Attending to the Literary Alan Singer, 2023-08-23 Attending to the Literary The Distinctiveness of Literature is a foray into current debates about the nature of the literary What is literary Is literarity a thing Are there still aesthetic standards of taste Is the category of literary aesthetics an obstacle to understanding the uses of literature What does it mean to count the reading of literature as an experience in its own right What would be the deficits to human experience without literature Attending to the Literary addresses all of these questions with a view to challenging the notion of literarity as merely representative of experience On the contrary Alan Singer shows how literarity is an enacting of experience Through close readings of an eclectic repertoire of literary sentences culled from the genres of fiction poetry and drama Singer demonstrates how syntax stages human capacities for attending ever more consequentially to the world of practical experience These stagings of forms of attention involve readers in the drama of reason giving and expand the possibilities of rational imagination Attending to the Literary speaks to a broad audience of readers for whom the question Does literature In the Name of Phenomenology Simon Glendinning, 2007-08-07 The matter remains an urgent intellectual challenge attempt to pursue philosophy in the name of phenomenology is one of the most significant and important developments in twentieth century thought In this bold and innovative book Simon Glendinning explores the changing landscape of phenomenology in key texts by Husserl Heidegger Sartre Merleau Ponty Levinas and Derrida Fifty Key Contemporary Thinkers John Lechte, 2007-08-07 This revised second edition from our bestselling Key Guides includes brand new entries on some of the most influential thinkers of the twentieth and twenty first century Zizek Bergson Husserl Heidegger Butler and Haraway With a new introduction by the author sections on phenomenology and the post human full cross referencing and up to date guides to major primary and secondary texts this is an essential resource to contemporary critical thought for undergraduates and the interested reader Human Rights and the Body Annabelle Mooney, 2016-05-13 Human Rights and the Body is a response to the crisis in human rights to the very real concern that without a secure foundation for the concept of human rights their very existence is threatened While there has been consideration of the discourses of human rights and the way in which the body is written upon research in linguistics has not yet been fully brought to bear on either human rights or the body Drawing on legal concepts and aspects of the law of human rights Mooney aims to provide a universally defensible set of human rights and a foundation or rather a frame for them She argues that the proper frames for human rights are firstly the human body seen as an index reliant on the natural world secondly the globe and finally language These three frames generate rights to food water sleep and shelter environmental protection and a right against dehumanization This book is essential reading for researchers and graduate students in the fields of human rights and Unseparate Steven Henry Madoff, 2025-10-21 Art historian and critic Steven Henry Madoff offers a contemporary reframing of modernist art and the way it presages installation and performance art For more than a century European modernist art has been written about as a profound expression of fragmentation of an alienated world in pieces In Unseparate Steven Henry Madoff proposes that there was always another artistic intention present among the modernists offering visions of wholeness in the face of the instability and alienation brought on by war and new technologies Blending history philosophy and media theory Madoff argues that from the mid nineteenth century when Richard Wagner championed his idea of the Gesamtkunstwerk the total work of art to the rise of the Bauhaus the urge to connect different art forms into single unified works anticipates our contemporary networked culture Madoff revisits the artworks and projects of such leading figures of European modernism as Paul C zanne Marcel Duchamp Hugo Ball and Walter Gropius proposing that their various ambitions for totality were both aesthetically beneficent and politically dangerous This striking contemporary rethinking gives readers a way to understand modernism's complex history more fully Modernism seen through the lens of network aesthetics and its emphasis on interconnectivity presages many different forms of contemporary art including installation and performance art Further as Madoff reveals the modernist drive for wholeness and unity can give us a way to Twentieth-Century French look at our own increasingly divisive society The Intersubjectivity of Embodiment, Philosophy Alan D. Schrift, 2009-02-04 This unique book addresses trends such as vitalism neo Kantianism existentialism Marxism and feminism and provides concise biographies of the influential philosophers who shaped these movements including entries on over ninety thinkers Offers discussion and cross referencing of ideas and figures Provides Appendix on the distinctive nature of French academic culture Out of Time Julian Johnson, 2015 Out of Time explores a bold idea that western art music of the last four hundred years is better understood through the idea of musical modernity than by the usual periodizations of music history Reading against the grain of linear history it reconsiders the common concerns of music in terms of time and history space and technology language and sound The result is a rehearing of modernity and a rethinking of modern music The Historical Turn in Analytic Philosophy E. Reck, 2013-03-27 During the last 25 years a large number of publications on the history of analytic philosophy have appeared significantly more than in the preceding period As most of these works are by analytically trained authors it is tempting to speak of a historical turn in analytic philosophy The present volume constitutes both a contribution to this body of work and a reflection on what is or might be achieved in it The twelve new essays by an international group of contributors range from case studies on individual philosophers Russell Carnap Quine and Ryle through discussions of broader themes in the history of analytic philosophy in logic and philosophy of language philosophy of mathematics epistemology philosophy of mind and psychology to related methodological reflections on the relationship between doing analytic philosophy and studying the history of philosophy on various forms of philosophical history and on their respective benefits Integral Theory and Transdisciplinary Action Research in Education Bohac Clarke, Veronika, 2018-12-28 With its growing recognition in education the importance of Integral Theory is slowly entering mainstream academia through interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary research Addressing the theory's complexity is important for researchers to learn how to apply it in their classrooms and promote a more inclusive educational environment Integral Theory and Transdisciplinary Action Research in Education provides emerging research exploring the theoretical and practical aspects of the Integral Theory model and its applications within educational contexts With a diverse array of research problems approached through an inclusive theory framework and featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as graduate student research inclusion culture and organizational learning processes this publication is ideally designed for graduate students educators academicians researchers scholars educational administrators and policymakers seeking current research on the utility and promise of Integral Theory as a meta framework for methodological pluralism and transdisciplinary research Cinema's Baroque Flesh Saige Walton, 2025-10-01 In Cinema s Baroque Flesh Saige Walton draws on the philosophy of Maurice Merleau Ponty to argue for a distinct aesthetic category of film and a unique cinema of the senses baroque cinema Combining media archaeological work with art history phenomenology and film studies the book offers close analyses of a range of historic baroque artworks and films including Cach Strange Days the films of Buster Keaton and many more Walton pursues previously unexplored connections between film the baroque and the body opening up new avenues of embodied film theory that can make room for structure signification and thought as well as the aesthetics of sensation In Cinema's Baroque Flesh Saige Walton draws on the philosophy of Maurice Merleau Ponty to argue for a distinct aesthetic category of film and a unique cinema of the senses baroque cinema s The Memory of the World Ted Toadvine, 2024-05-14 Advancing a phenomenological approach to deep time Our imagination today is dominated by the end of the world from sci fi and climate fiction to actual predictions of biodiversity collapse climate disruption and the emergence of the Anthropocene This obsession with the world s precarity The Memory of the World contends relies on a flawed understanding of time that neglects the past and present with the goal of managing the future Not only does this mislead sustainability efforts it diminishes our encounters with the world and with human and nonhuman others Here Ted Toadvine takes a phenomenological approach to deep time to show how our apocalyptic imagination forgets the sublime and uncanny dimensions of the geological past and far future Guided by original readings of Maurice Merleau Ponty Emmanuel Levinas Jacques Derrida Jean Luc Nancy and others he suggests that reconciling our embodied lives with the memory of the earth transforms our relationship with materiality other forms of life and the unprecedented future Integrating insights from phenomenology deconstruction critical animal studies and new
