Dissidence Marie Leduc, 2018-11-20 How the valorization of artistic and political dissidence has contributed to the rise of Chinese contemporary art in the West Interest in Chinese contemporary art increased dramatically in the West shortly after the 1989 Tiananmen Square protests Sparked by political sympathy and the mediatized response to the event Western curators critics and art historians were quick to view the new art as an expression of dissident resistance to the Chinese regime In this book Marie Leduc proposes that this attribution of political dissidence is not only the result of latent Cold War perceptions about China but also indicative of the art world's demand for artistically and politically provocative work a demand that mirrors the valorization of free expression in liberal democracies Focusing on nine Chinese artists Wang Du Wang Keping Huang Yong Ping Yang Jiechang Chen Zhen Yan Pei Ming Shen Yuan Ru Xiaofan and Du Zhenjun who migrated to Paris in and around 1989 Leduc explores how their work was recognized before and after the Tiananmen Square incident Drawing on personal interviews with the artists and curators and through an analysis of important exhibitions events reviews and curatorial texts she demonstrates how these and other Chinese artists have been celebrated both for their artistic dissidence their formal innovations and introduction of new media and concepts and for their political dissidence how their work challenges political values in both China and the West As Leduc concludes the rise of Chinese contemporary art in the West highlights the significance of artistic and political dissidence in the production of contemporary art and the often unrecognized relationship between contemporary art and liberal democracy infrastructure has been discussed in terms of the social relations of an extended group of actors that includes developers. Ethical and political issues are involved in accountable computing. Writing broadly within this context, Day, chapter 11, proposes that the concept of surface can assist us to explore space as the product of power and the affective and expressive role for materials rather than the background to this. Surfaces are the variously textured sites for mixtures between bodies and are thus the sites for events. The notions of folding and foldability and unfolding are discussed at length as metaphors that account for the interactions of bodies in space across time. Some of the contributors to this volume focus on ways in which we may experience multiple infrastructures. Dix and his colleagues, for example, in chapter 12, explore a complex of models of spatial context of mixed reality boundaries and of human spatial understanding across a number of field projects that make up the Equator project to explain the ways in which co-existing multiple spaces are experienced. The Artful Parent Jean Van't Hul, 2013.
