creolization and other means enslaved people preserved some native musical and dance traditions and invented or adopted new traditions that built community and even aided rebellion Thompson shows how these traditions evolved into nineteenth century minstrelsy and ultimately raises the question of whether today s mass media performances and depictions of African Americans are so very far removed from their troublesome roots

Shouting Down the Silence David C Dougherty,2010-10-01 Shouting Down the Silence presents the first complete biography of Stanley Elkin a preeminent novelist who consistently won high marks from critics but whose complexities of style seemed destined to elude the popular acclaim he hoped to attain From the publication of his second novel A Bad Man in 1967 to his death in 1995 Elkin was tormented by the desire for both material and artistic success Elkin s novels were taught in colleges and universities his fiction received high praise from critics and reviewers two of his novels won National Book Critics Circle Awards and his short stories were widely anthologized and yet he was unable to achieve renown beyond the avant garde or to escape the stigma of being an academic writer He wanted to be Faulkner but he had trouble being Elkin Drawing on personal interviews and an intimate knowledge of Elkins s life and works David C Dougherty captures Elkin s early life as the son of a charismatic intimidating and remarkably successful Jewish immigrant from Russia as well as his later career at Washington University in St Louis A frequent participant at the annual Bread Loaf Writers conference he was the friend and sometime antagonist of other important writers particularly Saul Bellow William Gass Howard Nemerov and Robert Coover Despite failed attempts to bridge the gap from his academic post to wide popular success Elkin continued to write essays stories and novels that garnered unerring praise His was a classic dilemma of an intellectual aesthete loath to make use of the common devices of popular appeal The book details the ambition the success the friction and the foibles of a writer who won fame but not the fame he wanted

Why Didn't the Press Shout? Robert Moses Shapiro,2003 This book brings together contributions by thirty scholars of journalism and history who look at what was reported about the Holocaust in the press of more than a dozen countries and languages The studies examine the news media in America England and the Soviet Union in Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy in the Vatican in occupied countries like Romania Hungary Greece and Poland and in Palestine under the British Mandate By and large the news media in the Allied countries neglected the story while those in Nazi dominated countries treated news related to the Holocaust in a wholly tendentious way Thus the press for a variety of reasons did not cover the Holocaust one of the central events of the twentieth century As this book thoroughly demonstrates it was perhaps the greatest ethical professional and political failure of the news media during World War II If the press had been more responsible and had informed the public in the West early enough and thoroughly enough the history of the Holocaust might have been different and millions of victims might have survived Published in association with Yeshiva University Press
