Makers of Modern India Ramachandra Guha, 2013-10-14. Modern India is the world's largest democracy, a sprawling polyglot nation containing one sixth of all humankind. The existence of such a complex and distinctive democratic regime qualifies as one of the world's bona fide political miracles. Furthermore, India's leading political thinkers have often served as its most influential political actors. Think of Gandhi whose collected works run to more than ninety volumes, or Ambedkar or Nehru who recorded their most eloquent theoretical reflections at the same time as they strove to set the delicate machinery of Indian democracy on a coherent and just path. Out of the speeches and writings of these thinker-activists, Ramachandra Guha has built the first major anthology of Indian social and political thought. Makers of Modern India collects the work of nineteen of India's foremost generators of political sentiment, from those whose names command instant global recognition to pioneering subaltern and feminist thinkers whose works have until now remained obscure and inaccessible. Ranging across manifold languages and cultures and addressing every crucial theme of modern Indian history—race, religion, language, caste, gender, colonialism, nationalism, economic development, violence and nonviolence—Makers of Modern India provides an invaluable roadmap to Indian political debate. An extensive introduction, biographical sketches of each figure, and guides to further reading make this work a rich resource for anyone interested in India and the ways its leading political minds have grappled with the problems that have increasingly come to define the modern world.

New Makers of Modern Culture Wintle Justin, 2013-05-13. New Makers of Modern Culture is the successor to the classic reference works Makers of Modern Culture and Makers of Nineteenth Century Culture, published by Routledge in the early 1980s. The set was extremely successful and continues to be used to this day due to the high quality of the writing, the distinguished contributors, and the cultural sensitivity shown in the selection of those individuals included. New Makers of Modern Culture takes into full account the rise and fall of reputation and influence over the last twenty-five years and the epochal changes that have occurred: the demise of Marxism and the collapse of the Soviet Union, the rise and fall of postmodernism, the eruption of Islamic fundamentalism, the triumph of the Internet. Containing over eight hundred essay-style entries and covering the period from 1850 to the present, New Makers includes artists, writers, dramatists, architects, philosophers, anthropologists, scientists, sociologists, major political figures, composers, film makers, and many other culturally significant individuals and is thoroughly international in its purview. Next to

Karl Marx is Bob Marley next to John Ruskin is Salmon Rushdie alongside Darwin is Luigi Dallapiccola Deng Xiaoping runs shoulders with Jacques Derrida Julia Kristeva with Kropotkin Once again Wintle has enlisted the services of many distinguished writers and leading academics such as Sam Beer Bernard Crick Edward Seidensticker and Paul Preston In a few cases for example Michael Holroyd and Philip Larkin contributors are themselves the subject of entries With its global reach New Makers of Modern Culture provides a multi voiced witness of the contemporary thinking world The entries carry short bibliographies and there is thorough cross referencing There is an index of names and key terms Makers of Modern History; Three Types, Louis Napoleon, Cavour, Bismarck Edward Cecil George Cadogan, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1905 edition Excerpt BISMARCK It has always been held inexpedient to discuss the actions or to estimate the greatness of any man who has attained to a conspicuous place in the service of his country until a sufficient interval has elapsed after his death both in virtue of the fact that the time may not yet have come when the rash and indiscriminate judgments which contemporaries are wont to pass on his actions can be calmly reviewed in the light of subsequent history and that a large amount of evidence which may be essential to a judicious estimation of his character it will be imperative to omit His biographers accordingly find themselves glossing over many of his conspicuous faults out of due consideration to his colleagues and relatives who may still be living or making light of his virtues to suit the antagonistic opinions of his contemporary opponents Thus we find that until his generation has passed away it is only possible to arrive at a compromise of the truth But this generalisation seems not to be applicable in the case of Bismarck No decent interval has been allowed to elapse after his death before the publication of a large mass of private correspondence and documents having immediate bearing upon his character and his achievements Bismarck in conversation one day with Busch his biographer said When once I am dead you can tell everything you like absolutely everything you know As a statesman and as a diplomatist his character has consequently been made so plain to us that there is very little to wait for before giving our final judgments Almost every word from his lips or his pen found its way to publicity either during his lifetime or soon after his death It is not probable that the present generation or any other that The New Makers of Modern Strategy Hal Brands, 2023-05-02 First published by Princeton in 1943 the collection of essays that constituted Makers of Modern Strategy has largely held the field as the key book that studied the means and ends of military power and thought and the historical figures that shaped that history The books in two editions have long been a staple of Princeton's backlist in international politics and strategic studies The first edition edited by Edward Mead Earle and subtitled Military Thought from Machiavelli to Hitler emerged out of a seminar of foreign policy and security experts organized between Princeton and the Institute of Advanced Study in reaction to World War II as a global conflict The subsequent edition edited by Peter Paret then at Stanford University was prepared in the early 1980s and subtitled From Machiavelli to the Nuclear

Age In that edition three essays were reprinted from the earlier book four others were revised and the remainder twenty two essays were wholly new to reflect the updates in the field and also how the global political context had changed The two books together are regarded as the founding and leading text in military and strategic studies containing influential essays by many of the best known scholars of the subject The ambition of the new volume is to commission an entirely new edition of this classic reference work with 37 chapters organized into 5 sections covering key military leaders and the most important elements of strategic thinking since Thucydides and Sun Tzu The field of strategic and military history has witnessed an intellectual renaissance in recent decades as the number of strategic challenges faced by the world has grown enormously International politics has also changed The Cold War ended and the Soviet Union disappeared The United States entered a period of unipolarity only to see it challenged by the rise of new powers China in particular Terrorism civil wars so called rogue states insurgency and counter insurgency and cybersecurity all joined a growing list of strategic concerns New technologies promise to upend our understanding of conflict Furthermore scholars have learned more about earlier periods from the classic thinkers of strategy to the struggles of great power war to the dynamics of world politics during the Cold War Finally scholarship on international politics war and peace in the 20th century and after has become increasingly internationalized with the opening of new archives and the incorporation of new perspectives The aim of this volume is to serve as an overview and stimulant to research in this field one that encompasses the broader definitions of strategy in current research reflects the current state of world politics and also takes a more global and less Western perspective

Makers of Modern Architecture Martin Filler, 2007-07-17 Everyone knows what modern architecture looks like but few understand how this revolutionary new form of building emerged little more than a century ago or what its aesthetic social even spiritual aspirations were Through illuminating studies of the leading men and women who forever changed our built environment veteran architecture critic Martin Filler offers fresh insights into this unprecedented cultural transformation From Louis Sullivan father of the skyscraper to Frank Gehry magician of post millennial museum Filler emphasizes how their force of personality has had a decisive effect on everything from how we inhabit our homes to how we shape our cities Why was the sudden shift in architectural fashion that wrecked the career of the Scottish designer Charles Rennie Mackintosh not enough to destroy the indomitable spirit of Frank Lloyd Wright who rose from adversity to become America's greatest architect Why was Philip Johnson dean of American architecture during the 1980s so haunted by the superior talent of this less fortunate contemporary Louis Kahn that he could barely utter his name even at the peak of his own success How did Ludwig Mies van der Rohe's dictum Less is more give way to Robert Venturi's Less is a bore Surveying such current urban design sagas as the reconstruction of Ground Zero and the reunification of Berlin Filler also trains his sharp eye on some of the biggest names in architecture today puncturing more than one overinflated reputation while identifying the true masters who are now building
