Not Of The World:

The Reason why the Colored American is Not in the World's Columbian Exposition Ida B. Wells-Barnett, Robert W. Rydell, 1999 Expressly intended to demonstrate America's national progress toward utopia the 1893 World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago pointedly excluded the contributions of African Americans For them being left outside the gates of the White City merely underscored a more general exclusion from America's bright future Exhibits at the fair were controlled by all white committees and those that acknowledged African Americans at all such as the famous Aunt Jemima pancake exhibit ridiculed and denigrated them Many African Americans saw the racist policies of the World's Columbian Exposition as mirroring framing and reinforcing the larger horrors confronting blacks throughout the United States where white supremacy meant segregation second class citizenship and sometimes mob violence and lynching In response to the politics of exclusion that governed the fair and of its larger implications several prominent African Americans resolved to publish a pamphlet that would catalog the achievements of African Americans since the abolition of slavery while articulating the persistent political economy of apartheid in the American South The authors of this remarkable document included the antilynching crusader Ida B Wells the former slave and abolitionist Frederick Douglass the educator Irvine Garland Penn and the lawyer and newspaper publisher Ferdinand L Barnett An eloquent statement of protest and pride The Reason Why the Colored American Is Not in the World's Columbian Exposition reminds us that struggles over cultural representation are nothing new in American life Robert Rydell's introduction provides insight into the sometimes conflicting strategies employed by African Americans as they strove to represent themselves at a cultural event that was widely regarded as a defining moment in American history

The World and God Are Not-Two Daniel Soars, 2023-04-25 The World and God Are Not Two is a book about how the God in whom Christians believe ought to be understood The key conceptual argument that runs throughout is that the distinctive relation between the world and God in Christian theology is best understood as a non dualistic one The two God and World cannot be added up as separate enumerable realities or contrasted with each other against some common background because God does not belong in any category and creatures are ontologically constituted by their relation to the Creator In exploring the unique character of this distinctive relation Soars turns to Sara Grant's work on the Hindu tradition of Advaita Vedānta and the metaphysics of creation found in Thomas Aquinas He develops Grant's work and that of the earlier Calcutta School by drawing explicit attention to the Neoplatonic themes in Aquinas that provide some of the most fruitful areas for comparative engagement with Vedānta To the Christian the fact that the world exists only as dependent on God means that world and God must be ontologically distinct because God's existence does not depend on the world To the Advaitin this simultaneously means that World and God cannot be ontologically separate either The language of non duality allows us to see that both positions can be held coherently together without entailing any contradiction or disagreement at the level of fundamental ontology What it means to be world does not and cannot exclude
