Rennie Mackintosh Inspirations in Embroidery Dorothy Wood,2004-02-19 Charles Rennie Mackintosh and the Glasgow School of 1880 1920 produced some of the most enduring and inspiring decorative designs which still influence designers in the 21st century Here the timeless classic motifs of Mackintosh and the Glasgow School are transferred to embroidered items for the home by leading embroiderer Dorothy Wood. Some 20 projects are covered complete with detailed instructions step by step photography of key techniques and over 80 photographs of the finished items. The book covers the history of the movement and the various crafts that it was applied to including enamel work stained glass bookbinding and metal work. It also examines the motifs most often associated with this style including elongated organic forms plant forms based on early herbals and attenuated stylized female figures. The projects include wall hangings cushions throws screens table linen scarves bags and bed linen using natural materials in the soft pastel colours of the period. Techniques covered include machine embroidery applique stained glass applique reverse applique black binding braid work couching satin stitch drawn thread work and stencilling Lady's Realm ,1906

Clothing Matters Emma Tarlo,1996-09 What do I wear today? The way we answer this question says much about how we manage and express our identities. This detailed study examines sartorial style in India from the late nineteenth century to the present showing how trends in clothing are related to caste level of education urbanization and a larger cultural debate about the nature of Indian identity. Clothes have been used to assert power challenge authority and instigate social change throughout Indian society. During the struggle for independence members of the Indian elite incorporated elements of Western style into their clothes while Gandhi's adoption of the loincloth symbolized the rejection of European power and the contrast between Indian poverty and British wealth. Similar tensions are played out today with urban Indians adopting ethnic dress as villagers seek modern fashions. Illustrated with photographs satirical drawings and magazine advertisements this book shows how individuals and groups play with history and culture as they decide what to wear Philippine Education ,1909
