Far from the Caliph's Gaze Nicholas H. A. Evans,2020-05-15 How do you prove that you're Muslim This is not a question that most believers ever have to ask themselves and yet for members of India's Ahmadiyya Muslim Community it poses an existential challenge The Ahmadis are the minority of a minority people for whom simply being Muslim is a challenge They must constantly ask the question What evidence could ever be sufficient to prove that I belong to the faith In Far from the Caliph's Gaze Nicholas H A Evans explores how a need to respond to this question shapes the lives of Ahmadis in Qadian in northern India Qadian was the birthplace of the Ahmadiyya community's founder and it remains a location of huge spiritual importance for members of the community around the world Nonetheless it has been physically separated from the Ahmadis spiritual leader the caliph since partition and the believers who live there now and act as its guardians must confront daily the reality of this separation even while attempting to make their Muslimness verifiable By exploring the centrality of this separation to the ethics of everyday life in Qadian Far from the Caliph's Gaze presents a new model for the academic study of religious doubt one that is not premised on a concept of belief but instead captures the richness with which people might experience problematic relationships to truth Islamic Prayer Across the Indian Ocean Stephen Headley,David

Parkin,2018-10-24 In its attempt to squash the influence of animism and pantheism or polytheism and to promote the idea of the One and Only Absolute God Islam has come up against a tendency within itself to incorporate certain local religious traditions and practices This book shares that combination of universality and local particularity exploring this paradox and the contradictory tendencies contained in it Spirit Possession, Modernity & Power in Africa Heike Behrend,1999 In Africa as well as in Europe many spirits and their mediums are part of local as well as global cultures Christian spirits named Hitler Mussolini or King Bruce Bruce Lee flourish in a pantheon of new holy spirits in Uganda waging war against the government Spirits of airplanes engines guitars and angels are found in Central Africa and thunder snakes and rain as well as playboys and prostitutes inhabit the spirit world in West Africa Spirit possession cults have continued to proliferate even in the secular West and continue to be a subject of intense interest Despite the continuous expansion of the field some problems are only now beginning to be explored The experts in this volume focus on questions of power the history and inner dynamics of cults the role of gender and images of the other based on research conducted during the last fifteen years in Africa The contributors document changes taking place across the continent as possession beliefs and practices respond to new circumstances and address the shifting local implications of an increasingly global socio economy Gender ethnicity and class are examined as intersecting forces and features of spirit phenomena The case studies presented are richly contextualized history social organization and upheaval alternative religious options all are considered relevant to an

Embodying Charisma Helene Basu, Pnina Werbner, 2002-03-11 The continued vitality of Sufism as a living embodied postcolonial reality challenges the argument that Sufism has died in recent times Throughout India and Bangladesh Sufi shrines exist in both the rural and urban areas from the remotest wilderness to the modern Asian city lying opposite banks and skyscrapers This book illuminates the remarkable resilience of South Asian Sufi saints and their cults in the face of radical economic and political dislocations and breaks new ground in current research It addresses the most recent debates on the encounter between Islam and modernity and presents important new comparative ethnographic material Embodying Charisma re examines some basic concepts in the sociology and anthropology of religion and the organization of religious movements

De-Pathologizing Resistance Dimitrios Theodossopoulos, 2017-10-02 In a time of renewed interest in insurrectionary movements urban protest and anti austerity indignation the idea of resistance is regaining its relevance in social theory De Pathologizing Resistance re examines resistance as a concept that can aid social analysis highlighting the dangers of pathologising resistance as illogical and abnormal or exoticising it in romanticised but patronising terms Taking a de pathologising and de exoticising perspective this book brings together insights from older and newer studies the intellectual biographies of its contributing authors and case studies of resistance in diverse settings such as Egypt Greece Israel and Mexico From feminist studies to plaza occupations and anti systemic uprisings there is an emerging need to connect the analysis of contemporary protest movements under a broader theoretical re examination The idea of resistance with all of its contradictions and its dynamism provides such a challenging opportunity This book was originally published as a special issue of History and Anthropology

Bodies and Persons Michael Lambek, Andrew Strathern, 1998-03-28 Large scale comparisons are out of fashion in anthropology but this book suggests a bold comparative approach to broad cultural differences between Africa and Melanesia. Its theme is personhood which is understood in terms of what anthropologists call embodiment. These concepts are applied to questions ranging from the meanings of spirit possession to the logics of witchcraft and kinship relations the use of rituals to heal the sick electric vampires and even the impact of capitalism. There are detailed ethnographic analyses and suggestive comparisons of classic African and Melanesian ethnographic cases such as the Nuer and the Melpa. The contributors debate alternative strategies for cross cultural comparison and demonstrate that there is a surprising range of continuities putting in question common assumptions about the huge differences between these two parts of the world.

Global Culture/Individual Identity Gordon Mathews, 2002-09-11 Gordon Mathews opens up the complex and debated topics of globalisation culture and identity in a clear and lively style. His book will be an illuminating and valuable read to social and cultural anthropologists and students.

When Greeks think about Turks Dimitrios Theodossopoulos, 2013-09-13 Drawing upon anthropological studies that document culturally specific ways of perceiving ethnic Others in Greece and Cyprus this book explores the cultural boundaries of the categories Greek and Turk and compares views on what it means to be one of these ethnic groups or both. The contributors examine the opinions of diverse social groups such as ordinary middle class citizens intellectuals army officers children villagers refugees from Asia Minor and Greek and Turkish Cypriots They also investigate the local attitudes to international politics and highlight the contextual as opposed to immutable and essentialist meaning of evaluations about nations such as Greece Turkey and Cyprus and their citizens When Greeks think about Turks carefully unpacks the cultural meaning of popular metaphors stereotypes and versions of history as these are articulated in the context of discussions about the Turks in Greece It sets the template for understanding how local perceptions of resemblance and difference provide a conceptual framework for defining and negotiating ethnic identity at the local national and international level It sheds valuable light on the politics of identity making and the constitution of nationalism in Greece and Cyprus This book was previously published as a special issue of South European Society and Politics

Local Theology for the Global Church

The Metamorphosis of Greek Cuisine Nafsika Papacharalampous, 2023-11-10 This book is an ethnography of the metamorphosis of rural foods and traditional dishes and of the making of cuisine and identity in contemporary Athens In the wake of the financial crisis in Athens in the mid 2010s forgotten rural foods of the past are transformed into luxurious artisanal foods while traditional dishes appear reinvented in fine dining restaurants after decades of darkness How and why is this all happening in a city of poverty hardship and economic crisis Through sensory descriptions and thick ethnographic material it follows the Athenian affluent middle class in upscale delis and goes inside fine dining restaurant kitchens discussing the complex combination of cuisine tradition memory and identity revealing the cultural logic and social aspects of cuisine It demonstrates how cuisine emerges from very different often contradictory social spaces not only as an intellectual and aesthetic endeavour of chefs or as a revival of foods and foodways that link the country and the city but also as interlinked with embodied memories and embedded in social relations and commensality This book will be of great interest to scholars and students in Anthropology and Food Studies striking pattern that has emerged among Ghanaian Presbyterian labor migrants in North America for example is a radical shift in gendered healing practices where women have become prominent healers while a significant number of men have become spirit possessed Adam Mohr is Senior Writing Fellow in Anthropology in the Critical Writing Program at the University of Pennsylvania

Reclaiming the Past Jonathan M. Hall, 2021-12-15 Reclaiming the Past examines the post antique history of Argos and how the city's archaeological remains have been perceived and experienced since the late eighteenth century by both local residents and foreign visitors to the Greek Peloponnese The first western visitors to Argos a city continuously inhabited for six millennia invariably expected to encounter landscapes described in classical texts yet what they found fell far short of those expectations At the same time local meanings attributed to ancient sites reflected an understanding of the past at odds with the supposed expertise of classically educated outsiders Jonathan M Hall details how new views of Argos emerged after the Greek War of Independence 1821-1830 with the adoption of national narratives connecting the newly independent kingdom to its ancient Hellenic past With rising local antiquarianism at the end of the nineteenth century new tensions surfaced between conserving the city's archaeological heritage and promoting urban development By carefully assessing the competing knowledge claims between insiders and outsiders over Argos's rich history Reclaiming the Past addresses pressing questions about who owns the past
