Burns, 2000-06-22 Gestural Politics explores James Joyce's use of parody and humor in his representation of women gays and Irish nationalism Author Christy L Burns also discusses how Joyce's complex attitude toward parody and stereotyping is related to his aesthetic vision She offers a comprehensive overview of all of Joyce's writings with a special

Hillis Miller, 1985-10-15 In Fiction and Repetition one of our leading critics and literary theorists offers detailed interpretations of seven novels Emily Brontë's Wuthering Heights Thackeray's Henry Esmond Hardy's Tess of the d'Urbervilles and The Well Beloved Conrad's Lord Jim and Woolf's Mrs Dalloway and Between the Acts Miller explores the multifarious ways in which repetition generates meaning in these novels repetition of images metaphors motifs repetition on a larger scale of episodes characters plots and repetition from one novel to another by the same or different authors While repetition creates meanings it also Miller argues prevents the identification of a single determinable meaning for any of the novels rather the patterns made by the various repetitive sequences offer alternative possibilities of meaning which are incompatible He thus sees undecidability as an inherent feature of the novels discussed His conclusions make a provocative contribution to current debates about narrative theory and about the principles of literary criticism generally His book is not a work of theory as such however and he avoids the technical terminology dear to many theorists his book is an attempt to interpret as best he can his chosen texts Because of his rare critical gifts and his sensitivity to literary values and nuances his readings send one back to the novels with a new appreciation of their riches and their complexities of form A Directory of American Poets and Fiction Writers, 1994-1996 Poets & Writers, Inc, 1994-12 Names and addresses of contemporary poets and fiction writers whose work has been published in the United States The Coupling Convention : Sex, Text, and Tradition in Black Women's Fiction Ann duCille Associate Professor of English and African American Studies Wesleyan University, 1993-10-19 What does the tradition of marriage mean for people who have historically been deprived of its legal status Generally thought of as a convention of the white middle class the marriage plot has received little attention from critics of African American literature In this study Ann duCille uses texts such as Nella Larsen's Quicksand 1928 and Zora Neale Hurston's Their Eyes Were Watching God 1937 to demonstrate that the African American novel like its European and Anglo American counterparts has developed around the marriage plot what she calls the coupling convention Exploring the relationship between racial ideology and literary and social conventions duCille uses the coupling convention to trace the historical development of the African American women's novel She demonstrates the ways in which black women appropriated this novelistic device as a means of expressing and reclaiming their own identity More than just a study of the marriage tradition in black women's fiction however The Coupling Convention takes up and takes on many different meanings of tradition It challenges the notion of a single black literary tradition or of a single black feminist literary canon grounded in specifically black female language and experience as it explores the ways in which white and black male and female mainstream and marginalized traditions and canons have influenced and cross fertilized each other Much more than a period study The Coupling Convention spans the period from 1853 to 1948 addressing the vital questions of gender subjectivity race and the canon that inform literary study today In this original work duCille offers a new paradigm for reading black women s fiction

Fiction ,1972 The Ethics of Intensity in American Fiction Tony Hilfer, 2014-07-03 Drawing upon the philosophical theories of William James Dewey and Mead and focusing upon major works by Whitman Stein Howells Dreiser and Henry James Anthony Hilfer explores how these authors have structured their characters consciousness their purpose in doing so and how this presentation controls the reader s moral response Hilfer contends that there was a significant change in the mode of character presentation in American literature of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The self defined in terms of a Victorian ethic and judged adversely for its departures from that code shifted to the self defined in terms of emotional intensity and judged adversely for its failures of nerve In the first mode characters are almost always wrong to yield to desire in the second characters are frequently wrong not to and in fact are seen less as the sum of their ethical choices than as the process of their longings His conclusion modern fiction is as overbalanced toward pathos as Victorian fiction was toward ethos but the continued dialectic between the two is a tension that ought not be resolved

Fantasies of Femininity Jane M. Ussher,1997 In Fantasies of Femininity Jane Ussher focuses on unraveling the contradictory visions of feminine sexuality the fact that representations of the definition of woman seethe with sexuality yet for centuries women have been condemned for exploring their own sexual desires In her quest for the sources of feminine representation Ussher interviewed dozens of women as well as some men and combed popular media from Seventeen to Cosmopolitan and Dallas to Donahue to identify what shapes women's symbolic images of sex and femininity Ussher argues that women have effectively resisted and subverted these archetypal fantasies of femininity and in the process of so doing reframed the very boundaries of sex In this way she exposes as myth much of what we think we know about woman and about sex

The Idea of Music in Victorian Fiction Nicky Losseff,2016-03-03 The Idea of Music in Victorian Fiction seeks to address fundamental questions about the function meaning and understanding of music in nineteenth century culture and society as mediated through works of fiction The eleven essays here written by musicologists and literary scholars range over a wide selection of works by both canonical writers such as Austen Benson Carlyle Collins Gaskell Gissing Eliot Hardy du Maurier and Wilde and less well known figures such as Gertrude Hudson and Elizabeth Sara Sheppard Each essay explores different strategies for interpreting the idea of music in the Victorian novel Some focus on the degree to which scenes involving music illuminate what music meant to the writer and contemporary performers and listeners and signify musical tastes of the time and the reception of particular composers Other essays in the volume examine aspects of gender race sexuality and class that are illuminated by the deployment of music by the novelist Together with its companion volume The Figure of Music in Nineteenth Century British Poetry edited by Phyllis Weliver Ashgate 2005 this collection suggests a new network of methodologies for the continuing cultural and social investigation of nineteenth century music as reflected in that period's literary output
